RUM PRESCRIPTIONS FLAYED

American Medical Association Told Most Whisky Orders Disguised Bootlegging

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—More than "ninety-nine out of 100 prescriptions written for a pint of whisky are bootlegging prescriptions and are a disgrace to the great medical profession," said Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, chairman of the council of education of the American Medical Association, which is meeting here today.

"From the standpoint of personal hygiene and public health, legislation has never been passed that has such possibilities for good as has the prohibition amendment," he said, adding that the government's provision, which permits a physician to write 100 pint whisky prescriptions a quarter, and to obtain twelve pints of whisky and five gallons of alcohol a year for office use was too liberal.

"Previous to the time of the Volstead Act, honest physicians in general practice never prescribed 100 pints of whisky in three months. I have practiced medicine for many years and I have never prescribed whisky except to a patient with delirium tremens in my work since prohibition has been in force."

SPLIT-FEE SYSTEM

Dr. Bevan also attacked division of fees and "some expert witnesses who give partisan testimony for pay."

Overemphasis on the subject matter of medicine without cultivation of the spirit of inquiry and research is an outstanding danger of medical education in universities today, said Dr. Franklin C. McLean of University of Chicago, another speaker on the council's program.

The physician of the future was pictured as a family adviser in hygiene and preventive medicine, more than a man called when disease has stricken and a cure is needed, in an address by Dr. Walter S. Leathers, Vanderbilt University school of medicine, Nashville, Tenn.

What the young doctor should know was outlined by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, California, in an address urging alterations in the medical school curriculum.

TOO MUCH SLAVERY

"At present the curriculum is too congested, there is too much slavery," Dr. Wilbur said, "all that the young doctor actually needs to know to start in his practice of medicine is not so very extensive. Proper physical examination should be second nature to him. He should understand emergency procedures and something of minor surgery. He should have a clear understanding of obstetrics and infant feeding, of the simple respiratory and digestive tract diseases, a knowledge of human nature and should have been taught to look at facts squarely by his own experience, industry and reading. With these qualifications, he can become a reliable practitioner. Unfortunately, the minutae required in many parts of the curriculum prevent his training for keen observation and reasoning."

A report of the association's commission on medical education, presented by Dr. Willard C. Rappleye, director of study for the commission, showed that there is one doctor to each 891 persons in this country.

Death Cheats Bank Veteran of His Reward

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP) Several days ago Henry Odelthal, 66 years of age, was presented with a gold watch, six months' pay and a leave of absence in recognition of his twenty-five years of service as an attache of the Crocker National Bank.

Odelthal immediately began planning to gratify an ambition of years and return to his home in Germany.

Today with all plans completed and the scheduled hour of his departure only a short time away Odelthal died from an attack of pneumonia.

CINDERELLA DREAM TRUE TO THIS GIRL

Butcher's Servant Comes Into $5,000,000 Left by Uncle in Milwaukee

[Copyright, 1927, by the Chicago Tribune]

BERLIN, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Mary Draudork, 28 years of age, for five years a hard-working servant in a butcher shop in the small town of Meerane, Saxony, received official confirmation today from America that she is heiress sto $5,000,000 left by her uncle, a Mr. Scheffelbauer, in Milwaukee.

Meerane is showering its Cinderella, who is quiet and shy, with declarations of friendship, proposals of marriage and begging letters. But Mary is sticking to her job, cleaning the home of the butcher's family. They rescued her five years ago, when she and her child were abandoned by the man she loved, and when suicide seemed the only way beckoning to the hungry, homeless girl. She will stick to her job until the first of the money arrives from Milwaukee. Then she will marry Mason Joseph Raff, her fiancee, who loved her before she inherited the money and suddenly acquired suitors and friends galore.

"What are you going to do with your money?" is the question asked of her.

"Build a real home," is her simple reply.

NITRO BLAST MILE AWAY KILLS MAN

Several Wounded When Magazine Explosion in Texas Rocks Town

BORGER (Tex.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Explosion of a nitroglycerin magazine two miles from here late tonight caused one death, wounded several persons and jarred sleepers from their beds besides breaking every plate-glass window in the town.

One unidentified white man was killed by a boulder cast a mile and a half from the magazine.

The blast tore a hole 200 feet deep and wiped away a section of the hill on which it took place.

Officials of the Thompson Hardware Company, which owned the magazine said thirteen tons of nitroglycerin was stored in it, but they could not account for the explosion as they kept no caps at the place.

A hasty survey of the town showed that every plate-glass window was broken, and many buildings were damaged by rocks which bombarded the vicinity for several minutes following the blast.

OAKLAND MAYOR TO RUN AGAIN

OAKLAND, Feb. 14. (AP) — Mayor John L. Davie today formally announced his candidacy for re-election. He has been Mayor several terms.

SPATS FOR FARMER? WHY NOT? OR IS THE LAWMAKER JEALOUS?

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The right of farmers to wear spats was defended in the House today by Representative Williams, Republican, Illinois, during debate on the McNary-Haugen farm-relief measure.

He contended the Constitution gave the farmer this privilege as much as any other citizen, and assailed Representative Tincher, Republican, Kansas, for questioning the dirt-farmer qualifications of William H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation, because he wore spats.

Williams said some farmers bought spats because they were cheaper than high-top shoes, and declared Tincher one of the largest members of Congress, was jealous because spats were more becoming to Settle than himself.

MAIL RATES REVAMPED

Senate Passes Revised Bill

Conferees Will Seek Way to Avoid Losses by Cut in Post Card Charge

Sliding Second-Class Scale Substituted for One in Committee Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—General revision of the postal rates was voted tonight by the Senate in adding a series of amendments to the House bill proposing a reduction from 2 cents to 1 cent in the rate on postal cards.

The measure, passed without a record vote, now goes to conference.

Estimating that the bill will mean a loss of more than $30,000,000 annually in revenue, Chairman Moses of the Postal Committee said he does not approve it, but urged its passage so a rate revision measure may be worked out in conference.

The Senate amendments would provide for the following changes:

Second-class matter: On publications devoted to advertising, for the first and second zones, 1 1-2 cents a pound instead of 2; for the third zone, 2 cents instead of 3; for the fourth zone, 3 cents instead of 6; for the fifth zone, 3 1-2 cents instead of 6; for the sixth zone, 4 cents instead of 6; for the seventh zone, 5 cents instead of 9; for the eighth and between the Philippine Islands and any portion of the United States, 5 1-2 cents instead of 9.

The rate on newspapers or periodicals maintained by religious, educational, scientific, agricultural, labor and fraternal organizations would be reduced from 1 1-2 to 1 1-4 cents a pound.

Transient, second-class: 1 cent for each two ounces instead of 2 cents.

Third-class matter: Rates reduced from 1 1-4 cents to 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof up to 8 ounces.

Fourth class: 2-cent service charge eliminated and rates provided in 1912 restored.

A provision establishing a 2-cent rate for private reply cards, to be collected on delivery, also was approved.

The rate for third-class matter was adopted on motion of Senator McMaster, Republican, South Dakota, which threw out of the bill a new schedule proposed by the Senate committee.

TEMBLOR TOLL KNOWN TO BE SCORE

Meager Reports from Stricken Jugo-Slav Area Tell of Great Suffering

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Times Company]

VIENNA, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Twenty persons are known to be dead, according to latest reports from the Jugo-Slav earthquake area this evening, and it is believed the figure will grow as communications are restored. Telegraph lines have been cut and numerous villages are snowbound.

Not a single house escaped injury in Mostar. Thousands are reported homeless in Herzegovina and Dalmatia, the peasants in some villages having nothing left to wear except the night shirts they had on when the earthquake occurred early this morning. Many appeals for help are being received by the Parliament at Belgrade.

Near Stolac, Herzegovina, the earth is said to have opened, swallowing several houses with those sleeping inside. The loss of life is believed to have been heaviest in the Stolac area.

The quake caused a landslide in one of the mountains rising around Sarajevo, destroying ten houses, killing twelve persons and precipitating a general panic.

The new railway station at Spalato was badly damaged, as were both stations and the postoffice in Metkovitch. Seismographs at Zagreb, Mostar and Sarajevo are reported to have registered numerous shocks in quick succession before they were broken.

The government has dispatched troops to the earthquake area and is giving first aid.

Belgrade reports that the shock was felt there but the damage in the capital was limited to several chimneys knocked down.

SOUTHWEST UNITING IN APPEAL TO SAVE VALLEY

Leading Organizations and Citizens Wire Congress for Emergency Flood Control Funds

In view of the imminent peril of Imperial Valley from destruction by floods of the Colorado River, of the fact that this national disaster can only be averted by act of Congress during the two weeks remaining of its present session and of the fact that no legislation now pending before Congress can meet the present emergency in time to do any good, The Times urges all elements of the Southwest to lay aside for the moment their differences on the Colorado River question and unite in an appeal to Congress for an emergency appropriation for the immediate building of levees and other flood control works, such action being without prejudice to anyone's position on the main question of river development. The Times will be glad to receive and to publish copies of any telegrams so sent by organizations or individuals. They may be addressed to Hon. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior; Hon. Samuel Shortridge, United States Senate; Hon. Hiram Johnson, United States Senate; Hon. J. D. Fredericks, House of Representatives; Hon. Phil D. Swing, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., or any other member of the California Congressional delegation or of the committees which have the river control matter in charge.

In addition to scores of individual telegrams from leading bankers, business men, officials, etc., action was taken on the subject and telegrams sent by the Republican County Central Committee (executive committee,) the Los Angeles Ebell Club, Friday Morning Club, Federated Church Brotherhoods of California, Los Angeles Church Federation, Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, Los Angeles Stock Exchange, Downtown Business Men's Association, United Church Brotherhood of Los Angeles, Jacoby Brothers, etc. Some of the actions taken follow:

Resolutions directing the attention of Congress to the situation in Imperial Valley and urging immediate action in the form of an emergency appropriation for flood-control work were unanimously adopted by the members of the executive and advisory committee of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee, Ralph Arnold, chairman. The resolutions were drawn by a committee composed of Assemblyman Henry E. Carter, Dr. Milbank Johnson, W. M. Bowen and former Judge George E. Waldo. They will be telegraphed immediately to President Coolidge and to the members of the California delegation to Congress. Those who signed the telegrams are Senators J. W. McKinley, Harry Chamberlin, Frank C. Weller, Newton M. Allen and H. J. Evans and Assemblymen James Crawford, Walter J. Little, Clare Woolwine, Howard W. Davis, Henry E. Carter, Willis M. Baum and Morgan Keaton. The action was applauded by a large number of representative citizens present.

EBELL CLUB

The Los Angeles Ebell Club of 3000 members, the largest women's club in the State, took equally swift action. Mrs. William Read, president, called a meeting for 1:30 p.m. yesterday, which was attended by 500 members. Resolutions drawn up by Mrs. Frederica de Laguna, chairman of resolutions, were presented and unanimously passed. They were immediately telegraphed to Senator Shortridge and to every member of the Southern California Congressional delegation. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, the Colorado River watershed is covered with the heaviest snowfall in twenty years and will cause, at the season of melting, floods which will inundate Imperial Valley; and,

"Whereas, such flood damage to Imperial Valley would be a national calamity, bringing destruction to one of the nation's great market resources; and

"Whereas, the necessary protection, if this calamity is to be averted, must be provided within the next two weeks, before March 4, 1927; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that we, the Ebell of Los Angeles, on this fourteenth day of February, 1927, in regular session assembled, do hereby petition the honorable members of Congress to take immediate action to provide against this disaster; and be it further Resolved, that copies of this resolution be telegraphed to our representatives at Washington."

STATE BROTHERHOOD

The Federated Church Brotherhoods of California, comprising practically all the Protestant churches of the State, sent the following telegram to Senators Johnson and Shortridge and to Congressmen Swing and Fredericks:

"Lives and property of the people of Imperial Valley are in jeopardy through inundation by the Colorado River. Levees and other immediate flood-control work should be provided for at once before Congress adjourns March 4. Legislation now pending could not provide this, therefore the undersigned urge you to use every means at your disposal to secure passage of an emergency appropriation to prevent such a threatened calamity.

[Signed]

"Federated Church Brotherhoods of California,

"A. M. WILKINSON, president."

FRIDAY MORNING CLUB

Mrs. Charles F. Turner of the Friday Morning Club and former president of the club federation that includes all women's clubs of Imperial Valley, called an emergency session of her executive board yesterday. The following telegram was drafted and dispatched to Senator Shortridge:

"The Friday Morning Club of Los Angeles, representing approximately 2200 members, respectfully urges that you devote your utmost efforts to secure immediate action of Congress for an emergency appropriation for levee reinforcement in Imperial Valley. The situation there is crucial and instant action is necessary. We depend on you to bring this about.

[Signed]

"MRS. CHARLES F. TURNER, "President."

CHURCH FEDERATION

The Church Federation of Los Angeles wired Senator Johnson as follows:

"The Church Federation of Los Angeles, representing approximately 300 churches, emphatically urges prompt Congressional action providing necessary appropriation for flood-control work to prevent inundation of the Imperial Valley by the Colorado River. Unless such action is taken and constructive work begun in the near future there is real danger of a calamity that will result in indescribable suffering and the loss of millions of dollars.

[Signed]

"W. E. McCULLOCH, "President."

CLEARINGHOUSE

The Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, J. F. Sartori, president, sent the following telegram to Senator Johnson, Congressman Swing and Secretary Work:

"Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association urges importance of appropriation by Congress at this session for flood control in Imperial Valley. Danger from flood threatens to be greater than at any time since 1905 when the valley was flooded. Similar flooding now would cost untold millions.

[Signed]

"J. F. SARTORI, "President."

STOCK EXCHANGE

The Los Angeles Stock Exchange, H. H. Lee, manager, sent the following telegram to Senator Shortridge:

"Danger from floods in Imperial Valley increasing daily. Members of Los Angeles Stock Exchange urge immediate appropriation from Congress in this session for flood-control purposes."

UNITED BROTHERHOOD

The United Brotherhood of Los Angeles wired Senators Shortridge and Johnson and Congressmen Fredericks and Swing as follows:

"A crisis faces the people of the Imperial Valley through

TALKING FILM WAR NEARS

Four Companies Now Involved in Patent Disputes Over Devices With Two Suits Already Filed

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Imminent possibility of a "talking film" war was forecast in statements to the Associated Press today. There are apparently four companies involved in patent disputes, with another company using a device based on a different theory on neutral territory.

The Radio Corporation of America in association with the General Electric Company and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, is sponsor of the latest talking film apparatus. The De Forest phonofilms, the Fox-Case Company and the Federal Telegraph Company of California, each sponsor other devices operated on a more or less similar principle. The Vitaphone Company uses a record for the talking part of its talking film instead of photographing sound on the film as the others do, and so is out of the controversy.

The California company recently announced that it had obtained basic patents which gave it exclusive rights to certain features of the filming of pictures and sound. The Radio Corporation group promptly announced that it is "proceeding energetically" with it splans for commercial installation of its system.

Today officials of the De Forest company announced that it held basic patents antedating all others and that it would "sue anybody anywhere who raises his head" to infringe those patents.

Two suits, W. E. Waddell, manager of the De Forest company, said, had been filed and others would follow. The suits already begun are against the Fox-Case Company and action, it was said, will "inevitably" be started against the General Electric group.

Officials of the companies against which action is threatened declined to make any statement beyond their previous remarks that they were going ahead, each with its own device.

Officers here of the California company, which has issued two statements in the past ten days about basic patents, would not say whether they, too, plan restraining actions against the other companies pending consultation with their attorneys.

EYES SHUT TO CRISIS

Authors of River Bill Stubborn

Swing and Johnson Deaf to Imperial Valley Pleas for Flood Control

They Still Strive to Push Through Entire Plan in Spite of Emergency

BY KYLE D. PALMER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Despite the apparent willingness of a majority of members of the Senate and the House to approve an emergency appropriation for the protection of Imperial Valley from the menace of a disastrous overflow of the Colorado River those advocating adoption of the Swing-Johnson bill continued today to ignore the flood peril in their efforts to force consideration of a measure which virtually all are agreed cannot be passed during the sixteen days that remain for the present session of Congress.

The opposition encountered by the Swing-Johnson program does not include disapproval of necessary flood-control expenditures, but relates exclusively to the alternative public ownership clauses of the project. Even those most actively identified with the drive to defeat the bill in its present condition have signified a willingness to support not only emergency measures designed to protect Imperial and Yuma valleys from immediate flood danger, but have indicated a disposition to vote for legislation that would appropriate many millions for a permanent flood-control dam.

HOPE VIRTUALLY GONE

The nominal authors of the Swing-Johnson bill, however, have made no attempt thus far to take advantage of the obvious desire of Congress to avert a flood disaster. While admitting the virtual impossibility of obtaining approval of the project as contemplated in the bill, they have assumed an attitude of defiance toward suggestions that agitation for the rejected general program be deferred to permit an energetic and concerted effort to obtain the protection that will be vitally needed during the next three or four years.

Senator Johnson has indicated his decision not to press the bill for passage in the Senate until the companion measure in the House has been disposed of, and the declination of the House Rules Committee to allow the measure to come before that body until some of its controversial provisions have been eliminated has impaired seriously if not wholly destroyed hope of passage of the bill in the lower body.

There seems still a chance that the Rules Committee will act in time for debate on the bill during the next ten days, but even favorable action by the House will be nullified by the parliamentary strategists opposing the measure in the Senate.

ONLY ONE ISSUE LEFT

To all of those in touch with the legislative situation in Washington the fact is obvious that for all purposes except possible political propaganda the Swing-Johnson bill is no longer a factor in the deliberations of the present Congress.

This condition leaves flood control as the sole remaining issue. Whether it shall continue to be submerged by personal politics appears to depend almost wholly on the attitude of the people of California and of those acquainted with the danger, which threatens the Yuma Valley in Arizona.

Members of Congress are beginning to receive urgent telegrams from Southern California and elsewhere stressing the need for flood control and such appeals come alike from advocates and opponents of the Swing-Johnson proposal.

The Department of the Interior is in possession of reports from several engineers who recently have investigated the Colorado River situation, and each of these disinterested expert observers has reported the danger threatened inundation by the Colorado River. Pending legislation enacted at this session could not be effective in time to avert such a calamity and the undersigned therefore urges you to use every means at your disposal to secure passage of an emergency appropriation by Congress before it adjourns March 4 for the building of levees and other immediate flood-control work for the protection of lives and property in Imperial Valley.

DOWNTOWN ASSOCIATION

The Downtown Business Men's Association, by William F. Peters, secretary, wired as follows to President Coolidge, Secretaries Hoover and Work, Senators Shortridge and Johnson and Congressmen Swing, Snell and Smith:

"Need of control of waters of Colorado River is imperative. Downtown Business Men's Association of Los Angeles urges every effort be made to pass legislation for such purpose."

JACOBY BROTHERS

Jacoby Bros., Inc., wired Congressman Swing as follows:

"Emergency appropriation for flood-control work urged to avert impending danger of destruction of Imperial Valley by inundation."

FROM INDIVIDUALS

Lieut.-Gov. Buron Fitts wired Senators Shortridge and Johnson as follows:

"Most strongly urge that action be taken at present session of Congress providing emergency appropriation for flood-control work to be done in Imperial Valley. I very earnestly feel need urgent to prevent possible inundation of valley and consequent terrific loss of life and property."

Andrew Chaffey, president of the California Bank, president of the Community Development Association, former president of Imperial Water Company No. 1 and who, with his father, helped to develop Imperial Valley's irrigation system and to get Colorado River water into the valley, sent the following telegram to Senator Shortridge:

"Regardless of passage Swing-Johnson bill emergency relief for Imperial Valley is in my opinion vital. From time I was first president Imperial Water Company No. 1 at inception of enterprise, I have been in close touch with valley development and engineering problems. Cannot too strongly urge necessity for immediate and generous Federal appropriation to insure valley against grave danger, especially aggravated this year by heavy snows, of Colorado River again breaking away."

A. P. Giannini, president of the Bancitaly Corporation, sent the following telegram to Senator Johnson:

"Shall appreciate your strongly urging immediate action on flood control legislation Imperial Valley during this session. Consider this problem to be one of the most important in future development of this State."

W. L. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company, wired Senator Johnson as follows:

"Imperial Valley in danger of worst flood in twenty years. Flood control appropriation by Congress imperative to prevent large losses."

STRESS EMERGENCY

George J. Cochran, president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, wired as follows to Senator Shortridge, Senator Johnson and Congressman Swing:

'In view of the undoubted flood danger in Imperial Valley by reason of tremendous snowfall on Colorado watershed, I strongly urge immediate emergency appropriation by Congress for flood control work."

The following telegram was sent to Senator Shortridge by Jackson A. Graves, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank:

"I earnestly urge you to give your whole-hearted and immediate support to a bill appropriating funds for immediate use in protecting Imperial Valley from flood danger. The lives and property of 60,000 people are at stake."

Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, president of the California Federation of Republican Women, Southern Division, and Mrs. O. P. Clark, Republican National Committeewoman from California, sent the following telegram to Senator Shortridge:

"We urge you to appeal to Congress for emergency flood-control appropriations to save the great Imperial Valley from destruction. Parties just returned say deep apprehension is felt by everyone because overwhelming disaster is inevitable if Congress does not help immediately. Surely this cry from 60,000 people occupying land and homes valued at $100,000,000, which if destroyed will be a national disaster that might have been prevented, will be heeded by Congress."

William Lacy, former president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and president of the Lacy Manufacturing Company, wired as follows to Secretary Work:

"Conditions prevailing in the watershed of the Colorado River indicate that extreme floods will occur this summer, threatening great damage and possible annihilation of the Imperial Valley. I and many thousands of thoughtful citizens hope that an emergency appropriation can be immediately secured for flood control to secure the safety of this national asset."

AID URGED

E. J. Nolan, president of the Merchants' National Bank, wired Secretary Work as follows:

"Urge immediate appropriation for flood control in Imperial Valley. Danger from flood greatest in twenty years. Immediate action is necessary."

William May Garland, realty man and director of the California Development Association, sent the following telegram to Congressman Fredericks:

"Strongly urge immediate emergency appropriation by Congress for flood control work Imperial Valley. Great and imminent peril to vast territory justifies national attention."

Frank Miller, proprietor of the Glenwood Mission Inn of Riverside and director of the California Development Association, wired Congressman Swing as follows:

"Strongly urge you do everything in your power to secure immediate appropriation for emergency flood control work in Imperial Valley, where millions in property is imperiled by Colorado flood situation."

S. H. Woodruff, real estate man of Hollywood, wired Senators Shortridge and Johnson as follows:

"In the name of humanity and for the prosperity and progress of the glorious state you represent will you use every ounce of your strength to obtain protection for the Imperial Valley and flood control of the Colorado River while there is yet time to preserve the lives and property in this district menaced by the rushing waters of the spring floods which are predicted to be the greatest in years."

L. M. MacDonald, vice-president of Liberty Bank of America, wired Senator Johnson as follows:

"Sincerely hope that flood control legislation for Imperial Valley will be acted upon during this session. Shall very much appreciate your doing everything possible to bring about immediate action. We regard this bill as extremely important for best interests of Southern California."

R. H. Moulton, president of the firm of investment bankers of his name, wired as follows to Congressman Fredericks:

"Action n Imperial Valley flood control should have been taken before this and any further delay will mean loss of millions. Work should be undertaken immediately."

Former Federal Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe wired Congressman Fredericks as follows:

"If we can not get Boulder Dam project this session some adequate protection must be afforded Imperial Valley against this year's floods. The danger is imminent and our duty is clear. Los Angeles confidently relies upon you to do everything in your power."

L. J. Burrud, advertising manager for R. H. Woodruff, sent the following message to Senators Shortridge and Johnson:

"Will you raise your voice in a plea to the nation to protect the lives of little children, the families and the property in the Imperial Valley. The devastating flood waters of the Colorado River present a menace this year greater than the disasterous floods of 1905. For the progress and prosperity of California secure the protection of this wonderful valley before it is too late."

EYES SHUT TO VALLEY CRISIS

of flood if the levee system in Lower California is no strengthened.

Col. T. H. Jackson, division engineer of the Army, in a lengthy report asserts that "the levees situation is not satisfactory," and R. M. Priest, engineer in the Bureau of Reclamation, has informed his superiors that "the levee system from its junction with the Okerson levee at Mileposet 18 to its present end should be raised before next summer's flood."

An even stronger warning is given by George W. Boschke, chief engineer of the Southern Pacific, who asserts:

"It is now necessary to repair the break in the new levee and open up a channel through the driftwood to prevent the next flood from flowing into Volcano lake; thence into Imperial Valley basin. In case of even a reasonable flood in the Colorado River there is great danger that the flood waters will get away and flow into Salton Sea, doing a vast amount of damage to the Imperial Valley."

Reports of other qualified engineers are similar in character.

Because of a recognized policy of Federal expenditures to protect life and property from flood waves of the large streams of the country, no obstacles of precedent or practice exist to prevent the Congress again from providing emergency funds such as were made available more than fifteen years ago when the imminence of a Colorado-River flood resulted in an appropriation of $1,000,000 for strengthening the existing levees. Since that time many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended in maintaining the levee system, which now has become menaced through the slow process of silt deposits that steadily have raised the bed of the river.

Latest engineer investigations along the lower reaches of the river show that the stream has no definite channel for more than twenty-one miles directly below the artificial outlet known as Pescadero cut, forty miles southeast of Calexico.

The river actually is flowing along on a plateau of mud and silt 130 feet above the town and El Centro and 300 feet above the lowest point in Imperial Valley. It is maintained, therefore, that any serious break in the levee system at this time will result in a flood of greater proportions and an inestimably greater economic loss than that which followed the disastrous overflow in 1906.

INTRUDER DEAD AFTER BATTLE WITH TEACHER

PORTLAND, (Ore.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Jiu-jitsu came to the aid of Mrs. Mary Hiraga, 26 years of age, a Japanese school-teacher, when she was attacked in her home by an intruder, Masao Okada. She tripped him at a critical moment in a desperate fight and obtained a hammer with which she beat him so hard that he died at a hospital.

Valley Thoroughly Alarmed at Flood Menace Will Ask Levee Funds

Relief Sought as Temporary Measure Until Dam Can be Built

EL CENTRO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Stirred by reports of unprecedented snowfall in the upper drainage basin of the Colorado River and the threat of an abnormally high flood during the early summer months a general telegraphic appeal is to be made to Washington asking that an emergency appropriation to strengthen the levee system be passed before Congress adjourns.

The situation is critical, according to directors of the Colorado River Control Club, which represents owners of more than 200,000 acres of valley land, and it is this organization that plans to take the initiative in obtaining flood relief. J. H. Hegar, one of the officers of the club, stated tonight that telegrams are being prepared to be sent to Senator Shortridge, Secretaries Hoover and Work and possibly other officials who may aid the program.

VIEW CONFIRMED

"Sentiment in Imperial Valley rapidly is crystallizing on the proposition that we must have immediate flood relief," said Mr. Edgar, "and the action of the club in appealing for aid accords wit hthe wishes of its members."

Edgar's statement was confirmed by other men prominent in Imperial Valley affairs. Will S. Fawcett, recognised as one of the largest growers of vegetables in the basin, declared that the situation at the river front is far more serious than is realised by many local people. He expressed confidence that flood aid can be secured if there is a general appeal made from all over the Southwest.

W. W. McRuen, president of the El Centro Chamber of Commerce, expressed concern over the situation.

"We do not want to make any move that will jeopardise the Swing-Johnson bill," he said, "but it is apparent that Federal aid must be obtained to give us protection during the period that Boulder dam is under construction.

NOT A SUBSTITUTE

"An emergency relief measure should not be considered as a substitute for the Swing bill, but it appears to me that an appeal for aid to meet the present emergency should only serve to strengthen Imperial's chances for the major project."

Despite unfavorable reports from Washington regarding the progress of the Boulder dam legislation, Imperial Valley residents are not yet ready to concede its defeat. They still hold to the hope that the bill can be crowded through during the closing hours of the present session. There is apparent, however, growing disapproval of the uncompromising attitude of the Irrigation District directors who insist in the face of the engineers' most alarming reports that no immediate flood menace exists. The directors have refused stubbornly to indorse any move toward obtaining emergency relief. Property owners in the district, however, point out that even if the Swing bill should pass, it would be from five to eight years before the projected dam will control the flood waters and that with the river bed already 200 feet higher than the floor of the valley and rising with each year's deposit of silt, the valley will be faced with a constantly increasing menace.

Father Meets Fate on Tracks Where Son Died

OAKLAND, Feb. 14. (AP)—Two weeks ago Homer Thompson, 24 years of age, was killed by a Key System electric train at Adeline and Thirty-fourth streets when he crashed headlong into the train while riding a motorcycle. Today his father, Everett Thompson, 60, attempted to cross the tracks at the same point where his son was killed and was run down by a Key System train, suffering injuries which caused his death a short time later.

SHIP BEING STRIPPED IN THEFT HUNT

Cabin Fixtures, Fire Hose and Lattices Dissected by Searchers for Funds

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The Panama Mail steamer Colombia is being virtually taken apart and put together again in efforts under way at its berth here to find the $33,000 which is still missing of a total of $81,000 which mysteriously disappeared from the vessel's safe while on the high seas between the Panama Canal and Los Angeles Harbor. Cabin fixtures and false work were being taken apart today and places were window lattices are dropped were removed in an attempt to find the hiding place of the money. Even the fire hose on the craft came in for dissection tonight on the theory that it may have been secreted in marked sections.

Investigators, among whom are Detective-Lieutenant Harry Hull of Los Angeles, are convinced that whoever has the rest of the fortune is playing hide and seek with it, as the visitator in which $17,000 was found yesterday had been searched thoroughly at least four times prior to the discovery.

The recovered money was given to Purser Timothy Sullivan and placed in a safe. L. E. Lowe, Los Angeles agent for the Fireman's Fund Insurance company then demonstrated the ease with which the strong box can be looted by surreptitiously opening it and removing the money during Sullivan's absence. It was returned to Sullivan's keeping again with an admonition to find a safer place of keeping.

McPHERSON GATHERING PROTESTED

Church Faction in Clash Declares Evangelist Not Yet "Fully Vindicated"

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, spoke in the First United Brethren Church here tonight despite protests which had been made earlier in the day by members of the congregation to Bishop William Bell in Washington. No action was taken on a telegram of protest sent to Bishop Bell, who was reported to be away from Washington.

Mrs. McPherson came to Baltimore at the invitation of Rev. Edward W. Leech, pastor of the church, where she spoke. The protests came from a faction led by Dawson Horine, who declared they felt that "Mrs. McPherson has not been completely vindicated of the charges brought against her and that her present speaking campaign is not clean-cut."

About 1400 persons heard the evangelist.

Fascisti Alone Soon to Hold All Positions

MILAN (Italy) Feb. 14. (AP)—Every post in the Italian government, from the highest to the lowest, will be occupied by a tried and trusted Fascist before the end of the present year.

This announcement was made today by Augusto Turati, secretary-general of the Fascist party.

The party's slogan henceforth, Signor Turati said, will be Mussolini's declaration of June, 1925:

"All power to all of Fascism."

RELEASE OF TUG THAT TOWED LIQUOR ASKED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Douglas Burrowes, Oakland tug and barge owner who was arrested early Saturday morning when Coast Guard cutters captured him in charge of a $200,000 liquor cargo going across San Francisco Bay in the guise of a dynamite shipment, today attempted to have his tug, the Elcisco, released from government custody on bond. His contention was that the tug carried no liquor. Federal authorities argued against the move on the ground that the tug was the motive power for the barge Redwood City, which did carry the liquor, and as such, was an integral part of the carrier. The matter will be threshed out in court.

British Landing Halts Parley

Conferences With Cantonese Broken Off as Result of Military Display

Chinese Hiss Troops as They Parade Through Streets Following Arrival

HANKOW, Feb. 14. (AP)—Great Britain landed troops at Shanghai today, and simultaneously it was announced at the Nationalist (Cantonese) Foreign Office here that the agreement between the two governments concerning the British concessions at Hankow and Kiukiang remained unsigned.

While the negotiators, Foreign Minister Chen of the Nationalist government and British Charge d'Affaires O'Malley, refused to make a statement concerning their conferences, it was reported that their negotiations will not be resumed.

The conferences first were suspended several days ago, when Foreign Minister Chen insisted that Great Britain give assurances that she would not land troops at Shanghai before he would sign the agreement regarding the British concessions. The agreement would have yielded administrative control of the concessions to the Nationalist government, Great Britain retaining certain privileges calculated to safeguard the interests of her nationals. The agreement as to the concessions was thought to have been a preliminary precedent to the negotiating of a treaty that would have carried Great Britain's recognition of the Nationalist government, but this was not stated officially.

ONE OF CHIEF AIMS

As a result of the breaking of negotiations, the British concessions at Hankow and Kiukiang remain in the administrative control of the Nationalist government, with the British residents doing some business. The concessions were overrun early in January by coolie crowds in antiforeign demonstrations. British residents were forced out of their districts, and many departed to other cities for safety. The Nationalist authorities then took over control of the concessions.

Elimination of foreign concessions in China is one of the chief subjects on the Nationalist program in that government's campaign for control of all China under one government.

The Peking government, with which Great Britain had sought to make a new treaty, demanded more than a week ago that British soldiers not be landed at Shanghai, and ceased negotiations when no promise of this was given.

The British authorities have said publicly that their troops would be landed if necessary to protect British life. More than 16,000 troops and numerous warships were ordered to Shanghai, but a portion of this force may be diverted to other ports of China.

CHINESE CROWDS HISS BRITISH TROOPS

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14. (AP)—A regiment each of Durham and Gloucestershire troops landed here today and paraded through the principal streets. Chinese crowds lined the route of march. There was some hissing.

The steamer Suiwo arrived today bringing 170 refugees, a majority of them American missionaries, from Szechwan Provinces. The Suiwo normally carries but twenty-two first-class passengers.

Arrivals on the Suiwo included Dr. Joseph Beech, president of the West China Union University at Chengtu, who described the recent incident at Ichang in which an American destroyer threatened to fire on Chinese troops who were attempting to commandeer a refugee ship.

Dr. Beech said the Chinese soldiers boarded the refugee ship and demanded that they be taken back up the river. A detachment of American sailors from the destroyer attempted to put them off, but failed. The commander of the destroyer then trained his guns on the refugee ship and declared he would open fire unless the Chinese left it, which they did.

NORTHERNERS TAKE YANGTZE RIVER VALLEY

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15. (AP)—Troops of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, sweeping down from Northern China in their drive to Hankow and the rich Yangtze River Valley, have completed occupation of all territory north of the Yellow River.

With the new development, interest in the Chinese civil war was shifted from Chekiang Province, where the Nationalists have relaxed their pressure on Shanghai, to Honan Province, where the uncertain attitude of Marshal Wu Pei-Fu has created a three-cornered affair.

A part of Wu's soldiers were disarmed several days ago by the advancing northerners and Chang has sent a warning that he will brook no interference in his southern push. There has been no indication yet from Wu whether he will oppose or co-operate with the Manchurian offensive. At present he is at Chiang Chow conferring with his leaders.

Meager reports from Chekiang indicate that the threat against Shanghai from that direction has been allayed for the present. It is believed that the southerners are withdrawing large numbers from the Chekiang-Kiangsi front to defend Hankow against the drive of the Ankuochun (forces of the northern alliance of war lords.)

Two Trainmen Lose Lives in Arizona Wreck

PHOENIX, Feb. 14. (AP)—Engineer Elmer Landon and Fireman F. L. McCurtry are dead as the result of the wrecking of southbound Santa Fe train No. 49 last night, fifty miles north of here. The engine turned over but four coaches remained partially upright.

None of the passengers was injured.

FRANCE TRIES TO BALK PLAN

and circumstances of each state. That is what is being done now at Geneva and to depart from that procedure to make a local agreement entailing only five powers of which only two are continental European powers, in French opinion, would be to do direct injury to the League and prejudice its whole case for the future.

OTHER AGREEMENTS

It may be argued against that that Locarno and other local agreements have been made between League members. But in this case the contracting powers were League members in the first place and only local and not world interests were involved. To France the League of Nations is too vital for her to run any risks of injuring its strength and prestige through deference to White House opinion of how disarmament should be begun.

To the President's suggestion there are innumerable practical objections. Of these the most apparent is foolishness of France in limiting her program of auxiliary ships while all her immediate neighbors and those of Italy in the Mediterranean have refused to have anything to do with the last Washington accord. Spain has kept her full liberty, as has Poland and in times gone by these were great naval powers. Greece is a maritime country and Russia only a few years ago had a Black Sea fleet which caused many times the little uneasiness in the Mediterranean.

These practical arguments, however, Briand has left aside in his reply. He makes only two main points.

First, that the League of Nations already is engaged in a most serious study of the whole problem and when principles on which disarmament can be pursued have been established special agreements between the powers such as that Mr. Coolidge has proposed may be realizable.

Second, that in the French view and in that of a majority of the members of the League the disarmament problem must be studied as a whole without differentiation between land, sea and air forces.

To that he adds that it is the opinion of the French government that security for France and for all other countries can lie only in collective action through the League of which they are members. Washington's role as a peacemaker must come second, in fact, as one of others who are willing to sign with other nations, little and large, a general agreement and not only the kind of agreement particularly favorable to American interests.

HOUSE OF COMMONS VOLUBLE ON PROPOSAL

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—President Coolidge's proposal for further naval reductions brought out numerous questions in the House of Commons today regarding the British government's attitude, but the questioners had to be content with Premier Baldwin's reply that the proposals were "receiving most earnest consideration" and that it was too early to make a statement.

Capt. George M. Carro-Jones, Labor, asked whether Premier Baldwin did not realize that a prompt and whole-hearted acceptance of President Coolidge's idea would be much more valuable than a tardy reply.

The Premier pointed out that the communication had been received only last Thursday night and added that there were many considerations which had to be borne in mind over which the Cabinet had no control.

Reginald Smith, also a Laborite, asked whether the Premier would not consider restricting cruiser construction in this year's estimates in view of the fact that much "pressure is being brought to bear on the American side to induce President Coolidge to embark on increased cruiser construction."

Premier Baldwin replied that a report on cruiser construction was under consideration.

JAPAN'S FORCES DECLARED NECESSARY

TOKIO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Premier Wakatsuki told the upper house of the Diet today that Japan's present military and naval forces are necessary to maintain and protect Japan's existing position and rights.

"Unless there is a marked change in Japan's international position in the world's general condition in other similar circumstances, Japan must maintain her present strength on land and at sea," he said.

The Premier's statement was in reply to interpellations in the Diet concerning the proposal of President Coolidge to world powers that another conference be held to consider further reductions of naval armament.

LOUISIANA GETS RAIN AS IS RAIN

New Orleans Traffic Tied Up by 5.7 Inches Fall; One Man Loses Life

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Feb. 14. (AP)—One death and heavy damage was caused by heavy rains in Southern Mississippi and Louisiana today. Ice on many street-car lines in New Orleans was suspended yesterday and train and bus service was crippled in parts of both States.

New Orleans had a total of 5.7 inches of rain between 7 p.m. Saturday and this morning.

J. M. Gillis, a farmer of Perry county, Mississippi, lost his life.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Feb. 14. (AP)—State New York was buried under a blanket of snow today.

The deepest snow—19 inches—was reported from Utica, where cars were piled up by strong winds, usually interfering with street traffic. Almost 18 inches fell in Albany.

In the southwestern section of the State, Hornell reported a 3-inch fall of snow, which was followed by rain that froze as fast as it fell and made traveling dangerous. Similar conditions prevailed at Jamestown. Telegraph and telephone service was crippled in consequence of ice-laden wires. Streets and sidewalks were covered with a veneer of ice, making pedestrian and vehicular progress hazardous.

A six-inch fall of snow in the Adirondacks was reported from Saranac Lake. At Amsterdam in the Mohawk Valley, the heaviest fall of the present winter season, 8½ inches, was reported.

TRURO (Mass.) Feb. 14. (AP)—The two-masted Gloucester fishing schooner Elsie G. Silva, went ashore on Cape Cod one mile south of Pamet River during a blinding snowstorm this morning. A high sea was running and it is believed that the boat and its 80,000 pound cargo of fish will be a total loss. The crew was rescued.

FLAW IN AID BILL CITED

Mellon Analyzes Farm Measure

Says Equalization Fee Will Invite Fraud and Bring Enforcement Problem

Administration Alone to Cost $800,000 Yearly Beside Other Large Expense

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—As the House drew nearer today to a vote on the McNary-Haugen farm bill, Secretary Mellon outlined, in a letter made public at the capitol, the difficulties he believes would be encountered in enforcing such a measure.

Confining himself to an analysis of the bill's administrative provisions, the Treasury Secretary estimated that its administration alone would cost about $800,000 a year, not including the cost of filing returns and collecting the equalization fee, and said that a large force of accountants, technical and legal experts and investigating agents would be needed.

The Secretary's views were set forth in a letter to Representative Chindblom, Republican, Illinois, who had asked for his opinion. It was inserted in the Congressional Record as the House was concluding general debate on the bill and clearing the way for a test of strength through a move to substitute the bill passed by the Senate for that before the House.

FILIBUSTER FEARED

By this means friends of the bill hope to prevent the possibility of a filibuster against it in the closing days of Congress. Should the House accept the Senate bill unamended, the likelihood for parliamentary moves against it in conference between the Senate and House would be removed and the measure would go directly to President Coolidge for his approval or disapproval.

Acting under a recommendation from the House Rules Committee, Chairman Haugen of the Agriculture Committee tomorrow will move for the substitution, and the vote on his motion, while not expected to be conclusive of the strength of the measure, will be taken by farm leaders as showing in what way the wind blows. If the Senate bill is substituted, debate will continue under limitation as the measure is read.

In his letter to Representative Chindblom, Secretary Mellon said that "the collection of the equalization fee from any one of the three mediums provided has so many disadvantages that it is not possible to say which would be the least difficult."

"Regardless of which of the three mediums of collection is adopted," he added, "a force of investigating agents must be organized for the purpose of ascertaining whether the designated collection medium has filed correct returns and paid the full amount of the fee. The investigating body might be compared with the present force of revenue agents employed under the supervision of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

FRAUD INVITED

"The impossibility of collecting every cent of the equalization fee is apparent. In addition to the fact that the equilization fee is a sum authorized by law which must be collected for the rehabilitation of the revolving fund, it can be seen that the collecting agency that does not make proper report is in effect withholding government funds.

"So much will depend upon the honesty and alertness of the collection agency that it can be seen that many units of the proper commodity as it passes through commerce will fail to pay the equalization fee provided by law. An unscrupulous processor or purchaser or carrier will find that ability to evade the return of the equalization fee to the board will result in his profit. It must be realized that the ingenuity of the government representatives must be vigorously applied to adequately meet in so far as possible the requirements of the proposed legislation."

Unless existing collecting agencies are used, Mr. Mellon said, it would be necessary to set up an equalization fee collector's office in each Federal Land Bank district.

"It is reasonable to assume," he declared, "that, regardless of the desires of the framers of the proposed legislation, it will not be possible to return to the revolving fund the entire amount withdrawn therefrom for the reason that experience in collecting taxes has established the fact that taxes are never collected 100 per cent."

EXTRA FUND ASKED FOR TRUCKEE CANAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—President Coolidge today asked Congress for an additional appropriation of $100,000 for reconstruction of the Truckee canal on the Newlands reclamation project in Nevada. The Interior Department believes it would be more economical to complete construction work this year. An additional appropriation of $35,000 was requested to continue investigation of arid and cutover timber lands in the West.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—President Coolidge's selection of Pat M. Neff, former Governor of Texas, as member of the Board of Mediation, set up under the Watson-Parker Railroad Peace Act, was approved today by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Speed Cop Testifies Wealthy Niles Citizen Had Blond Type in Auto Seat and Noisy Kind on Running Board and Authorities Want to Know Why

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Whether or not Edward Rose, wealthy Niles politician, is entitled to have a "siren" in his automobile is none of the police department's business. What he must explain at the Burlingame police station tomorrow in his authority for having a siren on his car.

The shades of night were falling with poetic rapidity when through the village passed Rose in his expensive motor, with the siren on his running board roaring for gangway and quite a different kind of a siren seated beside him.

Motorcycle Policeman Earl Christianson pursued and overtook the automobile.

As the officer came alongside one of Rose's sirens went out of commission. It was the blond one. She had fainted.

The siren on the running board was confiscated, despite Rose's protestations that he is a deputy something-or-other.

BANDIT SAYS, 'I'M YOUR MAN'

Hugh d' Autremont, Arrested in Manila for Oregon Train Blast, Admits Crime

[Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune.]

MANILA, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—"I guess you've got me—I'm your man," said Hugh d'Autremont, alias Private James Price, when a United States postal inspector confronted him on the rifle range at Los Banos last Friday. Hugh is one of the three brothers who have been sought by Federal authorities for more than four years on a charge of dynamiting a mail car near Siskiyou, Or., killing a mail clerk and three trainmen. The other two brothers, Ray and Roy, twins, 26 years of age, still are at large.

D'Autremont, according to the inspector, described in detail his adventure while a fugitive. He was a member of the Sheriff's posse which was pursuing himself, he declared, adding that he had to laugh when one of the posse said:

"If we find him, we will shoot him down like a dog."

D'Autremont said he was in the postoffice in San Francisco where the offer of the reward for his arrest was posted. A clerk said: "Gee, that fellow looks like you." D'Autremont smiled and answered: "Yes, doesn't he?"

D'Autremont says he is an atheist and does not believe in the hereafter. He says he was influenced to commit the crime by reading accounts of the exploits of Jesse James. He appears to be fairly well educated, cheerful, though quiet, and popular with the men of his company. He is supposed to be in love with a Filipino dance hall girl here.

D'Autremont is under heavy guard at the Estado Mayor barracks in the downtown section of Manila. No reporters are permitted to see him, as the postal authority is attempting to obtain clews as to the whereabouts of his two brothers. The postal inspector's wife, who arrived at Manila with the inspector, it is understood, gave much assistance in running down D'Autremont.

Merchants Give Up Own Paper for Daily Press

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Feb. 14. (AP) The New Haven Shopping News, a paper produced by some of the merchants of this city to take care of their own advertising, has announced it will discontinue publication the 26th inst.

The New Haven Shopping News has been in existence four years, resulting from a campaign by some New Haven merchants for lower advertising rates. The reasons reported for its discontinuance were the burdens involved in the work and the expense of publication. The merchants affected decided to place all their advertising in the regular daily newspapers.

Earl Carroll Asks Review in Bath Tub Case

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Earl Carroll, theatrical manager, convicted of perjury in connection with his celebrated bathtub party in New York, today asked the Supreme Court to review the conviction under which he was sentenced to a year and a day imprisonment, and a fine of $2000.

MANDATE SOUGHT FOR SENTENCE OF DEATH

OAKLAND, Feb. 14. (AP)—Dist-Atty. Warren today petitioned the Superior Court here for a writ of review and a writ of mandate ordering Superior Judge Wood of Oakland to recall from San Quentin and pronounce the death sentence on Jesus Prodencia, convicted of murder. Wood set aside the findings of the jury in the case and sentenced Prodencia to life imprisonment, thereby establishing a precedent.

ARIZONA MAY CUT SALARIES IN STATE

PHOENIX, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Irritation over the assessment of State employees for political purposes reached a stage today in the State Senate that obtained adoption, though by a slender majority, of a recommendation for passage of a bill cutting State salaries 10 per cent with exception of those less than $1500. There also was approval of a bill stiffening the eight-hour day for women, the addition patterned after the California statute.

FATHER CONFESSES TO KILLING DOCTOR

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Frank Caruso today confessed he had killed Dr. Casper S. Pendol, a physician who attended Caruso's 6-year-old son, for whose death the father regarded the doctor responsible. The boy died of diphtheria.

COUNT GIVEN BLACK EYE IN FLORIDA

State Department Gets Formal Protest Against Treatment by Police

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Formal protest was made to the State Department today against treatment accorded to Count Macchi Di Cellere, an Italian Embassy attache, by the police of Tampa, Fla., last Friday.

The Count, displaying a black eye, returned here yesterday, and his version of a fray at the Tampa Fair Grounds in which he was arrested, was sent to Secretary Kellogg, over the signature of Ambassador De Martino.

According to Count Di Cellere, a policeman wrenched his arm as he stood near the fair-grounds ticket office after he had pulled out his diplomatic passports and traveler-check book in an endeavor to find money to buy his admission.

Finding he had no money, he was about to depart, he said, when the policeman demanded to be informed of his identity, and later two other officers came on the scene, struck the diplomat repeatedly in the face, and ended up by having him locked up at the police station.

The Count said he remained incarcerated and was the subject of further verbal bodily abuse from early in the morning until midafternoon, when the Italian Consul arrived. The Police Chief, he said, apologized profusely.

Comely Young Girl Holds Up Grocery Store

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—A comely girl of high-school age who has steady dark eyes and a steady pistol grip and who dresses in costly looking furs made her debut in the Thomas Roulston grocery store in Brooklyn today as a bandit.

Assisted by a boy of about her own age the net proceeds of her first appearance were $169. Detectives combed Brooklyn tonight in vain searching for her.

SUICIDE TREASURER'S BOOKS TO BE AUDITED

REDWOOD CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—An audit of the books of Frank E. Towne, tax collector and city treasurer of Redwood City, who committed suicide last week, was ordered today by the City Trustees. A shortage of $20,728 in the cash acounts of the First National Bank of Redwood City, of which Towne was cashier, was discovered at the time of the suicide. Mayor Henry Beeger stated that the check of the municipal accounts would be made as a formality, although officials expected to find the books correct.

Menu for 518-pound Giant Brings Fear That Jail Can't Feed Him

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Nick Tartaglione, the biggest man in New England, who tips the scales at 518 pounds, was sentenced to seven months in jail and fined $100 today for violating the prohibition law. His attorney warned the court that the State would have to pass a special appropriation to feed the man if he were sent to jail.

"Big Nick" travels with a circus and gives public demonstrations on the stage of his enormous food capacity. He states that a "fair meal" is five pounds of spaghetti, two chickens, four lobsters, a loaf of bread and a gallon of wine.

He is father of seventeen children.

Banker Says Reparations Less of a Burden Than Was War Machine

Expresses Surprise That Economists Should Urge Dawes Plan Revision

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—The German people can meet their full reparations payments and still prosper, in the opinion of Henry M. Robinson, co-framer of the Dawes plan and president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles.

"The reparations burden is probably less, certainly no greater, than Germany sustained in maintaining her own war establishment before 1914," he asserted in the report of an investigation submitted to the National Foreign Trade Council and made public today.

BURDENS COMPARED

"Comparing the full burden of the reparations collection which will come due in 1928—$625,000,000 a year—we find that the actual accounted-for outlay for the maintenance of the military department of the German government for the year ending March 31, 1914, was more than $407,000,000, that is, more than two-thirds of the annual standard reparations payment. To this should be added the free services from the usual government agencies, such as free transportation of men and material on all railroads, a certain proportion of the ship subventions, and the loss of the productive power of the men so withdrawn from industry, and we find a considerably greater burden in the support of the military than is required for reparations.

"It may be that financiers in certain European countries allow the wish to father the thought so far as German economic instability is concerned. But it is rather surprising that bankers and economists in the United States should be expressing opinions to the effect that there must be a revision of the Dawes plan. The present attitude of Germany's business leaders does not afford any ground for doubt concerning the country's ability to pay."

ADVANCE CITED

In terms of labor, Mr. Robinson said, the reparations payments may be met by the product of two hours a week work of each German worker.

The banker called attention to Germany's rapid advance in the export field and said this means that American bankers will have a continuing incentive to handle foreign loans and investments, since the only way many countries can absorb German exports is by obtaining loans here. He warned, however, that danger still exists in extending so-called municipal loans to Germany, "because of political pressure they may constitute a real menace against proper payment of loans privately made."

Death Toll in Hondo Island Storm Mounts

TOKIO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The toll of death in the recent storms in the northern part of Hondo Island passed the 100 mark today. The Home Office confirmed that sixty-two had been killed, twenty-nine were missing and 113 houses destroyed in Nigata prefecture. In Toyama prefecture there are forty dead, eighteen hurt and seventy-eight houses crushed. Former soldiers are volunteering to take food supplies to the stricken area.

The district was reported to be buried under a great blanket of snow, which was responsible for the death and damage. Snow began falling about a week ago and is still falling. The storm is said to be the worst in that vicinity in half a century.

Nevada Senate Defeats Child Labor Measure

RENO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The child-labor amendment to the Federal Constitution was rejected by the Nevada Senate at Carson City today when it approved a motion for indefinite postponement.

Under the rules the amendment cannot be revived this session. The Senate approved the amendment Saturday.

STEAMSHIP LINES GIVEN WAR CLAIMS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Decisions in a number of cases brought before the United States Court of Claims by steamship companies whose contracts were requisitioned by the government during the war were handed down today. Judgments rendered included $923,097 for the Brooks-Scanlan Corporation of Delaware; $1,165,183 for Consorzio Veneziano di Armamente e Navigazione, an Italian corporation; $384,587 for the Ocean Steamship Company, Savannah, Ga.; $903,237 for Luckenbach Steamship Company, Inc., of Delaware; $1,030,031 for the John M. Connelly Steamship Company and $919,096 for the Campagnie Generale Transatlantique.

TRIANGLE TOLL THREE

Two Men and Wife of One Dead of Bullet Wounds

BLUEFIELD (W. Va.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Two men and the wife of one of them were dead today from bullet wounds at Belfast Mills, Va., because of what authorities believe was the climax yesterday of the "eternal triangle."

Mrs. J. D. Howard, 39 years of age, died from a wound inflicted by her husband while two of their children were present. Her husband, 53, member of a wealthy Virginia family, then killed himself.

When he learned of the shootings Henry Grant, 33, son of a physician, also committed suicide.

ENEMY OWNERSHIP PROOF CITED IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Papers Declared in Official Files; Data Ruled Out as Against ex-Attorney-General

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—A document was produced today in the Daugherty-Miller trial to show at the time the Alien Property Custodian's and Attorney-General's offices were passing a claim for $7,000,000 of impounded assets, on the ground that they were not enemy-owned and had been erroneously seized, there was proof in their files that the property was owned by Germans.

Paul Smith, head of the corporation management division of the Alien Property Custodian's office under Thomas W. Miller, took the stand to identify the document—a license granted to Julian Beatty and Henry Bruers as representatives of the American stockholders of the American Metal Company, to treat with aliens who owned 49 per cent of the stock of that company.

Smith said that in April, 1922, he was summoned to the office of Miller, then Alien Property Custodian. A newspaper reporter was with Miller. There was some talk of a Senate investigation, he said, and then Miller directed him to get all the papers in the American Metal case. Within half an hour, Smith said, he had in his hands the document that showed German ownership.

HITS SECOND BLOW

It was shown that the document was in the files of either the Alien Property Custodian's or Attorney-General's office when the claim of Richard Merton, German metal magnate and agent for the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs de Metaux, was granted on the ground that the stock was not German-owned and should not have been confiscated.

Striking quickly a second time, the government put on the stand Miss Edith Haworth, a clerk in the Alien Property Custodian's office in 1921. Miss Haworth identified a claim for the same stock that had been denied while the Merton claim was being considered.

Miller and Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney-General, are charged with conspiring to defraud the United States of their best services in the award of the claim of Merton. Merton previously had testified he paid John T. King, one-time national Republican committeeman form Connecticut, $441,000 as a fee for aid in getting the claim passed. The government asserts the $441,000 was "split" by King, Daugherty, Miller and Jess W. Smith, Daugherty's handy man, and that Merton's two claims were rushed through in three days without investigation.

John Foster Dulles, New York attorney, testified he met Merton when the latter arrived in America in March, 1921, to negotiate for the return of the seized American Metal Company assets. As Merton's attorney and as counsel for the Societe Suisse, Dulles said he went to Washington and consulted with George E. Williams, Miller's assistant, and Lucian H. Boggs, special Attorney-General in charge of Alien Property Custodian affairs for the Department of Justice.

After stating the case hypothetically, Dulles said he was told the claim would not be favorably considered. He said that in his presentation of the case he sought allowance of the claim in the basis of debt. It was granted on other grounds, finally, after Merton had released Dulles as counsel for the Societe Suisse on King's advice that a lawyer was not necessary.

Boggs, brought from Jacksonville, Fla., his home, to testify for the government, was not allowed to tell what conversation he had with Dulles.

EVIDENCE EXCLUDED

After Smith had concluded his testimony, Harold Corbin, associate counsel with Max D. Steuer, for Daugherty, objected on the ground that it had not been shown that Daugherty knew the license was in the files or that he had knowledge of it. Corbin's objections were an almost verbatim reading of objections Steuer made at the first trial. At that time, Judge Julian W. Mack overruled the objections, but this time Judge John C. Knox sustained them and the testimony and document were ruled out as evidence against Daugherty. Steuer was not in court when the objections were made.

U. S. Atty. Buckner fought to prevent the exclusion in a manner that indicated he attached great importance to the document and Smith's testimony.

Nine witnesses were called during the day, bringing to forty-one the number of government witnesses. The government expects to rest its case tomorrow or Wednesday.

Angels Rained Out of Practice; Carr Smashes Vaulting Record

TWENTY REPORT TO PILOT KRUG

Seraphs Will Try to Start Spring Work Today

Rooks Scheduled to Limber Up Under Grand Stand

Yarrison, Moss on Way Here; Wright Leaves Soon

BY BOB RAY

"Rain is all right in its place," quoth Marty Krug yesterday, gazing pensively out on Lake Wrigley Field,

"but it's certainly out of place on a ball field, especially when there's a spring training to be done."

However, it kept on raining just the same so Marty and the nineteen other Angels gathered around him had to postpone the start of the spring training siege that was scheduled to get under way yesterday morning.

Provided it clears up today Krug will gather his Angel flock around him this morning and have the youngsters limber up their working arms. If there are no dry spots available on Wrigley Field, Marty will hustle the rookies out in the auto-park grounds of Messrs. Reichow, Weber and Stull, where the footing is less sloppy. That brings up the question as to how much Messrs. Reichow, Weber and Stull, who appreciate the value of money, will charge the ball club for the use of the lot. Perhaps Marty will have to pungle up a quarter for each of his rookies who sally forth in the auto park. The auto-parking business at Wrigley Field is not so productive during the winter, and Messrs. Reichow, Weber and Stull have got to raise money for their taxes.

WILL WORK HURLERS

If it is still raining this morning Krug is going to have the young pitchers do their warming up under the grand stand. The Seraph skipper wants to have his young hurlers ready for their part when batting practice for the regulars starts next Monday. Rather than have the rookies delay the start of training and then rush along to get their arms in shape, with the chances that some of them would develop sore flippers, Marty wants the youngsters to start work today so that they can gradually get their wings used to the grind.

Following are the players who reported to Skipper Krug yesterday morning: Pitchers Hamilton, Holmes, Piercy, Sanders, Weathersby, Martin, Perry, Kilbuck, McGowan and Staples; Catchers Hannah, Sandberg, Read and Adamson; Infielders Dwyer, Thornton, Pillette, Meyer and Mittlested, and Outfielder Davis.

About the only thing accomplished at yesterday's meeting was that Trainer Frank Jacobs assigned lockers to all the athletes. Jake was a little disappointed because he didn't get to try out some of his favorite liniment, but he'll get his chance later on.

After Jacobs had assigned the lock-

DRAFT RULE IS VOTED DOWN BY AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The new major-minor draft agreement drawn up at French-Lick Springs, Ind., recently, does not suit the American Association any better than the former plan and the club owners of that league today voted it down, 7 to 1. Under this new arrangement the major leaguers offered to increase the price of drafted Class "AA" players from $5000 to $7500, but that failed to tempt the American Association.

Four of the five minor leagues which have always opposed the draft have now announced their opposition to the latest plan. Those who previously acted against the new arrangement are the Pacific Coast League, the International and the Western League. The Three-I Eye League yesterday indorsed the plan and expressed the hope that all the minors would soon adopt it.

Only one American Association Club, Columbus, recently purchased by the Cincinnati Nationals, voted in favor of accepting the draft.

CHAMPION ON VERGE OF KAYOE IN EARLY ROUNDS

Hub City Boy Chalks Up Wide Lead at Start to Cop Decision in Nontitular Fistic Melee

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Johnny Vacca of Boston tonight won the decision in a ten-round bout over Fidel La Barba of Los Angeles, world's flyweight champion. The championship was not at stake because the fighters were not down to the 112-pound weight, Vacca weighing 115½ pounds and La Barba 117.

Vacca, fighting like a whirlwind, made La Barba look like anything but a champion in the first half of the battle. In the second round he knocked Fidel down three times, the first time for the count of nine. The next tumble kept La Barba on the mat for the count of five and the third time he lay low until seven had been counted.

The champion's handlers worked hard over their charge during the rest period in order to clear his head that the battle might not be ended in the third round.

Halfway through the bout La Bar-

Mysterious Matman Signs to Meet Judson at Daro's Next Wrestling Show

A "Masked Marvel" will make his appearance on Lou Daro's wrestling program at the Olympic Auditorium a week from Wednesday night.

Frank Judson, the former Harvard College wrestling coach, is destined to meet this unidentified opponent whom Promoter Daro signed yesterday. It will be the semi-wind-up of the show, George Kotsonaros being signed to exchange holds with Paul Jones of Texas in the main event.

This "Masked Marvel" of Lou Daro's was brought up to the promoter's office, mask and all, yesterday. He arrived at the opportune time, Mons. Daro having just sent a number of S.O.S.'s to all corners of the country in an effort to find an opponent for Judson. Hahn Shows Heels to Field in Baxter Mile Run

Georgia Freshman Surprise in New York Sprint

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—The world's indoor pole vault record was shattered for the third time this year at the annual games of the New York A.C. tonight when Sabin Carr of Yale soared over the bar at a height of 13 feet, 9 1-4 inches.

Carr's leap, which was made before a throng of 10,000 spectators at Madison Square Garden, exceeded his own best previous mark of 13ft. 7 1-8in. posted last week at Boston. It is the greatest height ever attained by an America athlete, either indoors or outdoors. Carr crossed the bar in his second attempt.

Carr's record flight over the bar also exceeded the best indoor height vaulted by Charlie Hoff of Norway last winter. The European star scaled 13ft. 8 1-4in. In his best effort but all his marks were tabled by the A.A.U., when his permit to compete in this country was withdrawn.

HAHN TRIUMPHS

Speeding to his seventh successive victory of the current indoor track campaign, Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A.A. carried off first honors in the Baxter mile, leading Willie Goodwin and Jimmy Connolly of the New York A.C., to the finish line in that order. Hahn raced home in the fastest time of the year at 4:14 4-5, only two and four-fifths second slower than the record time of Paavo Nurmi and Joie Ray. Hahn had a five-yard advantage on Goodwin. Bill Cox of Penn-State was fourth and last.

Georgetown won the one-mile college relay; Holy Cross taking second and Boston College third. The time was 3:24 4-5. The University of Maryland (Whiteford, Sherif, Thom-

MILLIONAIRE PUCKS WIN

Detroit Ice Hockey Stars Defeat Maroon Team in Opening Game of Series, 5 to 3

If puck-chasing is ever rated in Wall street the Detroit Millionaires will not have any trouble selling their stock judging from the impression they made on the 4000 hockey fans who turned out for their debut last night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. The Millionaires completely smothered the Los Angeles Maroons in a spirited game of ice hockey by a 5-to-3 score after getting off to a bad start.

◆ The Detroit boys were too fast for the local aggregation, at every department of the game, although the Maroons played better hockey last night than they have all season.

Frank Sheppard was the star performer of the evening. This star puck chaser scored three goals and was a demon on the defense. At the end of the second period the Millionaires led by 4 to 2, and in the last session, which was a hectic one, the Detroit boys grabbed another goal on a shot by Sheppard. Wilson of the Maroon team made one for the local skaters when he caught Mr. Bonney, goal keeper of the Millionaires, taking a short nap.

Although the Maroon team played the best game of their career and made a desperate attempt to tie up the score in the last period, they were unable to get by the stone wall defense of the Millionaires.

There was considerable rough work during the game and Sheppard of the Millionaires was put out of the

HOLLYWOOD QUINTET IN CRUCIAL BATTLE

The crucial basketball game of the local A.A.U. loop will take place Thursday night at the Hollywood Athletic Club, when the Los Angeles Athletic Club and the movie city club clash in the final game of the year. The two teams are tied for first place and the winner will be nominated to represent the Southland in the national basketball championship at Kansas City next month.

WALTER MAILS SIGNS TWO-YEAR CONTRACT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The "Great" Walter Mails, southpaw pitcher, former hero of the big leagues, today signed a two-year contract with the San Francisco Seals. This is the first time the Seals have ever given a pitcher a two-year contract.

IDAHO BEATS OREGON AGGIES

MOSCOW (Idaho) Feb. 14. (AP)—Scoring eight points in a final two-minute rally, the University of Idaho defeated the Oregon Aggies in a Pacific Coast Conference basketball game here tonight by the score of 24 to 17.

SWIM COACHES FORMING TO PROTECT THEMSELVES FROM UNFAIRNESS OF THE A.A.U.

OMAHA, Feb. 14. (AP)—A national body of club coaches, to "protect their interests and the interests of their swimmers against a repetition of high-handed and autocratic methods of the Amateur Athletic Union in swimming meets," is being formed, Pete Wendell, Omaha swimming coach, said today.

Wendell, who is a member of the national swimming committee of the A.A.U., said the organization is the result of "gross unfairness" at the recent Buffalo meet. However, it will have no thought of combating the A.A.U., he explained.

Wendell said the principal complaint against the association committee at the Buffalo meet was that New York swimmers were given a decided advantage in seeding of entries in the preliminary heats, so that the fastest visiting swimmers were forced to compete in trial heats. Only the first swimmer in each group was qualified, he charged, leaving many good swimmers out of the finals, and giving the New York entries a chance to compete.

MAY AND DRESSEN SIGN WITH CINCY

CINCINNATI, Feb. 14. (AP)—Jakie May, left-handed pitcher, and Charles Dressen, third-baseman, signed Cincinnati National contracts for the coming season today.

The Reds unsigned are Catcher Hargrave, Pitcher Donohue, first-baseman Pipp and Second-baseman Critz.

TWO MORE IN DAVIS PLAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Re-entry of Rumania and India into Davis Cup play for 1927 has brought the list of challengers for the historic tennis trophy to fourteen, the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced today. Thirteen of the teams will compete in the European zone and the fourteenth, Cuba, will play in the American zone.

Both India and Rumania have participated in Davis Cup play five times. India entered the lists in 1921 and Rumania in 1922. Both have competed annually since that date with one exception. India failed to enter a team in 1925.

FLOODS CAUSE TIA JUANA TO CLOSE TRACKS TEMPORARILY

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Torrential rainfall here today gave the ranches of this section a good soaking, but also left some damage in its path. Floods over the highway and to some extent the San Diego and Arizona Railway roadbed near Tia Juana, all but isolated the Mexican town tonight, and announcement was made late today that racing at the Tia Juana Jockey Club's plant would be suspended temporarily. If the rain does no further damage to the roads and railway bed it is expected that racing will be resumed in a few days.

CHAMPION DEFENDING TITLE

Here's Miss Marion Hollins, former national open champion, who started in defense of her Pebble Beach golf crown by tying with Mrs. Melvin Jones, of Chicago, with a 96, in the qualifying round at Del Monte yesterday. The unofficial west coast title is at stake.

Chicago Woman Turns in 96 Card to Even Up Score With Champ in Del Monte Golf Classic

DEL MONTE, Feb. 14.—A blustering gale sweeping over the Pebble Beach links today raised havoc with scores in the annual Pebble Beach championship for women. In spite of the storm Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago, and Miss Marion Hollins of New York, medaled this difficult course in 96 strokes to lead the field of thirty qualifiers.

Rain, hail and a bit of thunder and lightning failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the players. They all showed up on time fortified with sweaters, coats, slickers and umbrellas. The rain wasn't so bad, but the wind wrecked the championship hopes of many. Even so, the splendid sportsmanship of these players proved

SCALPERS WORRY RICKARD

NEW YORK, Feb 14. (AP)—Tex Rickard today applied to the State Athletic Commission for an investigation of reports that tickets for his heavyweight elimination fight on Friday night between Jack Delaney and Jimmy Maloney have fallen into the hands of speculators.

Agreeing to furnish names and addresses of all ticket purchasers if evidence of speculation is disclosed, the Madison Square Garden promotor asked that the commission examine his box office records and review the "method by which tickets have been allotted."

Reports breezed through the Broadway canyon that speculators were offering tickets for sums two and three times higher than box office prices, ringside seats, for which the Garden is charging $30, were said to be worth between $50 and $75.

Hudkins Steps Out of Class to Meet Atkinson in Middle Division

ACE OUT AFTER WALKER'S MARK

Nebraska Wildcat Performs at Olympic Arena

Billy Apt to be Upset by Welter's Wallops

Action Fight Expected When Boys Clash Tonight

BY KAY OWE

Ace Hudkins, the metamorphosed lightweight, steps up another notch at the Olympic Auditorium tonight. After beating Billy Alger, a welterweight, two weeks ago, the "Nebraska Wildcat" is meeting Middleweight Billy Atkinson in the ten-rounder main event which winds up this evening's fistic festivities at the Grand-avenue mansion of mauling.

ACE HUDKINS.

For the Alger fight Hudkins weighed 147 pounds. Tonight he may give away anything from eight to twelve pounds. It can't be more than the latter figure because the boxing commission prohibits anybody, but heavyweights meeting where there is a weight difference of more than twelve pounds. Atkinson generally weighs around 15 6to 159 pounds.

He is a rough and ready mixer, the type that ought to make Hudkins step around in sprightly fashion to avoid his flailing swings.

Bert Colima made a boxing example of Atkinson last September, but was unable to put him on the floor. However, with middleweights like Everett Strong, Billy Harms, Charley Long, Sailor Billy Vincent and others of that type, Atkinson has shown himself a worthy foeman.

Hudkins isn't a middleweight like Colima, so he can't be expected to do to Atkinson what Colima did. On the other hand, if Hudkins should display a punching power that the Mexican was unable to uncork he will immediately become a dangerous contender in middleweight as well as welterweight circles.

In other words, Hudkins will then be paddling along in the tracks trod by Mickey Walker, when the latter held the welterweight crown and fought the late Harry Greb for the middleweight title. Hudkins holds no titles except that of being the most persecuted young man in Nebraska, but he is rated as one of the toughest hoses in Pete Latzo's division.

Atkinson is a slugger with a short-term chin and if Hudkins doesn't get plenty of action it won't be Billy's fault. He'll start wading in from the first bell and he'll wade as long as he can stand up, which is generally the duration of a fight.

His last bout at the Olympic was with Billy Harms—a steam-heated draw in which Atkinson got off to a flying start by flooring his foe with a left hook to the face in the second round.

The supporting cast for tonight includes Fred Zwickey and Frank Williams, light-heavyweights, in the semi-wind-up, which is billed to go six rounds or less.

Benny Marks and G. Kimura, said to be some kind of a Japanese champion, are also down for six rounds. Two four-round bouts complete the program.

ANGEL WORKOUT IS RAINED OUT

ers Skipper Krug gave the boys a heart-to-heart talk about what was expected of them during the spring training session. Marty then took his first shower of the season and called it a day.

CHUCKERS ON WAY

Up in the Angel business offices Secretary "Boots" Weber announced that both Byron Wordsworth "Rube" Yarrison and Ray Moss, both pitchers, had wired in that they were on their way to join the Angels. The slabsters are expected to arrive here before the end of the week Yarrison is coming from Pennsylvania, while Moss wintered in Tennessee.

Wayne "Doc" Wright is leaving Big Stone Gap, W. Va., tomorrow. Doc is bringing his rather large family with him, which accounts for the late start. "Boots" Weber says that next year the Angels are going to start urging Wright to report on Christmas Day, which ought to give him enough time to get ready so that he can get here when the training season starts.

Arnold "Jigger" Statz, who was the sensation of the Coast League with the pennant-winning Angels last season, has practically agreed to terms with the Brooklyn Dodgers and expects to sign soon. "Jigger" sent back one contract unsigned, but the Robins are making him a better offer now so Statz is going to sign.

HARRY O'NEIL SIGNS

Over in the Hollywood offices Charles Adrian "Spider" Baum and John Derks had their afternoon siesta interrupted by the arrival of Harry O'Neil's signed contract. The Hollywood Stars start spring training at Gilmore Park Monday. Manager Oscar Vitt and Coach Walter McCredie are expected here Saturday for a confab with Owner Bill Lane.

SPORTS CARNIVAL FOR LADY MERCURY FANS

The ladies will be entertained at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tomorrow night when the club stages the second of its winter ladies' night shows. The show starts with a bang at 8:30 when Ben Price trots out his star performers to do their stuff at tumbling, handstands and what have you. There will be several all-star acts on the bill, including a fencing match between Edith Jane, last year's feminine fencing champ, and Ralph Faulkner, holder in the men's division for Southern California; a wrestling match between two of the club's foremost grapplers, an Arabian whirlwest, and a boxing match between Huerta Evans, Pacific Coast 118-pound champion, and Hurley Breen, a promising youngster. The athletic carnival will be interspersed with musical numbers by Norman Harvey and his Mercurians.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

GEORGE KOTSONAROS, who can make worse faces than anybody else in the world except Bull Montana, is doing so well in pictures these days that he turns up his nose when Lou Daro thrusts wrestling contracts at him. For his signature to a paper binding him to meet Paul Jones at the Olympic Auditorium next Wednesday, Kotsonaros made Daro swallow a gunnysackful of insults.

"The beeg stiff," said George, referring to Daro, "he is a nobody. I am a great actor. I play the big lead in 'The Tender Thought' for First National. I am the 'tender thought.' I do not have to wrestle for this Daro. I have money. He is a beeg stiff."

Charles Wesley Keppen, who, between frequent pousts at handball, occasionally finds time to sandwich in a game of golf, is still regaling locker-room listeners at the L.A.A.C. with a prodigious feat of last week. It seems that Charles Wesley was playing over the Palos Verde course with Col. Jack Lowe, and wasn't doing any too well up to the time the athletes arrived at the third green.

Charles Wesley's second shot was strong. The ball rolled some thirty feet over the edge of the green and down a sloping hill, leaving Charles Wesley with a blind shot. Our hero, unperturbed in the slightest with the difficulty of the approaching shot, strode up the hill, calmly surveyed the situation, taking careful cognizance of the position of the pin, just as calmly strode down the hill, and with great equanimity stroked the ball. Should it be necessary to add that the pill dropped in for a birdie three and that Charles Wesley can talk of nothing else these days?

The Palos Verdes course, by the way, is coming to be known as one of the most enjoyable as well as one of the most picturesque courses in Southern California. As a semipublic links it has become very popular with the mashie experts who owe allegiance to no particular club. Set atop the Palos Verdes hills, the course looks out over the ocean and the land sweeping back toward Los Angeles and by virtue of this elevation it is no uncommon occurrence for the golfer motoring out Western avenue in a blanket of fog to pop up into the Palos Verdes hills and find himself in a blossom of sunshine. The course, which is blessed with unusual fairways, is short of championship length, but Jim Fisk, the professional, says some 400 yards and more will be added within the year and it will then be a test worthy of any championship event.

T. W. writes in to ask why Referee Duke Kenworthy did not stop "the alleged fight between Harry (Kid) Brown and Dick Hoppe at Hollywood Friday night and call it 'no contest.' He says it was one of the most goshawful things he ever saw and suggests that Brown, who was awarded the verdict, be shipped back to Philadelphia, express prepaid, in order to save the local fight fans from the agony of seeing him perform here again.

Not knowing what was in Kenworthy's mind, we can't give a reason for his failure in halting the terrible affair. After the series of good main events Tom Gallery has dished up for Hollywood fans the past few weeks it really was tough on the Legion cash customers, who started walking out early on it." Tom was among 'em, too. He left his ringside seat early in the fight and beat it for the rear of the house.

MASKED MAN ON DARO CARD

formidable grappler that Pesek, Londos, Stecher and many other notables of the bone-twisting business have evidenced a desire to evade meeting him if possible.

Daro says the "Man with the Purple Mask" weighs 215 pounds and literally "burned up the mat" when taken to the gymnasium for a tryout against a tough sparring partner. The disguised grappler is managed by Jack Holmes of Omaha, Neb. Daro declares in all sincerity, that he is not aware of the name of the "mysterious" mat man. Under present agreements, the "Marvel's" mask will not be listed unless he throws Judson.

FIDEL LA BARBA BEATEN IN EAST

ba began to get going. The sixth round was even and in all the remaining rounds the west coaster had the advantage. But he failed to score enough points to make up for the three times he was knocked down in the second round and an additional tumble he took for the count of eight in the fourth round. Largely on the basis of his terribly poor showing in the first half of the bout Referee Jimmy Walsh could not see how he could be given the victory, so awarded the decision to the local fighter.

La Barba seemed to have solved Vacca's style in the latter part of the bout and sensed the proper tactics to use his own best style to advantage. La Barba was superior at infighting. He kept his advantage toward the end by refusing to box and not allowing any danger of getting the dynamite in Vacca's right.

Joe Salas of Los Angeles won the decision over Joe Dwyer of Boston in a six-round preliminary.

POWERFUL L.A.A.C. TEAM IN DEBUT SATURDAY

Mercury Track Outfit Takes on Pomonans at Claremont in Feature Meet of Week

BY BRAVEN DYER

One of the most powerful track teams in the West makes its 1927 debut Saturday when the Los Angeles Athletic Club squad goes to Claremont for a meet with the Pomona College outfit. Last year, the Mercuries defeated Stanford, Pacific Coast intercollegiate champs, and with the addition of several new men since that time Boyd Comstock's team ought to be even stronger than it was in 1926.

Three other meets are billed for this week-end, the versatile Hollywood Athletic Club aggregation meeting Tommy Davis's U.S.C. frosh at Bovard Field in the other local engagement. Whittier and Caltech hook up in a dual Southern Conference meet at Paddock Field, Pasadena. This is the opening conference clash of the season and the engineers are heavy favorites to win. Joe Pipal's Occidental athletes entertain the combined Redlands and LaVerne teams at Patterson Field in the fourth meet billed for Saturday.

BOYD COMSTOCK

The L.A.A.C.-Pomona encounter is "the" affair of the day. Bob Strehle's Sagehens haven't the ghost of a chance of trimming the clubmen but they'll make things interesting in a few events. The meet is important because it will demonstrate just what Comstock and Charley Keppen have gathered together in the way of a team. L.A.A.C. was powerful last year and the 1927 roster indicates additional strength in a number of events.

Take the sprints for instance. Charley Paddock will probably run only the furlong Saturday as he is tuning up for that assault on Roland Locke's 220-yard record. With Paddock in this race will be Keith Lloyd, Hugh Pinney, Chuck Petty of Pomona, Hershowitz of Poly, J. Ed. Clark of Minnesota, Bud Nash of Occidental, and some other chaps unknown to this writer. The same athletes with the possible exceptional of Paddock, will perform in the century. It will take a pretty fleet sprinter to cut into that array of dash artists.

The Mercuries were weak in the quarter-mile last year, but hope to do better this season. Phil Ellsworth has come out of retirement, so they say. If he's right Phil will chalk up some points here and there. Runkle, an ex-Illinois athlete, is also out, along with Johnny Woods of U.S.C., Chapman of Hollywood, Williams of Compton, Ulrich of Riverside, Phil Buckman of Occidental, and McDonald, the old California veteran. Chapman and Williams are likely to prove the best of the lot unless Buckman is in good shape, as they are the youngest.

Nick Carter is slated to do his stuff in his customary races, the mile and half-mile. Nick won a lot of points for the Mercuries last year and will undoubtedly be a demon digit gatherer again. Ellsworth and Woods are billed for this race also, with Kenny Montgomery, captain of last year's Occidental team, another performer.

HAWAIIAN ENROLLS

Tom Humphreys, the Indian wonder, will be assisted by Henry Lunney, Lauren Handley and Begay, another Redskin, in the mile. Hooper, former Hawaiian champion, has been added to the club four-lap squad. The same men, with the addition of Doug Keetch, will take care of the two-mile.

Bob Maxwell, Pacific Coast low hurdler champion; Dick Pomeroy, Clearbrook and Wall are the Mercury hurdlers. Pomeroy finished at Caltech last year and ran some sensational high-hurdler races. He is good for 15 flat. The other two boys hail from Occidental.

Bud Nash, Levi Casey, Homer Frisbie and Cliff Argue form a quartet of good broad jumpers. Casey is national senior hop, step and jump champion and is good for close to 23ft. in the broad jump. Nash is probably in better shape than Frisbie or Argue. All three are capable of 23ft. when right.

The addition of Glen Graham, Olympic Games star, gives the Mercuries one of the best pole vault combinations in the country. He clears 13ft. consistently and holds the Southern Conference record at slightly better than this mark. The Smith Brothers, Harry and Ralph, are also 13ft. vaulters and then there's Conrad Boye, the Manual Arts athlete. Dick Emmons, aged though he is, manages to hoist himself over the bar for a point now and then.

COYNE IN WEIGHTS

Jimmy Coyne, ex-Occidental weight ace, is now with the L.A.A.C. and ought to come in mighty handy both as a shot and discus point winner. He was the class of the Southern Conference but fell by the wayside. Edwards of Caltech is another addition in these events. The old-timers include Eddie Moeller, who some day may break the world's discus record; Norm Anderson, always reliable, and Grandpa Alma Richards.

Chuck Eaton, the best javelin thrower in the south, will lead the Mercury spear tossers. Knox Richards, Webster and Garrett are slated to handle the broad jump.

Lloyd, Petty, Nash, Ellsworth, Montgomery, Pomeroy, Graham, Coyne, Edwards and Clearbrook ought to make a difference of 20 or 25 points in the strength of the Mercuries this year. Taking into consideration the power of the club men last season it's hard to see how they can lose any local meets this year with the addition of the above named stars.

WOMEN GOLFERS TIE FOR MEDAL

the brightest spot of a dark and exceptionally stormy day.

The force of the wind can be judged by what happened at the little 130-yard seventh hole. Ordinarily this is a delicate little mashie-niblie pitch. Today in the face of the gale Miss Hollins hit a full mashie iron and dropped thirty yards short of the pin. Others laid into full brassie shots, barely reaching the green. Scores of nine, ten, eleven, twelve and fifteen were not uncommon at the tenth hole.

Mrs. Melvin Jones took an early lead on Miss Hollins when she negotiated the first nine in 45 as against Miss Hollinns's 47, but the latter made up the difference with a 4 on the eleventh hole as against a 6 scored by the Chicago star.

Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago was paired with Miss Hollins and really played the golf to get a score of 101 and tie with Mrs. Brent Potter of San Francisco. Mrs. Potter played in a bit of bad luck today or she would have finished in the low nineties at the worst. Many are picking her to win from Miss Hollins. In the first round of play she is matched against Mrs. J. C. Kelleher of Pasadena.

Miss Hollins has her work cut out for her in this tournament. Tomorrow she will meet Mrs. Emil Sutro of San Francisco in the first round of play. In case she wins she will face the winner of the match between Mrs. F. C. Letts of Chicago and Miss Margaret Sayward of Victoria. What promises to be the best match of the day tomorrow is that between Mrs. Lee Mida and Mrs. L. M. Van Meter of Denver, probably the finest woman golfer in Colorado. The greatest disappointment of the tournament was the failure of Mrs. J. C. Moore of Seattle to qualify. The wind simply wrecked her otherwise fine game and tonight she was the most disappointed woman golfer in California. Summary:

First Eight—66, Miss Marion Hollins of New York, vs. 109, Mrs. Emil Sutro, San Francisco. 101, Miss Margaret Sayward, Victoria, vs. 114, Mrs. F. C. Letts, Chicago.
100, Mrs. A. R. Swinerton, San Francisco, vs. 118, Mrs. B. F. Yoell, San Francisco.
101, Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, vs. 112, Mrs. L. M. Van Meter, Denver.
96, Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, vs. 110, Mrs. Hunter Hobbs, Pasadena.
105, Mrs. F. Wildrig, Victoria, vs. 113, Mrs. Joe Mack, Los Angeles.
109, Miss Alice Hansbuhl, Santa Barbara, vs. 130, Miss Esther Scott, San Francisco.
101, Mrs. Brent Potter, San Francisco, vs. 113, Mrs. J. W. Kelleher, Pasadena.
Second Eight—Mrs. R. D. Inman, Portland, vs. Miss Katherine Christie, Pasadena (6).
Mrs. G. A. Lechenbach, Pasadena (8) vs. bye.
Miss Angie Parkhurst, San Francisco (6) vs. Miss Margaret Stewart, Victoria (4).
Mrs. G. H. Wilmer, Pasadena (10) vs. Mrs. D. R. Wilson, San Francisco (2).

HEAVIES ON MAIN STREET BOUT BILL

Another card of heavyweight scraps has been lined up for Saturday at the Main-street Athletic Club and Promoter Carlo Curtis is confident that every match will be of a sensational nature. It will be his third show of heavyweight elimination.

Mack House, a fast moving boxer with a terrific punch, is featured with Harold Esterbrook of Kansas City and the K.O. records of both would indicate a sudden termination of hostilities.

Three other heavyweight bouts grace the bill and one bantamweight match is thrown in for good measure. Sailor Larry vs. Joe Burman, heavy; Ed Huarch vs. Jack Nelson, heavy; Herbert Turchi vs. Eagle Thomas, banties, and Al Worthen vs. Vic Pertley, heavies, in a rematch.

BENTZ WHIPS BAKSIC IN MILWAUKEE BOUT

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Howard Bentz, Milwaukee middleweight, won from Emil Baksic, Chicago, on a foul in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight.

Harry Kahn, Milwaukee lightweight, won from Jerry (Red) Dolan of Detroit, on a technical knockout in the second round.

"BIG" MUNN DEFEATED IN WRESTLING BOUT

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Joe Malcewicz, Utica (N. Y.) heavyweight wrestler, tonight defeated Wayne "Big" Munn of Nebraska two falls out of three. Malcewicz weighed 208 pounds and Munn 257½.

Munn won the first fall in fifteen minutes and 13 seconds with a crotch and a half-Nelson. The second and third falls were won by Malcewicz, the former in twenty-nine minutes and five seconds, with a head scissors and bar-arm hold, and the latter in three minutes and three seconds with a headlock and scissors on the arm.

KIECKHEFER SCORES HIGH CUE AVERAGE

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago scored the highest average of the national three-cushion billiard tournament tonight to defeat Gus Copulos of Detroit, 50 to 22, in thirty-two innings.

Kieckhefer had a high run of seven in the thirty-first inning, and followed it with a run of five to go out. Copulos's best run was four.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE SMOOTH STRANGER, BILL FLEMING

WHITTIER COLLEGE remains as the sole possible impediment in the pathway of the U.C.L.A. Bruins to a last grand clean-up in the ranks of the Southern California Conference basketball teams. And there is still no very definite information as to the real strength of the Poets. If they can knock off the Oxy Tigers this week-end they will sail right up to the final games of the season with the Bruins without having tasted a conference defeat. On the other hand, if the Tigers should beat the Poets it would be pretty well settled that the Bruins would have everything their own way because they beat the Bengals twice without straining themselves unduly while so doing. Whittier has provided the big hurdle for the Bruins every year for the past five or six with the single exception of the one season, where the Tigers had a good team two years ago, and it looks now as though the Poets might repeat their well-known custom of being the team for Caddy Works to beat.

Basketball seems to have caught the popular fancy in pretty good shape recently. The crowds that have turned out have been unusually large and have unquestionably would have been a great deal larger had the Trojans had a winning team. U.S.C. has a big following, built up during a rather lengthy succession of good football seasons, and if the Trojans were knocking off the northern teams in basketball they would undoubtedly draw well at the gate. The Bruins of Southern Branch have an exceptionally fine team and have been very successful but they do not yet have the following that trails the Trojans.

In connection with which we have a communication from one of our numerous correspondents who wants to know what about the other members of the Pacific Coast Conference and why don't the Trojans meet them? That one is comparatively easy. Because of the distance between the schools and the comparative lack of drawing power, they save expense by dividing the Coast Conference into two parts with the winner of the California section meeting the winner of the northwest section for the title. The only time we see the northwesterners is when some of them come down here to get a good start on the season by playing a few games locally about Christmas.

However, our correspondent doesn't stop here. "And why not, while we're about it," he asks, "top off the season with a couple of intersectional clashes? A crack midwestern team and the U.C.L.A., for instance, would just about pack the Olympic Auditorium a couple of times. Do something about it, will you? Thanks." All of which isn't such a rotten idea at all. If the U.C.L.A. would bring a worthy rival out we believe it would pay.

TIGER NET SQUAD READY FOR CALTECH

Coach Wynn Mace is pointing his Occidental varsity for a conference tennis championship this season, and with a first-round victory over Whittier by a count of 7-0, the Tigers are raring to get after the Cal Tech Engineers, whom they meet in the second round next Saturday morning on the Oxy courts.

Mace boasts of two crack stars in Norval Craig and Ben Gorchakoff, and a fairly balanced trio of players in Capt. Ewing Bone, Kenneth Lee and Yasu Maeno, the latter two freshman racketers of the last season.

BUILD NEW HATCHERY

The old fish hatchery located above the "Punkin Holler" bridge at Three Rivers has been torn down and hauled, with the feeding troughs, to the location of the new hatchery below Hammond. The new hatchery will not be completed in time for use this year, and the old one will be rebuilt temporarily.

KID WAGNER WANTS SHOT AT LEADERS

Philadelphia Boxer in Debut Here Friday at Legion Show

If Eddie (Kid) Wagner beats Matty Mario, Jack Kearns's lightweight, in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday night he is going after the best lightweights on this Coast. Manager Tom Gallery of the stadium has promised to get the best available lightweight in the country for his next shot should he beat Mario.

Jack Kearns is just as anxious as Wagner and his manager to get some good fights. Kearns would like to send Mario against Jackie Fields again. He claims his boy has had more time to get in condition now, which will make a big difference in the fighter's showing.

Training Mario for this fight is a serious matter with the Kearns outfit. Terry Hayes is personally supervising the work of the lightweight and occasionally Jack drops into the gymnasium to see how things are going. The dapper "Doctor" realizes that a win over Wagner means more to his fighter than beating any lightweight here at this time excepting Jackie Fields and Kearns will attempt to cop this decision.

In spite of the fact that he hasn't won his last two starts at the Hollywood stadium Tom Patrick will enter the ring a favorite over Billy Vincent. Billy is the smarter of the two fighters, but Tom is young and strong and should stand up better in a tough fight.

HEARNE ENTERS CULVER CLASSIC

that classic, though his handling of his roaring car in the bitter battle of speed was the big thrill of the day. He had victory almost within his grasp and was hurling his car around at a terrific gait to catch flying Bennie Hill when the high pressure oil lines clogged.

Peering through his oil smeared goggles, Eddie eased off the throttle on the back stretch and pulled to the pits with his brakes screaming. Frantic mechanicians made adjustments but precious seconds were lost before he roared away again. Fighting madly at breath-taking speed, he sought to overtake Hill, but had just reached third position when the checkered finish flag was dropped.

Winning the greatest honor in racing in 1923, the A.A.A. championship crown, Hearne has been in semi-retirement, entering only a few races last year. But the lure of the roaring road has again proven too much and Eddie, who has been serving as technical adviser to Reginald Denny in racing pictures, is again going to smell the pungent castor oil from flaming exhausts.

BREEN TO OPERATE LINCOLN BALL CLUB

TOPEKA (Kan.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Dick Breen, business manager of the St. Joseph Western League baseball team, will be the operator this year of the Lincoln (Neb.) franchise in the circuit, Dale Gear, president, announced today. The franchise has been transferred to Breen by L. F. Arnold of Los Angeles. The new operator will have a "silent partner," whose identity was not announced by Gear, except to say he is a St. Joseph man.

Breen formerly was a catcher in the league. Gear will leave tonight for Lincoln to complete details of the transfer.

A new bat... fastest ever made built at the request of champions

TENNIS rackets were too slow for the modern brand of tennis. That was the way the champions put it. The smashing, volleying, all-court game of today needed a far faster bat. A group of famous players asked Spalding if it could be built.

After making 500 experimental rackets, finishing yet in the fastest tennis racket ever made. A bet combining the skill of some of the world's leading players—every one who tried it out was enthusiastic about it—and with it, both men and women champions won many of last year's important tournaments.

Now you can buy it—the new Spalding Top-Flite. Lighter head—yet in perfect balance. Smaller head, which permits tighter stringing. Kro-Bat construction to give it the strength for many restringings. Open throat, which gives it a more delightful flexibility. There is a Top-Flite here which will suit you exactly. Come and find your Top-Flite. Price $15.

DUFFY BATTLES WILLS TONIGHT

OAKLAND, Feb. 14. (AP)—Oakland Jimmy Duffy and Young Harry Wills, welterweights, rested up from the training grind today preparatory to their ten-round battle in the Oakland Auditorium tomorrow night as the main event of one of Tommy Simpson's fight shows. The boys had their last workout at the Imperial gymnasium yesterday. Each of them took on three sparring partners and ended up with their haircombs intact.

The men were matched to meet here a few weeks ago, but Duffy's manager called it off because he did not like Toby Irwin as a referee's selection. Irwin withdrew, the State Athletic Commission plastered a $500 fine on both Duffy and his trainer, Algernon Brom, and the boys were rematched.

Tendler Says Leonard Will Try Comeback

Lew Tendler—here to box Young Harry Wills on Washington's Birthday at Vernon—confirms the report that Benny Leonard will return to the ring. He talked with Benny a few weeks ago in Philadelphia, when the retired lightweight champion appeared there in burlesque show.

"Leonard has kept in good condition and he can still fight," says Tendler. "His act in the show was athletic and he is a fellow who always prided himself keeping on

"Benny told me he wanted to fight again. He has plenty of money, but Leonard has about come to the conclusion he will never be able to fatten his bankroll as an actor. Acting before the footlights and fighting under the spotlight are two different things.

"The champion was disappointed because he never got the shot with Mickey Walker. That fight would have drawn a half-million dollars one time.

"I think Leonard has a good chance to whip Pete Latzo or anybody else in the welterweight division. He is the smartest fighter I ever met. That's the way he beat me. I had him knocked out in our first fight. The ropes kept him from going down. He grabbed me in a clinch and what do you suppose he said to me?

"'Say, Lew, if you get fresh with me I'll knock you out. I've been carrying you all along in this fight.'

That made me mad. I started talking back to him. I began fighting back with my mouth when I ought to have been finishing him out with my fists. His head cleared. The bell rang. He simply talked me out of the lightweight championship."

Leonard is two years older than Tendler. He has announced he will box Latzo early this summer for Promoter Humbert Fugazy if he can prove to the critics he can get back in shape.

MILLIONAIRES COP PUCK TILT

game for a few minutes for his bumping and hitting. He came back and evened it up by scoring another goal for his team. This all happened in the last session.

The local puck-chasers got off to a flying start in the opening session when they scored two goals on the visiting hockey Millionaires before the Detroit boys knew what it was all about. Josephs scored the first tally for the Maroons and Capt. Wilson shot the second into the net. The Millionaires, who evidently had been counting the house up to this time, got busy and Wilfred Peltier shot the puck into the Maroon net with a pretty shot from the center of the rink. Frank Sheppard tied the score just before the period ended when he bounced the puck off Goalkeeper Mayo's anatomy for a goal. When the period ended the boys were 2-all.

The Detroit outfit came out skating like demons at the opening of the second period. They grabbed two goals before the Maroons had a chance to catch up with them. Breen shot the first one in this period in the first few minutes of play. Frank Sheppard whacked another one into the Maroon net a few seconds after Breen's tally. The Maroons tightened up at this point and both teams battled all over the place for the next fifteen minutes without either side scoring. During a furious rally started by the Millionaires Sheppard bounced off the guard railing after hitting it with his bean. The Detroit player was knocked colder than a banker's heart for over five minutes. He resumed playing, however, after a short wait while the teams took time out.

OH MIN! JOINS LOCAL GOLFERS

Sidney Smith After Local Greens Laurels

Shaw Trims Ward to Lead San Diego Play

McLaughlin Cops Overtime Match at Beverly

BY BILL WISE

Sidney Smith, favorite nephew of "Uncle Bim," millionaire philanthropist from "Kangarooland," arrived in Los Angeles Sunday and was only prevented from warming up over a local golf course by the rain that blotted out tee - and green - activities over the circuit, yesterday.

The originator of the justly famous "Andy and Min" cartoon that has become a necessary adjunct to breakfast tables the world over, is an ardent golfer. Always in the best of physical condition, Sid could, by devoting just a wee bit more time, be one of the best amateur golfers in the world.

While in California, the noted cartoonist expects to spend considerable time with local golfers and has already issued a sweeping challenge that includes George Von Elm, national amateur champ; Doug Fairbanks, Harold Lloyd and numerous other celebrities. Sid enjoys a wide local acquaintance and will be found to be a very enjoyable golf partner—and might even be induced to participate in the next two-ball mixed foursome affair.

Bloomington, Ill., formerly noted for corn and oats, was enjoying a mediocre existence until Sid adopted the midwestern community as his own, but since then, the fame of the flourishing village has spread to the four corners of the earth. Smith gets many of his best inspirations while playing golf or driving one of his several powerful motor cars, two hobbys that have identified him throughout the country.

BEEKMAN COPS LAKESIDE TITLE

R. H. Beekman, past shaping up as one of the best amateurs in his vicinity, defeated Max Behr, 3 up, in the thirty-six-hole final match of the Lakeside club championship tourney, last week. Beekman won a great semifinals match from George Cornes and continued in his championship stride to pile up a two-hole lead over Behr at the end of the first eighteen holes. Lakeside's noted golf architect threatened throughout the remainder of the match but was unable to head his younger opponent.

INTERCLUB AFFAIR AT MIDWICK WEDNESDAY

The annual Red-vs.-White golf play for Midwick members will be staged tomorrow afternoon. Motion pictures of the last $10,000 Los Angeles open tournament will be shown, following a beef-steak dinner for contestants, in the evening.

SHAW COPS PLAY AT SAN DIEGO

George Shaw, of the California club, defeated Chuck Ward of Brentwood, 5 and 3, in the title flight of the annual invitational tournament of the San Diego Country Club that concluded over the Chula Vista links Sunday.

Shaw invaded San Diego with the enormous gas bag, sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, that has become the official marker of California golf events. The balloon, floating over the Chula Vista course for several days, finally broke loose and started toward Mexico. George is depressed—Goodyear officials are peeved—and anyone finding the wandering balloon will be suitably rewarded by the local rubber concern.

More than two-score local golfers participated in the down-State event, and complete results were as follows:

FIRST FLIGHT

George Shaw defeated Chuck Ward, 5 and 3.

DEFEATED EIGHT, FIRST FLIGHT

Warner Edmonds defeated C. B. Kelly, 2 and 1.

SECOND FLIGHT

R. B. Bagnall defeated Cliff Castle, 1 up.

TALBOT DROPPED IN BEVERLY TOURNEY

W. A. Gillette defeated J. A. Talbot, Jr., 4 and 3, in the first third-round match of the annual midwinter handicap tourney for Los Angeles members, last week.

Complete results were as follows:

FIRST FLIGHT

W. A. Gillette defeated J. A. Talbot, Jr., 4 and 3.

H. G. Bennett defeated R. V. Shaw, 1 up.

J. A. Hawkins defeated Dr. J. L. Blackford, 4 and 3.

W. G. Young defeated Dr. H. W. Goodwin, 1 up.

C. R. Jamison defeated C. A. Saint, 1 up, 19 holes.

W. F. Johns defeated L. E. Speer, 1 up.

Fred Ashton defeated Preston F. Wright, 4 and 3.

Dr. A. J. Schiff defeated H. M. Bateman, 1 up.

YALE STAR IN WONDER FEAT

as and Matthews,) captured a second-mile college event against Yale and Harvard, which finished in that order. The time was 3:26.8.

Karl Wildermuth, Georgetown University freshman, sprang a sensation at the games tonight by sprinting to victory in a special sixty-yard dash, outstepping Al Miller of Harvard, Bob McAllister, former "flying cop," Jackson Scholz, Olympic titleholder and Frank Hussey of Boston College.

Monty Wells, sensational Dartmouth College timber topper, equaled the world's indoor record of 7.6s in his first heat of the sixty-yard high hurdles.

WIDE LEAD

Wells, who only recently shattered the forty-five-yard hurdles record at Boston, bounded over the barriers to win the heat by fully five yards from W. R. Howell of Princeton and two other rivals, the Tiger athlete placing second. The New England star then romped through the semifinals in 7.8s, and wound up by tying the record for a second time in the finals.

Wells's time of 7.6s. equalled a mark made three years ago by Carl Christiernson of the Newark Athletic Club. Second place went to E. M. Campbell of Yale, while H. Frank of Pennsylvania was third.

Off the mark like a streak, the former schoolboy star showed his heels to the class of the East, finishing in 6.6s. Miller was second, half a yard behind, while McAllister carried off third honors.

By a sensational finish in the last fifty yards, Johnny Gibson of Fordham for the third time this season defeated Alan Helffrich of the New York Athletic Club to win the Buermeyer 300-yard run in 30.4s.

Helffrich set a burning pace from the start, but in the final drive for the tape, Gibson proved to have the most in reserve, catching and passing the former half-mile champion to win by a scant two yards. Ray Robertson of the Boston Athletic Association, victor last year, was nosed out for third place by Vincent Lally of New York.

LERMOND VICTOR

Adding another triumph to his long string of distance race victories, Leo Lermond of the Boston Athletic Association, showed the way to a field of twenty rivals in a two-mile handicap event.

Starting on the back mark with Ove Anderson of Finland, the fleet Hub runner quickly cut down his generously handicapped opponents to win in 9:25. Anderson barely managed to snatch third place, finishing three yards behind L. J. Heath of Union College, a 125-yard handicap starter.

OLD-TIME CAGERS TO PLAY REDLANDS FIVE

REDLANDS, Feb. 14.—Old-time basketball stars of the University of Redlands will take on the varsity team Wednesday night and according to their announcement will teach the boys a few things it will be well for them to know. The game will be played at the training quarters here, which means that few of the fans will get to see it. There is no room for spectators.

Among the old stars who will play will be Fred Dye, conceded to be the greatest shot ever developed here; Louis Mielette, another star; Walter Tolleson, Don Thompson, who has been playing with Brick Muller pro football team; Dick Lackey, Leslie Hosegood and several others.

FISHER IS CAPTAIN

POMONA COLLEGE (Claremont) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Miles Fisher, bespectacled athlete from East Orange, N. J., was today elected captain of next year's Pomona cross-country squad. It will be Fisher's fourth year on the team. Cross-county insignia were awarded to Capt. Frank Rentchler, Fisher, Lowel Sumner, Wilmar Edgar and George White. Besides Fisher, White and Sumner will be back for the team next year.

JIMMY DELANEY WINS GO

CINCINNATI (O.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul middleweight, whipped Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, in a ten-round boxing match here tonight.

CARDS AND BEARS SCHEDULE DUAL AQUATIC TOURNAMENT

BERKELEY, Feb. 14.—Stanford University, prominently classified with the country's leading educational institutions sponsoring swimming and water polo teams, will come to the tank of the enemy Friday evening to completely smother the University of California's freshmen and varsity polo sevens. The annual battles are to occur in the Athens Athletic Club tank in Oakland.

Southern California, particularly Venice and Pasadena, are ably represented on the Cardinal polo squads. On the Red varsity team are Wallace O'Connor, Olympics champion, and Lawson Thurslow, both of Venice, and Bob Williams of Pasadena. On the freshman team are Reginald Harrison and Norton Thornton, also of Venice.

HUNTER TO HEAD PRO GOLF BODY

Brentwood Mentor Named to Succeed Malley and Pledges Aid to Local P.G.A.

Wee Willie Hunter, Brentwood mentor, was last night named to succeed Jack Malley, as president of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association.

The election of the former British amateur champion, was made unanimous by the members who attended the important session last night.

Hunter, present California open titlist and one of the best professional golfers on the west coast, has long been one of the most progressive members of the local association and the rights of the big-gun members will be given first consideration by the new chief, in the future.

J. B. Patterson, veteran Griffith Park mentor, was elected secretary and treasurer by the twoscore members attending the annual business meeting. "Pat's" election promises a very successful future for the Big Guns Association. Chick Fraser of Midwick, was elected first vice-president, and Jack Tarrant of El Caballero, and Carl Forsman of Mountain Meadow, were appointed to the board of directors.

The addition of Harry Cooper, Ed Dudley and other high-class professional golfers has helped the local association, and Eddie Loos, Bobby Cruickshank and Bill Mehlhorn may become bona fide members of the S. C.P.G.A., in the near future, and there appears to be no reason why the governing body should not rank with the best sectional group in the country. The function of the local pro association is to promote golf—amateur and professional. The field is unlimited and the election of Hunter last night, promises to do much for west coast golf.

WASHINGTON CAGERS BEAT MONTANA FIVE

MISSOULA (Mont.) Feb. 14. (AP)—A smooth passing University of Washington basketball team tossed baskets with ease tonight to win from the University of Montana, 35 to 27, after piling up a big lead of 24 to 8 in the first half.

AMADOR WINS TITLE

PANAMA, Feb. 14. (AP)—Pedro Amador won the decision over Joe Lombardo in a twelve-round bout last night, thus gaining the Panaman junior lightweight championship.

PETTICORD IN ASCOT RACE

Former Dirt Track Star Returning at the Wheel of Chrysler Special Next Sunday

With the announcement yesterday that Jack Petticord, former star of the dirt tracks, and recently a star of the board speedways, would return to dirt track racing at Ascot next Sunday afternoon, interest in the four-race program scheduled by Promoters Macdougall and Lutz, took a decided jump and there are indications that the biggest crowd of the season will see the pilots go out after records, championship points and heavy money prizes.

Petticord will make his reappearance on the dirt tracks at the wheel of the Chrysler Special No. 25, a Riverside built job, which has started several times at Ascot recently but which has failed to get in the money. With the daring Petticord at the wheel and with a few minor mechanical adjustments and improvements, it is expected that the Chrysler will rapidly become a real threat to the honors that have been annexed by Ed Winfield, Francis Quinn, Don Ostrander and others in recent Ascot events.

For several years Petticord figured as a big star at Ascot where he drove sensational races against Ralph De Palma, Frank Lockhart, Sig Haugdahl and other dirt-track stars. He also figured in a series of spectacular spills, in one of which it was thought that he was fatally injured. He recovered, however, in time to make some sensational races on the board speedway and his return to the dirt-track game will be warmly welcomed by Ascot speed fans.

Another entry that will be welcomed back will be the Redlands Special No. 6, in which Harry Jacques narrowly escaped death a month ago. Eddie Meyers, owner of the car, has rebuilt it and has already shipped it to Ascot to be ready for the Sunday program.

STOCKTON HIGH NABS BASKETBALL TITLE

STOCKTON, Feb. 14.—The Stockton High School has cinched the basketball championship of the Central California subleague of the C.I.F. for the ninth consecutive year and it now awaits the winner of the Oakdale-Ceres-Newman play-off before proceeding in the tournament for the State prep title.

The Tarmans made the subleague title sure Friday night by defeating the Woodland team by 18-13.

SAGEHENS MEET BULLDOGS

POMONA COLLEGE (Claremont) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Pomona's varsity tennis team opposes the University of Redlands on the local courts next Saturday. It will be a second-round match for the Sagehens and Redlands' maiden effort in conference net ranks. Pomona lost to University of California at Los Angeles last week, but should win over the Bulldogs without a great amount of trouble, inasmuch as the latter squad lost the nucleus of its team by graduation.

PAUL BERLENBACH DUE HERE TODAY

Paul Berlenbach, whose latest fistic adventure resulted in a four-round knockout at the hands of Mike McTigue, will return to Los Angeles today. The former light-heavyweight champion of the world is due at 5:30 p.m. over the Sunset Limited. Berlenbach is said to be sold on Hollywood and reports have it that he plans to make his home here in the future.

WHEELER HURLS BANKING TIRADE

Senator in Hopeless Fight on McFadden Bill

Coolidge and Others Come in for His Charges

Democrats Get Lacing Too; Cloture Due Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Launching a hopeless fight in the Senate against the conference report on the McFadden branch-banking bill, Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, today assailed President Coolidge, the Federal Reserve Board, the Justice Department, the American Bankers' Association and present and past Comptrollers of the Currency.

In his filibuster against the report, already approved by the House, the Montanan, has the support of insurgents on both sides of the chamber, but party leaders are prepared to shut down on debate tomorrow and force a vote by invoking for the first time this session the cloture rule limiting Senators to one hour each in the discussion of the measure.

Assailing President Coolidge, Wheeler said the Executive will "be strong enough to veto the farm bill, but he will not be strong enough to stand up before the Bankers' Association."

DEMOCRATS RAPPED

"Some of the Democrats stand here fighting for a bill that would cause Andrew Jackson to turn over in his grave," he added. "What we need in this Senate are more Andrew Jacksons and more Thomas Jeffersons."

During his attack on the Bankers' Association, Wheeler read two letters to support his assertion that extreme pressure was being brought to bear on Congress. One, dated October 16, 1926, was addressed to Representative Hull, Republican of Illinois, author of the discarded branch-banking amendments to the McFadden bill, and its opening paragraph said:

"We frequently have requests from banks in different parts of the country for the name of a reliable attorney. Your name has been given to us and we would be glad to recommend to you any business called to our attention."

CHANGE CHARGED

This letter was on the letterhead of Thomas B. Paton, general counsel for the Bankers' Association, and was signed by Thomas B. Paton, Jr. Declaring that Representative Hull was not then engaged in the practice of law, Wheeler demanded:

"Were they, when he was making a fight for his amendments, attempting to reach him?"

Asserting that Henry Dawes, former Comptroller of the Currency, and Joseph W. McIntosh, present Comptroller, had changed their position on the Hull amendments, Senator Wheeler inquired:

"Who reached them? Was it the same clique of international bankers who got the American Bankers' Association to change its position?"

Attacking the rider on the bill proposing perpetual charters for the Federal Reserve banks, Wheeler assailed the Federal Reserve Board and read from the minutes of a secret meeting in 1920 to support his contention that it was responsible for the "deflation of the farmers" which, he asserted, had forced many of them into bankruptcy and brought about the failure of many banks in the Northwestern States.

CHALLENGE VOICED

Diverting from the main thema of his address, the Montanan again assailed "the Ohio gang" and challenged the Justice Department to prosecute for perjury George B. Hayes, New York attorney, who was the government's surprise witness against Wheeler at the Senator's trial recently in Montana.

"I challenge and dare the Attorney-General to prosecute Hayes for perjury," he shouted. "But he won't. Hayes knows too much. He has been used too often."

Before he finished his three hours' speech, Senator Wheeler took his colleagues to task, declaring that they were preparing to "rush through" a bill the contents of which was unknown to fully 80 per cent of them.

GOVERNOR TO VISIT STATE OFFICES HERE

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Gov. Young will leave here tomorrow for his first official visit to the State offices in Los Angeles. He will endeavor to facilitate his business in the south so he can return to Sacramento in ample time for the opening of the second portion of the session of the Legislature the 23rd inst.

DEATH LEAP MARKS BLAZE

Review of Day in Congress

The Senate delayed action on the McFadden branch banking bill.

General debate in the House on the McNary-Haugen farm bill was concluded.

The House Ways and Means Committee reported a bill to license medicinal liquor manufacturers.

Witnesses who refused to testify fully in the Illinois-Pennsylvania primary investigations were recalled by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee.

HOUSE GETS NEW LIQUOR MAKING BILL

Hawley Measure Permits for Medicinal Whisky to be Good for Ten Years

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—A bill to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to issue permits to private companies for the manufacture of medicinal liquor was reported unanimously today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Representative Hawley of Oregon, chairman of the subcommittee that drafted the measure, said that it was the plan to give permits to existing plants.

One class of permits would provide for manufacture of Bourbon whisky and the other rye. Permits may be good for ten years and would be renewable, but could be revoked for violations of the law.

The Treasury would prescribe the formulas to be used by the permittees, who would be allowed a "reasonable profit."

The measure was approved as a substitute for the administration medicinal whisky plan submitted by Assistant Secretary Andrews.

Under the Hawley bill existing stocks of whisky would be concentrated in not more than six warehouses. Importation of whisky would be permitted if existing stocks should prove insufficient to meet the demand.

"The committee believes an emergency exists in the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment," said Hawley, "and after many weeks of diligent consideration reports this measure to meet the emergency."

EDWARDS IN LONE STAND ON DRY BILL

New Jersey Senator Ends Reorganization Measure Hopes by Opposition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Passage of the House prohibition reorganization bill was blocked in the Senate tonight by Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, although other wet Senators relented in their opposition and agreed to let it pass.

The Senate saw the unusual spectacle of Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, a pronounced wet, pleading with the New Jersey Senator to let the bill pass after his modifying amendments had been adopted. Edwards, however, stood firm, shouting that the bill would only create two new bureaus for the purpose of "making more jobs for the faithful."

The bill, which would create bureaus of prohibition and of customs separate from the Internal Revenue Bureau, has been demanded insistently by Assistant Secretary Andrews, chief of the prohibition forces, who has indicated to friends that he may retire if this and other pending prohibition measures he has proposed were not passed at this session.

Bootleg Chiefs Smuggle Italian Foes of Fascism

NAPLES (Italy) Feb. 14. (AP)—American bootleggers, with training gained on New York's rum row, are believed by police to have participated in organization of an elaborate system for smuggling anti-Fascists from Italy to France.

The system was uncovered today by Fascist militia men who had shadowed the leaders for several months. The militia men, after holding up the sailing of the French liner Theophile for five hours, captured nineteen anti-Fascists, stowed away in a tiny cubbyhole in the bottom of the hold.

They also arrested Maria Evangelisti, a young woman described as the leader of the gang; Cesare Savarese, her assistant and five men, said to be returned bootleggers.

SKULLS QUIZ PRESSED

Defiant Suspect to be Confronted With Grewsome Find Today

MICHIGAN CITY (Ind.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Sullen and defiant, James Coyner, giant Negro serving a prison sentence here for grave robbing, today withstood hours of questioning regarding four women's skulls found in his trunk at Ferndale, Mich., Detroit suburb, last week, without giving any information to clear up the mystery.

Tomorrow he will be confronted with the trunk and its contents. In this manner Michigan authorities expect to break down his churlish silence.

Coyner told his questioners that he could tell "about a lot of murders and murderers," and then declared he would rather die than tell what he knew.

The convict said he had been married two or three times and had two or three children, but said he did not know where any of his children or wives are today.

Whistling for half an hour after meals is the best possible aid to digestion, says a well-known whistler.

MUM QUARTET FACING RECALL

Senate to Question Four Who Refused Primary Data

Second Refusal May Bring Contempt Charges

Pittsburgh Ballots on Way to Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Samuel Insull of Chicago and three others who refused to answer certain questions before the Senate Campaign Funds Committee in the Illinois-Pennsylvania primary investigations last summer, again will be summoned to appear before that committee next Monday.

The same questions which the men declined to answer will again be propounded and if they refuse to answer they very probably will be cited to the Senate for contempt.

Insull, Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney of Cook county, and Daniel J. Schuyler, counsel for Insull, declined to testify as to contributions to and expenditures by the Crowe-Barrett, or regular Republican organization of Cook county, in the Senatorial primary at which Frank L. Smith defeated the late Senator William B. McKinley.

In a report to the Senate last Saturday the Campaign Funds Committee said Smith probably could not have been nominated without support of the organization and that its expenditures therefore became a proper subject for Senate inquiry.

Thomas W. Cunningham, clerk of the Court of General Sessions at Philadelphia, was the other recalcitrant witness. He gave $50,000 to the primary campaign fund of William S. Vare, Senator-elect from Pennsylvania, but declined to disclose its source and to answer any questions concerning his personal financial affairs.

CARS LOADED WITH COUNTY BALLOT BOXES

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14. (AP)—Three railroad express cars were loaded to capacity today with 1375 Allegheny county ballot boxes for shipment to Washington, where they will be used by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee in its investigation of the November Senatorial election in Pennsylvania.

OLD ACADEMY OF LIARS TO BE REVIVED BY MEN OF GASCONY

PARIS, Feb. 14. (AP)—Gascons, famous for their tall tales, propose to reorganize the old Academy of Liars.

This is the truth. The ancient institution of prevaricators, with headquarters at Moncrabeau, in the south of France, was active until 1850. It held contests and awarded titles of capacity as liars.

There is a "Truth-Stone" in this town of 2000 population on which is inscribed the authority given Academy members "to lie in all places but without harming anyone but Truth."

The Society of Gascon Watchers has an annual story-telling contest in the late spring, and it is at this festival of the imagination that they intend to revive the Academy with its highest standards of vivid speech.

Baron Munchausen's world-wide reputation sprang from the British publication of his adventures, but he might have been only a second fiddle in the orchestra if he had tried to lie in France.

"Politicians and other ordinary liars" are ineligible among the Gascon story tellers for their bright brains soar on fantastic, imaginary, harmless, super-exaggerations of entertaining yarns. They, like Daudet's noted "Tartarin of Tarascon," frequently come to believe the fairy tales they tell, so earnest are they and so full of enthusiasm.

CALIFORNIAN GETS ALASKA JUDGESHIP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—A batch of nominations including those of judicial officers in Alaska, was taken up out of order and confirmed late today by the Senate. They included E. Coke Hill of California, to be Federal district judge for the Third District of Alaska. Justin W. Harding of Ohio to be District Attorney for the First Alaska District, Bascom S. Deaver to be District Attorney for the Middle District of Georgia and Richard E. Callen to be Federal marshal for Colorado.

RAIL MERGER OF NORTH DETAILED

New Operating Company to Lease Three Lines

Committee Announces Plan for Stock Exchange

Commerce Commission Must Pass on Unification

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Detailed plans for the gigantic Northwestern railway merger were made known tonight by the unification committee, composed of George F. Baker, chairman; Arthur Curtiss James, deputy chairman; J. P. Morgan, Louis W. Hill and Howard Elliott.

The consolidation, which embraces the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroads, is to be brought about through the direct operation of the lines of the three companies through lease of the properties to a new operating railway company, which will exchange its stock for stock of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern. The Spokane, Portland and Seattle is jointly controlled by the two northern roads.

Application will be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval of the leases and of acquisition by the new company of the stocks of the northern companies as soon as the committee believes deposits of stocks in accordance with the plan have progressed sufficiently.

The plan is unusually simple and free from complicating features, inasmuch as each of the northern companies has only one class of stock outstanding, and its shares are to be exchanged on a par for par basis. The plan contains the following introductory statement:

"The northern companies, operating approximately 18,000 miles of railroad, have for a great many years had a community of interest in the railroad system of more than 11,400 miles operated by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company and its subsidiaries and in the railroad system of more than 900 miles operated by the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway Company and its subsidiaries. For more than twenty-six years the northern companies have owned in equal shares a large majority, now over 97 per cent, of the $170,039,100 par value of capital stock of the Burlington company and for more than twenty years have owned in equal shares the entire capital stock of $40,000,000 par value of the Spokane company. The northern companies also own or control in equal shares the entire outstanding issue of the first mortgage 4 per cent gold bonds of the Spokane company of a principal amount of $73,710,000.

"Inasmuch as the two northern companies have long contributed to complete community of interest in more than 12,800 miles of railroad, it seems appropriate to their boards of directors, subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to place in common control the operation of the northern companies themselves.

"Such unification will, it is believed, lead to substantial economies and to important increases in the efficiency with which such service can be rendered."

RECEIVERS OF ST. PAUL TO OPPOSE MERGER

SEATTLE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Receivers for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway have decided to oppose merger of stock ownership of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington railroad systems, H. E. Byram of Chicago, former St. Paul president, declared here today.

Byram said the receivers, himself, Mark W. Potter and E. J. Brundage feel the proposed merger would imperil the future of the St. Paul system and interfere with transportation development in the Northwest.

CONSOLIDATION TO GO ON DESPITE OPPOSITION

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Believing their plans for a merger to be in the interest of the public, the Great Northern and Northern Pacific will proceed with their project of consolidation in spite of opposition of receivers of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, President Ralph Budd of the Great Northern said today.

DEPARTMENT CHIEFS TO NAME OWN AIDES

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Gov. Young instituted a new administrative policy today during a meeting with the newly appointed State Board of Harbor Commissioners by authorizing them to fill the vacancies in the department personnel. It has been the policy of Governors to personally name persons for the most important positions on the various commissions. Gov. Young indicated that he would follow the plan of allowing his departmental heads to select their own aides on various other State commissions.

Moody Firm in Refusal on Hassell Plea

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Gov. Moody tonight refused to cummute to life imprisonment the death sentence of George J. Hassell, confessed slayer of thirteen persons. The Governor said he believed that "prison authorities or officers of the law" would make any investigations necessary before they "would execute an insane man."

Hassell is scheduled to be electrocuted at the Huntsville State penitentiary the 25th inst.

If the time between now and the date of execution is insufficient to establish Hassell's mental condition, the Governor will grant more time, he said. The petition for commutation asserted that Hassell is insane.

SETTLEMENT TRACT OPEN

Importers Declare New Tax to be Prohibitive

Valuation Increases Assailed Also as Ruinous

American Shippers Will Lose Most by Scheme

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Official publication today of a list of several hundred importation articles which come within the meaning of recent decrees raising both the valuation and the import tax on many materials used in Mexico has brought a wave of protest from importers. In view of the fact that the United States furnishes 65 per cent of Mexico's foreign purchases, American dealers are affected more seriously than Europeans.

The measure is intended to increase revenue, but both foreign and native importers declare it will have the opposite effect by making certain goods prohibitive. The decrees, which become effective March 7, have increased the appraised value of imported goods in some cases to double and in others to ten time the former valuation. The importations most seriously affected are iron and steel products, furniture, textiles and leather goods, foodstuffs, canned goods, lard, eggs, soap, silks, cottons, linens, hair goods and cosmetics.

One importer today canceled an order for $80,000 worth of goods from his American wholesaler because the tax on the goods had been raised 1500 per cent. Importers estimate that the increases will cut imports at least 10 per cent.

Attention also is being called to the fact that the government will suffer by the decline in oil-production taxes, which will be especially noticeable, oil men declare, when the February production payment is made next month. The decrease will be about 30 per cent as compared to the January payment.

The government has not yet met its January payments on foreign debts, although the Treasury Department's figures show this year's budget includes a sum to be set aside for the purpose.

Missing Oregon Bank Pair Held in Arizona Town

EUGENE (Or.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Information that Henry Bergman, missing president of the State Bank at Florence, Or., and Harriet Weatherson, cashier, who also is missing, have been apprehended in Safford, Ariz., was received here today from Sheriff Frank E. Taylor.

A telegraphic warrant was sent immediately to Sheriff H. M. Tate at Safford. Sheriff Taylor will leave for Salem this afternoon to arrange for bringing back the pair from Arizona.

According to information received here, Bergman and Miss Weatherson left Eugene January 31, last, in a car borrowed from a lumberman friend of Bergman.

Embassy Staff at Washington Become Skillful in Scotch Pastime

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP) Golf is the favorite sport of Japanese in Washington. Ambassador Matsudaira has become so fond of the game and has found it so beneficial that, when he took a vacation last summer, he went to Englewood, N. J., and played thirty-six holes a day for two months. The embassy's champion golfer is Yukata Ishizawa, an attache, who brought his card consistently under 100 during the last playing season. He is resigning his laurels, however, to return to Tokio for promotion in the diplomatic service.

Harvard Paper Blames Police for Night Riot

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Blame for Saturday's riot in Harvard Square which sent nine men to hospitals and resulted in arrest of thirty-nine students and two others was placed on the city police today by the Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily newspaper.

It charged the police with brutality and asserted that no riot existed until the city forces precipitated one.

It revealed that a "committee for protection against illegal abuse by the police" has opened headquarters.

Those arrested are to appear in court next Friday to answer to charges of disturbing the peace or assault. The disturbance followed a midnight vaudeville show at which the audience egged actors and then poured out into the street, where a policeman, who was handled roughly, sent in a riot call that brought more than thirty fellow-officers.

The Crimson charged that students were taken into custody after the crowds had dispersed. It said two policemen held a student in a station while a third knocked him unconscious, and that another student was struck because he was slow in complying with a command to take his pipe out of his mouth.

RAIL MEASURE PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—A resolution declaring a policy of Congress that short-line railroads be fully protected in future railroad consolidations is to be introduced soon by Senator Mayfield, Democrat, Texas. Notice of his intention was given by the Senator today to the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

COLONISTS TO INVADE MEXICO

Extensive Areas Will be Filled This Year

Many Applications Follow New Law Enactment

Settlers Must Agree to Irrigate Land

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Extensive areas in various parts of the republic will be colonized during the current year, according to an announcement of the Secretariat of Agriculture and Public Development.

With the new law of colonization in force, numerous groups of both Mexican citizens and foreigners have presented solicitations for lands for colonization to the Secretariat.

The work will be carried out along the most modern lines of agricultural knowledge, according to engineers attached to the Secretariat of Agriculture and Public Development, and it is confidently expected that within a few years lands that are now entirely uncultivated will be undergoing a process of intense development by the new colonists.

MUST IRRIGATE LAND

Under the provisions of grants to would-be colonists, these must agree to establish certain works of irrigation where such are necessary. This work will, of course, receive considerable aid from the Secretary of Agriculture and Public Development, particularly in the matter of expert engineers to draw up the plans for the works and carry out their execution.

Officials of the Secretariat point out that there should be no difficulties whatsoever in the administration of to law of colonization, in view of the fact that the manner in which lands are to be obtained, the rules governing the colonies to be established, the duties expected of the colonists and other requisites have been minutely detailed in the provisions of the law.

Those requests for colonization that have already been received by the Secretariat of Agriculture and Public Development are now receiving detailed attention, to determine whether the applications are worthy of receiving land, whether all the regulations of the colonization law have been complied with, etc.

HOLD RICH WOODS

According to recent advices arriving in the national capital from the city of Ocampo, in the State of Chihuahua, a committee of citizens from outlying regions is momentarily expected to arrive there to make requests for uncultivated lands in various parts of the State and for other lands that, while not capable of agricultural development, are possessed of rich woods.

The appeal of this committee will be laid before the National Agrarian Commission of the State of Chihuahua, and it is indicated that since the committee is reported to seek only uncultivated lands, the request will be granted, on the condition that developments of the lands be begun immediately.

STATE LURE FOR AUTOIST GAINS FORCE

About 220,000 Persons in 55,180 Cars Visited Here Last Year, Official States

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) California, with her wonderful climate and many outdoor attractions, continues to draw heavily on automobile tourist travel. During 1926, according to figures made public today by Frank G. Snook, chief of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, more than 220,000 motorists from other States and foreign countries, visited the State.

Snook's estimate is based on the check of foreign-car permits issued by the department last year, the total being 55,180; he figures an average of four persons to a car. He believes the 220,000 tourists spent in excess of $2,000,000 during their sojourn in California.

Among the foreign-car registrants every State was represented, as well as nearly every foreign country. There were cars from Australia, Belgium, Guam, New Zealand, Porto Rico and other places.

Washington led the States with 9619 registrations. Oregon was second with 9300 and Arizona third with 3160. Of the far Eastern States Maine sent seventy-seven cars and Vermont forty.

Bolivian Capital Pays Tribute to American Flyers

LA PAZ (Bolivia) Feb. 14. (AP)—American flags were displayed today in the Bolivian capital in honor of the aviators of the United States Army goodwill expedition, who arrived here by train yesterday. The flyers, visiting Central and South American countries, left their planes at Ilo, Peru, and journeyed here especially to extend greetings to President Siles.

Cheering throngs gathered before the Club La Paz, where the Americans are staying. The Municipal Board issued a proclamation describing the aviators as "illustrious guests," and the newspapers printed special editions in their honor.

The aviators were guests with President Siles at a banquet last night, given by American Minister Cotteral.

Valentine's Day Passe in London for Saint Ain't

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Britain's postmen rejoiced on this St. Valentine's Day for the saint was banished by the Anglican bishops from the new prayer-book calendar.

The bishops' action came just as strenuous efforts were under way to bring the valentine custom back to the favor it enjoyed in the time of Charles II. The fashionable men of that sovereign's court gave jewels to the ladies of their choice on St. Valentine's Day.

How "Off-Color" Teeth

Now are restored to dazzling whiteness

A NEW method urged widely by leading authorities. To remove dingy FILM from teeth, ordinary ways fail in combating. Make this unique dental test.

DENTAL science now proves that dull, off-color teeth are a folly; that gleaming whiteness can be obtained with but little effort. New methods of tooth and gum beauty and protection have been found.

With correct daily care, you can work a transformation on your teeth, can literally change your whole appearance.

Now a 10-day test is offered to start you the right way. Simply use the coupon.

It's only a dingy film

The reason your teeth look off color is that they are coated with a film and the method you now use fails to remove that film successfully. That is why, regardless of the care you take, your teeth remain dull and unattractive.

You can't see that film with your eyes. But run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it—a viscous, slippery coating that absorbs discolorations, and clouds your teeth.

Remove it and you'll be amazed at what you find. You probably have beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film, too, is charged with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and gum troubles.

You must constantly combat it. You can't have pretty teeth, unless you do. It is a constant danger in your mouth.

New methods remove it And Firm the Gums

Now new methods have been found. And embodied in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, different in formula, action and effect from any other known method.

Its action is to curdle film and harmlessly to remove it, then to firm the gums — no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

Most of the sparkling, white teeth you see are due to it. Largely on dental advice, it has changed the teeth cleansing habits of the world.

Results are quick

Make the test. Then note results. Mark the glistening whiteness it brings; the beautiful polish and luster of your teeth. Clip the coupon before you forget.

HOPES OF FORD COLLECTION DIM

Government Will be Satisfied With Half of Levy

Revenue Counsel Disavows 1913 Stock Valuation

Flivver King Put Down as Liability to Company

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Disclosure that the government has virtually abandoned hope of collecting the full $31,000,000 extra tax assessment levied against the former minority stockholders in the Ford Motor Company and will be satisfied with the collection of half that sum, was made before the Board of Tax Appeals today by Alexander W. Gregg, 27-year-old counsel for the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Opening the government's case before the tax board, Mr. Gregg disavowed the Roper 1913 valuation of $9439 a share on which the taxpayers paid their original taxes and set the 1913 valuation of the Ford Company at between $2500 and $6500 a share. Previously in this tax suit, the government had contended that the 1913 valuation of the Ford company was $2500 or less per share, the figure used by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in 1925, when he ordered the extra assessment levied. On a basis of $6500 a share the taxpayers would escape $15,000,000 of the extra assessment.

CALLS FORD LIABILITY

Mr. Gregg attacked the 1913 valuation made by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Daniel E. Roper as illegal and asserted that the Ford stockholders were beneficiaries of a "decision of convenience."

He asserted the government's right to reopen the Roper valuation, which is the decisive factor in this case and stated that he would later prove that Mr. Ford, Senator James E. Couzens, Republican of Michigan, one of the appellants and other stockholders valued the stock for purposes of local taxation at much lower figures than $6500 a share.

After weeks of evidence in behalf of the appellants during which Henry Ford has been pictured as a magician of finance and the master automobile genius of the age, Mr. Gregg produced a surprise today with the virtual listing of Henry Ford as a liability to his company. He asserted that the value of the minority stock in the company was controlled and dominated by Mr. Ford and that this fact decreased the value of the stock.

"We shall prove," said Mr. Gregg, "that the bylaws of the Ford company and the stock certificates contained such 'restrictions' upon the sale of the stock as to make it impossible to use the stock as collateral for loans or to list it upon the stock exchange. We shall prove these restrictions, which made it necessary for a prospective seller of stock to first gain the approval of other stockholders, placed the control of the minority stock in the hands of Henry Ford and decreased its value practically to the price he agreed to pay for it."

MANY TRIED TO SELL

Mr. Gregg followed this with the assertion that he would prove that from 1916 to 1919 the minority stockholders had made every effort to sell their stock without success.

Cayer W. Dominick of Dominick & Dominick, New York investment bankers, backed up Mr. Gregg's contentions and surprised counsel for the appellants with the calm statement on the witness stand that his firm had refused to pay $9000 a share for Ford stock in 1919, when Ford paid $12,500. He set $6700 as a fair price for the stock in 1913, but declared that his company would not have purchased the stock at that price unless assured that all restrictions on the sale of the stock would be removed.

Under questioning by Judge Sternhagen, Mr. Dominick said he would have paid $7500 for a single share of stock and "plugged along with Ford."

The first witness offered by the government was George F. Burpee, consulting engineer and member of the firm of Coverdale & Colpitts, 66 Broadway. He set $6000 as the valuation of the Ford motor stock in 1913.

PRINTERS PROSPEROUS

Publishing Also Shares in Total of $2,269,638,230 Business

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Printing and publishing as an industry in the United States turned out during 1925 products with a total value of $2,269,638,230.

This was an increase of 12.3 per cent over the 1923 output the Census Bureau statistics disclosed today and there was an increase alike in the number of workers and the number of printing concerns.

In 1925 there were 21,051 printing establishments of all classifications in the United States, employing an average of 251,273 workers. Newspapers and periodicals accounted for nearly one-half of the total operations and their production to subscribers and buyers was worth $3598,338,060, while their advertising was sold for $923,372,673. Books and pamphlets printed were valued at $154,991,493 while job printing totaled $669,937,423. Of the total of publishing plants 10,820 were maintained by newspapers and periodicals.

DIPLOMAT SPORTSMAN

Netherlands Minister Would Walk Miles to See Football Game

THE HAGUE, Feb. 14. (AP)—That sports play an important role in the lives of official Europe is shown in the case of Jonkheer H. A. van Karnebeek, Minister of Foreign Affairs of The Netherlands. He is snappy at tennis, will walk miles to see a football match, and in his earlier days was a crack cricket player.

There is another little thing which shows the personal side of the Dutch Foreign Minister, and that is his love of animals. Every day you may see Jonkheer van Karnebeek take his strolls through the streets of The Hague accompanied by his faithful black spaniel.

The Minister is the son of a distinguished father, for Jonkheer A. B. C. van Karnebeek was himself, among other things, Foreign Minister of Holland.

STRANGLER SUSPECTED IN ATTACK ON WOMAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP)—A man believed to be the "dark strangler," sought from one end of the country to the other, attacked Mrs. Minnie Boinard, 50 years of age, a rooming-house keeper, in her home here today. He was frightened away and escaped after the woman's screams had summoned help.

ACTION RECALLS SHEPHERD CASE

Late "Billy" McClintock Will Contest Filed

Complaint Revives Charge of Murder Plot

Eight Cousins of Decensed Seek Estate

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—A plot formed eighteen years ago which involved his slaying of two persons who stood in the way of his possession of their $1,000,000 estate was attributed to William Darling Shepherd in a suit filed today to break the will of William Nelson McClintock, the "Millionaire Orphan."

Shepherd was acquitted of the murder of the youth, whose death he was asserted to have caused by administering typhoid germs, but the ghost of that long criminal court battle arose today to stalk him, connected with the allegation that in 1909 he fed the boy's mother, Mrs. Emma Catherine McClintock, a fatal dose of poison.

The suit was filed in behalf of eight cousins and, in addition to Shepherd, named as defendants the two cousins who did not participate; Mrs. Julie M. Shepherd and Miss Isabelle Pope, who was affianced to "Billy" McClintock, and who was willed an annuity of $6000.

In the will, which was drawn by Shepherd, an attorney, young McClintock designated Shepherd as chief beneficiary, with the only other bequest the annuity to Miss Pope.

The chief attack against the will was based upon the charge that it "is, in fact, solely the will, desire and intent of" Shepherd, and that the "instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said William Nelson McClintock, deceased, was, and is in all its provisions and parts, wholly the product, scheme, intent and desire of said William D. Shepherd, and that the pretended execution of said instrument . . . was wrongful constraint, machinations, persuasion, arts, practices and influences."

One of the cousins made a defendant in the suit is William Eaton, described as confined in a hospital at Pasadena, Cal. Requests were made for an appointment of a guardian ad litem.

The cousins signatory to the action are Archie A., Charles D., and William J. Eaton, Maude Eaton Walker and Minnie Eaton Kersten of Ottumwa, Iowa; Iola Eaton of Dallas, Tex., and Luella Yokum of Buffalo, N. Y.

The bill requests that the defendants be caused to respond upon the first day of the next term of court on the 21st inst.

CAST OF PLAY HELD TO TRIAL

New York Policeman Tells of "Meaning Look"

Co-Author of "Virgin Man" Also Must Answer

Case Against "The Captive" Awaits Art Advocates

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—The manager and the entire cast of "The Virgin Man," one of three plays which was raided in last week's stage clean-up campaign, were held for trial in Special Sessions today on a charge of violating laws against indecent stage productions. Bail of the eight defendants was continued.

Those arraigned were William Duga, co-author and manager, and Dorothy Hall, Virginia Smith, Don Dillaway, Betty Alden, Joseph Baird, Paul Clare and Charles Horn.

Magistrate Renaud, in the little old-fashioned Jefferson Market Court, pronounced the dictum which held them for trial. The courtroom was filled with actors, stage patrons, star-worshipers, young women, middle-aged women, reformers and policemen.

BUT ONE WITNESS

The magistrate's action came after the testimony of only one man—Police Sergeant Cummings. Two other patrolmen, critics pro tempore of the modern drama, who were ready to testify, were excluded from the courtroom during the taking of his testimony.

The police inspector outlined the plot of "The Virgin Man," which, it seemed, concerned a college boy and certain designs on him by women acquaintances somewhat older.

He said that one scene had in it a very "meaning look," and that the women tried to kiss the youth, to which testimony counsel for the players vigorously objected.

CASE ADJOURNED

The case against "The Captive" was adjourned until tomorrow afternoon when, counsel for its producers said today, advocates of its art will fill the courtroom.

Among the advocates said to be willing to stand behind the play as an artistic effort was mentioned John Haynes Holmes, rector of the community church.

The case of "sex" was today in statu quo. A hearing is pending to determine whether the injunction got out by the author of the piece against the public censors should be made permanent. Its proponents have obtained a twenty-four-hour prostponement of argument on the injunction.

MOORE WILL NOT BE CZAR OF PLAYS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Alexander P. Moore, former Ambassador to Spain, said here today that he was opposed to any dictatorship in the theatrical world and would not accept an offer to become the "play czar" of New York.

The theater managers and actors themselves must work out a satisfactory solution, he said.

Mystery Man Not Impostor, Doctors State

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Jerry Tarbot, "the man of mystery," whose claim to have forgotten his identity as a result of World War experiences, has aroused national interest, is not a malingerer or imposter but really shows signs of hysteria and mental affliction, probably due to shell shock, according to Drs. William A. White and John J. Kindred, who examined him at the request of the House War Veterans' legislation committee.

Dr. White, a psychiatrist of national repute, superintendent of the St. Elizabeth's Hospital for Insane here, and Dr. Kindred, a member of the House from a New York district, declared today that Tarbot's is "one of the most interesting cases of 'lost personality' ever brought to the attention of the medical profession."

Their advice was sought by the committee for guidance in consideration of a pending bill which would recognize Tarbot as an honorably discharged veteran entitled to all the benefits enjoyed by other ex-service men as a result of legislation.

GIRL JAVELIN THROW CHAMPION NEAR DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Miss Alda Silva of Woodside, world's champion woman javelin thrower, is near death in Mills Memorial Hospital from a crushed chest and internal injuries, suffered when the automobile in which she was riding with her mother near Beresford last night was sideswiped by a speeding car. Miss Silva's last public appearance of consequence was in the Sesquicentennial games at Philadelphia.

VERDICT IN NINETY SECONDS

PHOENIX, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—W. S. Goodspeed, manager for a King City (Cal.) orchard company, after attending an American Legion meeting in his home town found his car gone from the curb. The car later was found wrecked near Kingman, Ariz. Two former residents of King City, Leonard Novak and William Smith, have just been convicted here of the theft, the jury taking just ninety seconds in finding its verdict. The sentence was three years in Leavenworth.

PRACTICALLY every article you will ever have occasion to purchase can be found in the UP-TO-DATE shops on this great business boulevard.

There is a reason for this favorable condition.

Washington Boulevard has long been recognized as the most progressive street in Los Angeles.

First to PAVE; first to WIDEN; first to ILLUMINATE and first to become a THROUGH ROUTE from downtown to the Sea. There is ALWAYS ROOM TO PARK on this wide street.

Merchants on Washington Boulevard have prospered because of this far-sighted policy until TODAY you will find BETTER STORES with a WIDER SELECTION of merchandise usually at LOWER PRICES.

Washington Boulevard merchants are now supplying an immense volume of DAILY NECESSITIES, food, clothing, furniture, hardware and similar commodities to the great growing population that is now settling on or near this great thoroughfare.

Luxuries, too, are here in abundance, wonderful theaters, jewelry, objects d'art, displayed for your convenient inspection.

Wide, Wonderful Washington Boulevard invites you to shop, play and live here where traffic congestion is permanently remedied, and where a steadily growing volume of business insures good service and fresh, up-to-date articles of merchandise.

New projects for the further widening and extension of Washington Boulevard through Los Angeles to Whittier over a new viaduct across the Los Angeles river and thus to San Diego will make this the greatest metropolitan boulevard of the Pacific Coast.

A POSITIVE FACT ! !

AND I MEAN THAT !

IF YOU WILL ANSWER

these questions correctly, you will also say that it is a

POSITIVE FACT

HAVE you had the opportunity to purchase an acre of ground for $240.00 LOCATED near a producing oil field in California, with the STANDARD and UNION and other oil companies holding the adjacent land and near PRODUCTION, with an oil pipe line running through the property??

Geology is perfect and location unquestionable.

As farm land it is excellent; will grow most anything. AND within a stone's throw of this acreage.

AND you get a 1/640th interest given you in this well for every acre you purchase in this 320-acre tract. You get a clear deed and title to your land with all oil rights.

NOW MY FRIENDS

Is it not a positive fact that you have not???

THE question arises: WHY are we selling this acreage? Here is your answer:

We own 640 acres of land, as described above. We can lease this land to Oil Companies, BUT they will not drill to our benefit and only as they see fit. Therefore, instead of tying up our land for ten years and waiting, here is the whole thing in a nutshell:

Sell half our holdings—320 acres at $240 per acre, which will gross the house $76,800. Put a well down on this 320 acres at no further cost to you and develop our own oil field. We are staking 320 acres that we have oil. Our reward will come with our clients on the bringing in of a well. WE STILL OWN 320 acres out of the 640 and can make a proposition on the balance of our land that will make us a fortune.

The same as your piece of land will make you a fortune.

You cannot lose. You have good land, and a prospect of a fortune. As an individual you could not drill a well, but 320 of us grouped together can accomplish what one cannot.

We state there has never been, to our knowledge, a fairer or sounder investment, with the reward so great, as this offer.

Again to Our Friends
DO NOT HOLD OFF TOO LONG
ONLY 320—NO MORE

IF these statements are facts, how can you afford to pass up this offering? Let us submit the PROOF. Remember, you are not buying stock, but LAND, and are also getting an interest in the well. These acres should triple in value when the well starts down, and we would advise IMMEDIATE attention.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S. I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—[Advertisement].

LIBERALS FIRE ON AMERICANS

Demonstration Staged in Nicaragua

Chaos Rife as Conservatives Evacuate Town

Wilbur Denies Navy Venture Adds Expense

MANAGUA (Nicaragua) Feb. 14. (AP) After the Conservatives evacuated Matagalpa at noon today, believing the Liberals under Gen. Moncada were preparing to enter the city by evening, local Liberal sympathisers staged a demonstration and chaos reigned for a time. A jailer at the Cuatrel prison was killed and 150 prisoners were released to join the Liberal forces.

An automobile flying the American flag in which Lawrence Dennis, the American charge, and three newspaper correspondents, among them the correspondent of the Associated Press, had traveled from Managua to Matagalpa, was fired on during the disturbance. No one in the automobile was injured, although one shot lodged in the upholstering.

The Conservatives under Gen. Arguello, are encamped to the west of Matagalpa awaiting reinforcements before returning in an attempt to recapture the town.

Gen. Moncada, having defeated the Conservatives at Las Perlas, ascended the Grande and Escondido River valleys toward Matagalpa, with Managua as his final objective.

Gen. Parajon, after his retreat from Chinandega, is believed to have joined forces with Moncada.

The Conservative forces also have been rushing all available troops towards Chinandega and Matagalpa.

NAVY ACTION INVOLVES NO MONETARY EXPENSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—American forces in Nicaragua involve "no added monetary expense" to the United States government, Secretary Wilbur has informed Representative Moore, Democrat, Virginia, in response to a letter of inquiry.

United States contingents in connection with the Nicaragua situation number 196 officers and 3068 enlisted men, including twenty officers and 400 men of the Marine Corps and the remainder as complement of five cruisers, five destroyers and one mine sweeper.

Representative Moore, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, sought detailed information on American forces operating under Admiral Latimer in Nicaragua in a letter dated the 8th inst. Secretary Wilbur's reply of the 10th inst. was made public today by Representative Moore.

Neutral zones have been established by American forces at Bluefields, Pearl Lagoon, Rio Grande, Prinzapulco, Puerto Cabezas and Rama.

"There is no added monetary expense because of the present employment of these naval forces," Secretary Wilbur advised. "Since the cost of their pay and provision already is a fixed charge, and the amount of fuel consumed is probably about the same as would be used in the usual activities of the ships in cruising and training."

Minister Cesar tonight made public at the Nicaraguan Legation a telegram from the Diaz Foreign Office at Managua, asserting that "the military operations of the government have been everywhere triumphant, and today the revolutionary groups of the east and west have been dispersed.

"The peace which we cannot obtain by friendly overtures we may have eventually to impose by force of our arms," the message added.

Dealer's Father Twists Dials for Subscribers Linked on Wired Circuit

ATHOL (S. D.) Feb. 14. (AP) The 87-year-old father of Ralph Wilhelm, radio dealer, is Athol's radio dictator.

Wilhelm has run a line about town from his receiving set, selling loud speakers to his customers and charging them a monthly fee for radio entertainment, just as they buy electricity, gas or city water.

His father, George W. Wilhelm, manipulates the dials all day at the set. The clients all have to take whatever the senior Wilhelm picks out of the ether for them, but they declare his taste in radio entertainment to be impeccable.

Los Angeles Man Gets Annulment After 20 Years

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—S. Morton Cohen, wealthy theatrical man of Portland and Los Angeles, was granted an annulment of his marriage to Lillian E. Cohen today after he had lived with her for twenty years. He declared she was insane when they were married and produced records to show that she was adjudged mentally incompetent in 1920 and is now in an institution at Livermore.

Cohen says he settled a $100,000 estate upon his wife and her heirs when the couple separated in 1918. Dr. Thomas Orbison, Los Angeles psychiathist, was one of the experts who testified for the husband.

His mail now is being forwarded to the city prison.

FLYERS DODGE DROPS OF RAIN

By Going Fast Enough, Pilots Say, Rush of Wind Keeps Man Dry

DAYTON (O.) Feb. 14. (AP) The old joke about dodging the raindrops has some foundation, after all.

If you go fast enough you can dodge 'em, say aviators of the United States Army Air Corps at McCook field.

A pilot riding in the open cockpit of a plane through a heavy rainstorm will not get wet, the flyers say. But he does not ride between the drops. The speed of the plane produces such a rush of wind about the ship that the rain is carried backward instead of falling upon it.

BOOK LOVER DIES

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Charles Morgan Wood of Boston, for four years a winter resident of Arizona, is dead here of pneumonia. He was noted as a book collector with a large library of works on the Southwest. He had been working on a history of the Apache Indians, which was approaching completion.

Sixteen Duels Will be Fought as Dance Sequel

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Times Company]

POSEN, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Because the belle of a ball held here recently disliked the way one of her admirers danced the Charleston and refused to dance with him, sixteen duels are going to be fought within the next few days.

The would-be Charleston partner was so infuriated by the girl's willingness to try the light fantastic with everyone but him that he made slighting remarks about her. Thereupon one of the more favored youths called him out.

The seconds of the pair also got embroiled and the younger dancing set divided itself into two armed camps and thirty-two Polish hotheads in consequence are pitted against one another with pistol or rapier unless the authorities intervene.

Propaganda on Campus Hit by Von KleinSmid

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Not illiteracy but "short-haired women and long-haired men with dangerous doctrines they are attempting to capitalize," are at the root of troubles in this country, Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, told the San Francisco Development League today.

"Education is of no value unless the right philosophy of life is behind it," he said. "Sevehal of our best institutions are harboring men who want to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery of superior education. Every campus is invaded by propagandists and our democracy needs careful guardianship to offset their influences."

The organization of education is thoroughly at sea, according to the educator, and is being outclassed by every other industry.

Of 26,000,000 persons going to school every day in the United States, Dr. Von KleinSmid said, 23,000,000 are attending public schools, 2,000,000 are high-school pupils, and 1,000,000 are attending universities, citing the figures as indicative of the vast field in which the seeds of propaganda can be sown.

SYSTEM IN FRENCH SCHOOLS HELD ARCHAIC

"COLLECTIVE PUNISHMENT" FOR FAULT OF ONE ASSAILED BY PUPIL'S PARENTS

PARIS, Feb. 14. (AP)—"Collective punishment," the disciplining of an entire group if the person at fault cannot be identified, still survives in French schools. It has been called a relic of the dark ages in education. The National Association of Parents has protested against it repeatedly. It often has been disapproved by high school authorities. It nevertheless remains a tradition, particularly in the lower grades.

Entire classes frequently get a low mark on a certain recitation because the boy or girl who violated some rule refuses to confess and his or her comrades will not turn state's evidence.

Many educators here deplore the custom but others consider it effective. Its supporters argue that a class is a unit of society and it is society's duty to aid justice. Its opponents contend that as collective punishment means sentencing the innocent it leads to defiance of constituted authority and encourages offenders to offend by assuring them that they will not be held up to public scorn.

Sólo los Fascistas Podrán Tener Puestos en el Gobierno

MILAN (Italia), Febrero 14.—Todos los empleos de gobierno en Italia, desde el más humilde hasta el más encumbrado, quedarán, antes de que termine el año actual, ocupados por fascistas ya probados y dignos de toda confianza. Tal anunció hoy Augusto Turati, secretario general del partido fascista.

De hoy en adelante la divisa del partido será, según dijo el señor Turati, la declaración de Mussolini en Junio de 1925: "Todo el poder en manos de todo el fascismo."

Contrabando de Antifascistas Hecho por "Bootleggers" Yanquis

NAPOLES (Italia), Febrero 14.—Algunos "bootleggers" norteamericanos, con experiencia adquirida en la flota licorista de Nueva York, han tomado parte, según cree la policía, en la organización de un complicado sistema para pasar antifascistas de Italia a Francia. Dicho sistema fue descubierto hoy por miembros de las milicias fascistas, que llevan meses de seguirles la pista a esos "bootleggers". Detuvieron aquellos por cinco horas la salida del buque de línea francés "Thépsile," y lograron echarles el guante a diecinueve antifascistas que estaban metidos en un pequeño escondrijo, en el fondo de la sentina.

Hija que Interpone una Acción Contra el Testamento de su Padre

En un escrito presentado ayer por Kitty C. Doney, se queja ésta de que el doctor John Spangler se vio inducido a testar en favor de otra mujer la mitad de la herencia que debía haberle correspondido a su hija. La señora Doney es la hija quejosa, y la mujer a quien ésta acusa de haber influido sobre su padre, es la señora Nellie Clark, quien, según se asienta en la querella, hizo firmar al doctor Spangler, ocho días antes de la muerte de éste, un testamento en el que dejaba la cuarta parte de sus bienes a cada uno de sus tres hijos, la octava parte a la señora Doney, y la octava restante a la Clark. La testamentaria, valuada en $15,000, se halla representada por el abogado Martin F. Betty.

Otro Testador Influido Indebidamente

La señora Refugio de Padilla, que no sabía leer ni escribir, fue inducida a rubricar un testamento, por el que lega el sobrante de sus bienes—que puede llegar a una suma comprendida entre $10,000 y $50,000—a su consejero de negocios, Michael George, según demanda interpuesta ayer por Pedro de Padilla, cuñado de la difunta, quien pide la nulidad del testamento.

Declara Padilla que frecuentemente había manifestado la señora Padilla sus intenciones de dejarle a él parte de sus bienes. Sin embargo, de acuerdo con el testamento, todo ha sido dejado a George, salvo pequeños legados en favor de tres ahijados, de algunas iglesias católicas, y de fines caritativos.

SUICIDE MANIA CLAIMS TWO

Schoolboy Seeks "Glorious Adventure," While Another Sacrifices Self for Sister's Welfare

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The number of suicides in the current wave of self-destruction among the younger intellectuals reached thirteen today when a 14-year-old high-school boy was found asphyxiated in Davenport, Iowa, and the body of Thomas J. O'Donnell, 17, senior in the Hempstead, (L. I.) High School was found with a bullet in the head.

Yesterday a social science student at Princeton killed himself by inhaling gas.

O'Donnell, one of the most popular students at Hempstead and the star in the class play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," shot himself in his dressing-room back of the stage of the school auditorium after leaving a note to his mother.

SOUGHT ADVENTURE

The Davenport boy, George W. Cannon, Jr., also left a note. And he, like most of the other bright young men who recently took their lives, was curious about the mystery of death—unnaturally curious.

"To die will be a glorious adventure," he wrote. "It is my belief that my spirit will some day enter into the body of a playwright and will call forth a story of a boy who loved to dream, the story of a body who was so disillusioned that he couldn't stand it any more. The play will make the man famous and yet it will be my story, so my ambition will not be unfulfilled."

Like O'Donnell, young Cannon was fond of the stage. He had carried on an extensive correspondence with actors and actresses. And, again like O'Donnell, he was a brilliant student.

O'Donnell was not only the school's leading actor and most popular student, but also its prize debater.

PERSONAL SACRIFICE

His motive for suicide, however, seemed different from those of the dozen other high school and college boys who within the last two months thought it smart to die. Apparently he wasn't the morbid philosopher type at all. In his letter he says:

"I have always tried to live a Christian life, and am sorry I did not work harder, I love life and am sorry I had to sacrifice myself."

O'Donnell's mother, a teacher in the New Hyde Park School, has been living apart from her husband for seventeen months. The youth, whose letter was a will as well as an explanation of his act, named his pallbearers and gave his reason for desiring death as the wish to lessen his mother's financial burden so his sister could have more clothes and other advantages.

Oakland Waits Hillegass Case Hearing Today

OAKLAND, Feb. 14. (AP)—Attorneys concerned in the tangle over the identity of the body brought from Utica, N. Y., as that of Dr. George Hillegass, former Berkeley physician, tonight were preparing for the Superior Court hearing tomorrow, when they will endeavor to prove the doctor's death and obtain an order for distribution of the $150,000 estate to which Hillegass was heir.

Fred C. Peterson, attorney, arrived here with the body today, and declared the question of identity had been settled in Utica, despite reports from the East that the body was that of another George Hillegass of St. Johnsville, N. Y.

Peterson brought with him affidavits from the physician who cared for Hillegass in the hospital and the undertaker who buried him. They saw pictures of Dr. George Hillegass of Berkeley and identified them as likenesses of the man who had died there.

If the court rules in favor of Peterson's claims, a half-brother of Dr. Hillegass and two nieces will receive the $150,000 estate to which they are heirs if the physician, long missing, is proved dead.

BAY CITY CAFE OWNER DIES WHILE ABROAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP)—News of the death of H. L. Hirsch, 64 years of age, founder of the old Heidelberg Inn, first downtown restaurant of its type opened in San Francisco after the 1906 fire, was received by relatives here yesterday from Hanover, Germany, where Hirsch was visiting. Hirsch also established the Old Hofbrau here, a restaurant recently operated by him and his son as The States. L. H. Hirsch, the son, announced that his father's body would be cremated in Germany and the ashes returned here for burial.

Only Car of Its Type on the Pacific Coast
Now on display at the Biltmore Enclosed Car Salon

Conceded to be one of the world's finest automobiles, the new Mercedes stands pre-eminently at the head of the list of the brilliant assemblage at the Biltmore.

Built with meticulous care, assembled by hand; fitted like a watch, the chassis is unexcelled by any American or European car. The motor, first to ever be equipped with a super-charger for passenger service, develops 140 horsepower and has a speed of more than 100 miles per hour.

Demonstrations by appointment will be made during the period immediately during and following the Salon.

19 in 20 Mouths Are Safe!

Only 1 in 20 Needs Special Gum Treatment

ACCORDING to the most authoritative statistics yet published, your possibilities of getting pyorrhea are slight.

In its recent examination of nearly 17,000 policy holders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the Life Extension Institute found that only 1 in 20 had pyorrhea; only 7.4% at the most susceptible age.

Because your gums feel tender or bleed a little is not necessarily a cause for pyorrhea-panic and for applying drastic drugs. Drugs only irritate normal, healthy tissues—and irritation does not prevent disease, but brings it on.

Instead of dosing your gums, give them the benefit of vigorous daily exercise with a good-sized toothbrush of medium stiffness. And use a dentifrice free from irritants such as DR. LYON'S. If after a few days your gums are still tender and bleeding, you probably need a dentist's attention.

Clean Teeth Perfectly And Don't Worry

Brush every surface of every tooth carefully twice a day with DR. LYON'S. Brush the gums twice as much as the teeth.

Visit your dentist regularly twice a year. Have your children's teeth inspected for fissures.

Dr. Thaddeus P. Hyatt, Dental Director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, points out that 88% of the first permanent molars, appearing in a child's mouth at about the sixth year, have fissures on their grinding surfaces. Unless promptly filled, they can't be kept clean, and the whole tooth swiftly decays.

Dr. Lyon's Cleans LEGITIMATELY

The choice of a dentifrice is not a puzzling problem. There is no more confusion about the advisability of selecting DR. LYON'S for the whole family than there is about the value of keeping teeth clean.

DR. LYON'S cleans and polishes teeth thoroughly and safely, and brings out all their natural white lustre.

It contains no drugs, no high-powered chemicals, no harsh abrasives. It sticks to what a dentifrice legitimately should do, and so the user's teeth stick to him.

Oldest Because Best

DR. LYON'S has been continuously on the market for more than 60 years. It is at once the oldest and most modern of dentifrices.

DR. LYON'S is best not because oldest but oldest because best. It is the only dentifrice old enough to prove that it cleans teeth safely and preserves them for life.

HUGE BRAZILIAN LOAN EXPECTED

Republic Plans Sinking Fund Payment Resumption

Financing for New Mayflower Hotel on Market

Brick Plant Securities Will be Offered Today

New York and London banking houses are understood to be negotiating with the Brazilian government looking toward the flotation of a loan said to be in the neighborhood of $100,000,000, according to private cable advices from London. Details were not given, but it is stated the bonds, when brought out, will probably carry a 7 per cent coupon.

New financing announced for offering in this market today includes an issue of $500,000 William H. Anderson, Inc., Mayflower Hotel closed first mortgage leasehold 6½ per cent serial gold bonds, and an issue of $3,000,000 first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds of the Sayre & Fisher Brick Company.

Brazil has virtually completed its stabilization plans, the remaining step being to secure the loan of $100,000,000 to insure the success of the venture. Included in the plans is the proposal of the government to carry out its agreement to resume sinking fund payments on several issues of Brazilian sterling bond issues. Such payments have been suspended since 1914.

A syndicate composed of the California Securities Company and the Citizens' National Company is offering the Mayflower Hotel liens, due February 1, 1930-1942, at 100 and interest, to yield 6½ per cent. The bonds will be secured by a first mortgage on the company's leasehold interest in 60 feet by 165 feet on the west side of Grand avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets, upon which to elect a limit-height Class A reinforced concrete hotel building, to be known as the Mayflower Hotel Corporation, at an annual rental of $120,000.

The Sayre & Fisher securities, offered by Halsey, Stuart & Company, Inc., West & Co., and Graham, Parsons & Co., at 98, to yield 6.35 per cent, will provide funds for the acquisition by the Harley L. Clark interests of the Sayre & Fisher Company, the largest brick manufacturing concern in the country. The company's principal markets are the New York and Philadelphia metropolitan districts and New Jersey.

STOCKS OF LEATHER LOWEST ON RECORD

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Frazier M. Moffat, president of the Tanners' Council of America, said that stocks of heavy leather in process are now the lowest on record. American tanning operations, he said, consume practically all raw domestic materials and last year took about 20 per cent from foreign sources. Consumption of sole leather increased about 10 per cent last year.

Cowie Reports Federal Trade Branch Certain

Assurance that an appropriation will be made for the establishment of a branch office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in Los Angeles, was obtained from Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau, by Alex S. Cowie, assistant vice-president in charge of the foreign department of the Citizens' National Bank, while in Washington, D. C., last week.

Mr. Cowie returned to Los Angeles yesterday after an extended business trip to Washington and New York, and was optimistic over the prospect of obtaining a branch office of the bureau in Los Angeles. The development of foreign trade on the Pacific Coast, and especially through the port of Los Angeles is attracting much attention in the East, he said.

"In the cities of the East," Mr. Cowie said, "there is greater interest in California, and Los Angeles, than ever before. Tourist agencies report record-breaking travel to the Coast and we shall have another year of prosperity here in consequence."

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14. (AP)—Sales of the Baldwin Locomotive Works for 1926 aggregated $47,891,668, with a manufacturing profit of $3,811,388. Other income, including that from Standard Steel Works, a subsidiary, amounted to $3,857,661, making a gross profit for the year of $7,668,914. The net profit, after deduction of expenses and taxes, was $5,883,906.

This was shown by the annual report made public last night. The report said the works had operated at approximately 40 per cent throughout the year and that it was expected to operate during 1927 on a 50 per cent capacity basis. A large improvement was noted in foreign business.

MOODY GIVES VIEWS

Says Continuance of Easy Money Aids Security Markets

Moody's weekly review of financial conditions in its current issue says in part:

The outstanding features of the security markets consist of a further continuance of easy-money conditions, the ease with which substantial new offerings have been absorbed, and the improvement in sentiment as a whole.

Trade may be expected to undergo the usual seasonable contraction and to turn somewhat irregular during February.

We anticipate, however, neither a trade depression nor a bear market in stocks, and any reaction in trade and sympathetic decline in the stock market will be more in the nature of a corrective movement and should pave the way for greater activity later in the year.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS OF MEXICO DECLINE

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Customs duties at every point of ingress in Mexico showed a decrease for December, 1926, as against December, 1925, total drop coming to 758,981.72 pesos, which is approximately $375,000. While figures are yet unavailable for January, 1927, it is indicated there has been further decrease.

YOUR INCOME TAX

[This is one of a series explaining the provisions of the Revenue Act relating to income taxes. The articles are supplied by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Washington.]

NO. 21

Deductions for depreciation form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers, and are the subject of frequent inquiries. The word "depreciation" is not used by the Revenue Act of 1926, which provides for a "reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence." For convenience, such allowance usually is referred to by regulation relating to the income tax as depreciation.

In claiming a deduction of depreciation several fundamental principles must be observed. The deduction must be confined to property actually used in the trade, business, profession, or vocation. In general, it applies to the taxpayer's capital assets—buildings, machinery, etc.—the cost of which cannot be deducted as a business expense. A building or machine gradually becomes old and worn out. On account of this depreciation the value of such assets is decreased. A loss is thereby sustained, for which the taxpayer is entitled to recognition in making his return of income.

Depreciation may be claimed on all business property, which includes not only buildings and machinery of a permanent character, but automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture and books. A lawyer, doctor, or other professional man may not charge off as a current expense the cost of a library used wholly in his profession, this being a capital expenditure and the library a capital asset. But he may deduct an allowance for depreciation, based upon the useful life of the library.

RAIL STRUGGLE ON IN NORTH

Entry Into California Rumored as Real Reason for Rivalry; Started by Hill and Harriman

BY EARLE R. CROWE

While the big trunk lines in the East are sparring warily among themselves to protect their own positions and to prevent the building of a fifth trunk line, the North Pacific Coast is the scene of another determined struggle among three large rail lines for certain strategic advantages. The only difference is that the rivalry on this Coast is unaccompanied by the brass bands played by the speculators in the stock market.

Both the Southern Pacific and the Great Northern are before the Interstate Commerce Commission, the high tribunal in the railroad kingdom, seeking authority for projects in Central Oregon. Ostensibly, the two lines are fighting for equal rights in the timber region surrounding Klamath Falls, but underneath there is a well-defined undercurrent of plans for and against the entry of another railroad into California and San Francisco Bay.

OLD PLANS DEVISED

To the students of railroad history there is nothing new in these reputed plans. In general they are the recrudescence of the projects formulated by the pioneers, James J. Hill and Edward H. Harriman. Hill, through the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, visualized the possibilities in the interior of the Northwest Coast when he built the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway more [illegible] fifteen years ago, probably intending later to extend on down the coast.

Harriman, after spending some time in the Klamath Basin, also foresaw the immense development of the Northwest, and the Southern Pacific extended from Weed to Klamath Falls in 1909, and by degrees to Oakridge in 1912. Recently the Southern Pacific built a main line through the Klamath Basin at a cost of $19,000,000.

The controversy now before the Interstate Commerce Commission concerns the proposal of the Great Northern to build down the Williamson River to a connection with the extension of the Oregon, California and Eastern, owned by the Southern Pacific, taking trackage rights over this line to Klamath Falls. The Southern Pacific has offered as an alternative trackage rights to the Great Northern from Paunina to Klamath Falls.

ENTRY FEARED

Although the fear has not been expressed in the arguments before the commission, the opposition of the Southern Pacific to the Great Northern plan is probably traceable to the ultimate possibility of entrance into California. Once into Klamath Falls over part of its own line, the Great Northern would be in a position, it is feared, to launch another extension to connect with the Northwestern Pacific at Trinidad.

The Northwestern Pacific, owned jointly by the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, runs from Trinidad on the coast to Sausalito [illegible] San Francisco Bay, connecting by its own ferry with San Francisco. The assumption is that the Great Northern would be in a position after reaching Trinidad, to force the extension of trackage rights over the Northwestern Pacific.

It is in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission to decide whether the lieutenants of Harriman or the lieutenants of Hill will win in this battle that the two pioneers started. To the Pacific Coast this contest, although conducted mainly behind closed doors, is of much greater significance than the railroad war in the East.

BANCITALY ADDS MORE TO RECORD

Established New High Mark at 107; Julian Preferred Closes Firm at 10

Bancitaly Corporation continued to advance into new high ground on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday, closing 3 1-8 points up to a new record high at 107 with a large number of shares crossing the board. Bank of Italy added 8 points to a close at 598. Merchants National added 2½ points to 385, and Farmers' and Merchants' held firm at 800.

Julian Petroleum preferred opened 3-8 of a point higher at 10 1-4, but soon found a firm level at 10, where it sold throughout the balance of the day, a net gain of 1-8 of a point over Friday's close. Julian common added a fraction to 2 1-4. Richfield lost 1-4 to 36 3-4. Union Oil of California closed firm at 33¼, after falling off to 33 1-4. Standard Oil of California lost 7-8 of a point to 39. California Petroleum added 1-4 of a point to 31 3-4.

Southern California Edison common rallied from an opening at 33 to 33 1-4 and closed at 33 1-8 on a good volume, a fractional net gain. Edison preferred issues were firm. Los Angeles Investment opened off at 2.93, but rallied to a firm close at 2.93.

Western Apex advanced 8¼ cents to 60½ to lead the activity in the mines, but reacted near the close to 58½. Big Jim added 3 cents to 39, then closed at 38. Boundary Cone moved up ½ of a cent to 6½. Gold Dust and North Star held firm at 8 and 8½, respectively.

Consumption of Cotton in January Given

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Cotton consumed during January totaled 604,884 bales of lint and 85,149 of linters, compared with 608,217 of lint and 54,618 of linters in December and 582,315 of lint and 62,236 of linters in January, last year, the Census Bureau announced today.

Cotton on hand January 31, last, was held as follows:

In consuming establishments, 1,552,937 bales of lint and 161,724 of linters, compared with 1,766,392 of lint and 137,743 of linters on December 31, and 1,815,232 of lint and 160,266 of linters on January 31, last year.

In public storage and at compresses, 6,070,020 bales of lint and 87,976 of linters, compared with 6,478,996 of lint and 37,588 of linters on December 31, and 5,180,988 of lint and 69,548 of linters on January 31, last year.

Imports for January totaled 56,939 bales, compared with 39,851 in December, and 62,061 in December, last year.

Exports for January totaled 1,115,793 bales, including 41,437 bales of linters, compared with 1,531,297, including 27,290 of linters in December and 749,967, including 15,368 of linters in January, last year.

Retail Sales in Electrical Line Register Gain

Total retail value of sales of electrical appliances, merchandise and lighting equipment, but not including radio sets and supplies, in 1926 was $775,828,000, against $660,213,000 in the preceding year, it was reported yesterday by Electrical Merchandising.

Incandescent lamps sold throughout the country in the last year are placed at 495,200,000, valued at $161,900,000. Next in importance from the standpoint of volume were sales of washing machines, the total for the year being estimated at 828,000, valued at $125,000,000.

A marked increase occurred in the sales of electric refrigerators in the domestic field, the total for 1926 amounting to 250,000 machines, valued at $75,000,000, which compares with 75,000 machines, valued at $26,250,000, in 1925. Sales of vacuum cleaners for the year totaled 1,050,000, valued at $65,000,000.

The number of electric irons sold totaled 3,000,000; electric fans, 1,000,000; ranges, 110,000; radiators and heaters, 448,000; toasters, 600,000; waffle irons, 18,000, and fireless cookers, 250,000.

Standard Oil of Ohio Plans Stock Split-up

CLEVELAND (O.) Feb. 14. (AP)—A four-for-one split-up of common shares of Standard Oil of Ohio was authorized by stockholders at their annual meeting here today.

The common stock par value was reduced from $100 to $25 and it was announced that no fractional shares would be issued, an adjustment of such shares being promised. Common stock of $14,000,000 is outstanding.

Directors meeting simultaneously with shareholders declared a regular dividend of 2½ per cent on common stock of record March 15, payable April 1. All officers were re-elected.

BROPHY ELECTED TO STOCK MARKET SEAT

Murray Brophy, with offices in the I. N. Van Nuys Building, was yesterday elected a member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, according to an announcement of H. H. Lee, assistant secretary and manager. Mr. Brophy obtained the seat formerly owned by the late Frank Hervey Pettingell.

SUGAR PRICE CUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The price of refined sugar to wholesalers at the refineries declined 10 cents a hundred pounds today, bringing the new cane base to $6.05.

Business Philosophy

By William Feather

Knowledge, if cumulative, always pays dividends and often declares an extra 10 per cent.

Is any feeling finer than that which comes from doing a hard job particularly well?

The first thing a business man must learn to do is to face the facts, ugly though they be.

If a proprietor can pick good men, and if he has the good sense to leave them alone, he can make progress.

Aren't you often ashamed, when at the end of a hard day's work, you look back and see how little you have accomplished?

EXCHANGE AIDE WILL QUIT POST

Harold H. Lee Resigns Manager Job to Give Time to Own Venture

Harold H. Lee, who during the past eight years has held practically every position on the floor of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, from a clearinghouse clerk to his present position as assistant secretary and manager of the exchange, late yesterday handed his resignation to the board of governors. The resignation will be effective within thirty days.

Mr. Lee will devote all of his time to the Western States Statistical Company, which was organized about a year ago to prepare data, publish and distribute the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Manual, containing corporate information regarding stocks listed on the exchange. Another manual, covering unlisted securities of companies west of the Rocky Mountains, was later issued to meet another need, and now Mr. Lee expects to engage in a general statistical service.

Mr. Lee became associated with the Los Angeles Stock Exchange in 1919 as a clearinghouse clerk. He held various positions on the floor and in 1921 was elected assistant secretary and manager of the exchange.

During the eight years which Mr. Lee has been associated with the exchange the business of that organization has increased many times. The total value of stock and bond transactions on the Los Angeles Stock exchange in 1919 was $43,317,751.07, which compares with $208,120,344 in the year ended December 21, last, an increase during the period of 372 per cent.

Stock Sales to User of Utility Show Increase

Sale of preferred stock on the customer-ownership basis by Byllesby properties during 1926 increased more than 15 per cent over the total for 1925, according to the company's report issued yesterday. Transactions numbering 36,801 resulted in total sales, less cancellations, amounting to $35,061,600 par value.

The net treasury distribution of stock exceeded $20,000,000 par value, or 13 per cent greater than in 1925. These figures do not include the Pittsburgh and San Francisco situations, where Byllesby companies have not yet started customer ownership.

With these exceptions, upward of one-half of the new capital raised for construction purposes during the year came through this source. New shareholders added numbered 17,000, the approximate total of customer shareholders at the close of the year standing at 100,000.

Bullish Interview With W Durant Stimulates

Renewed Activity Dom in Rail Stocks

Principal Commodity M kets Drift Lower

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.) Constructive dividend developments, coupled with the widespread discussion of a bullish interview with a leading market operator, served to the stimulus for another strong upward movement in prices in today's stock market. The renewed activity developed in the rail list, although not to the same extent as last week, but major speculative interest again centered in the oil specialties and specialties, with the steels and motors showing pertinent performance.

Two increases in annual dividends—Du Pont from $7 to $8, and Johnstown Sheet and Tube from $5—inspired hopes of similar action by other companies whose earnings and current business

COTTON RELIEF STIRS DOUBT

Opinion in Belt Regards Haugen-McNary Act as Likely to Prove Boomerang by Increasing Acreage

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Feb. 14.—In the absence of an intensive educational campaign among the farmers by proper authorities, the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill as it pertains to cotton is very apt to prove a boomering by stimulating actual increase in acreage coming as it does right at planting time and with the southern cotton farmer, trader, shipper, factor and even banker almost totally unfamiliar with the fact that it provides only for surpluses caused by abnormal weather conditions.

Such is the view of the very few here in short or 7-8 inch cotton are comparatively inactive. In the low middling and strict low middling grades of inch and also inch and a sixteenth, the demand is best with some mills begging for those types as one factor puts it. In the early part of the week daily sales here averaged 5000 bales, but ran up to 7300 bales at the end. Weather conditions the past week in the northern section of the belt have been somewhat improved, but the ground is not dry enough in most places to permit plowing. However, there is ample time for this, although this time last year much ground was ready. Picking has been proceeding slowly.

Net receipts of local cotton this week were 19,000 bales against 9600 last week, and the total receipts were 64,000 against 55,000 last week. Shipments, however, continued very large, equaling last week's total of 57,500 bales, the largest since December 10. The total stock declined 11,500 bales during the week to 281,000 bales and it is significant that the present stock is 11,000 bales less than the stock at this time last year.

Acreage reduction is talked everywhere, but this must be discounted largely. From the country comes word that bankers are tightening up to a considerable extent in financing the new crop; ostensibly there will be a reduction, but whether it be 5 per cent or 20 per cent, will not be known until the middle of the summer. There is no doubt that less financing will be done, but in the past farmers under similar conditions have produced cheaper crops and covered as much acreage. Word comes today, that the Commissioner of Agriculture in Texas predicts 10 per cent reduction there. In the region around Memphis intensive campaigns are on foot for truck acreage.

INCREASE POSSIBLE

It is not Mr. Moser's opinion that has yet been expressed on acreage, although he acknowledges that no farmers understand the bill's provisions. Farmers and traders interviewed lately by your correspondent unanimously acknowledge ignorance and appear surprised when informed that the Haugen bill will not take care of cotton surpluses caused by acreage itself. If this point can be brought home to the farmers they say it certainly will mean reduction; legislation is the only remedy for the situation in the face of failures in the past, whether it be State or Federal regulation, but too little time is left before the coming crop, it is believed, for a careful and widespread study of the Haugen bill, and unless such an educational campaign is conducted chances are good that the 1927 acreage may equal or exceed that of the season just passing.

The most prominent shippers, factors and planters, themselves, merely know that the Haugen bill provides for taking care of surplus, supposedly from any cause, and that an equalization fee is to be charged against each bale at the gin on years that such surpluses exist. The impending Haugen bill, however, has not affected the demand of spinners for the actual cotton itself during the past week. Activity increased somewhat in spot circles and total sales ran up to 36,700 bales, or about equal to the peak of the season established the middle of January. Demand continues to be principally for the brighter and government box grades in the low middling types and below. The recent local receipts, which are comparatively light, due to bad roads from adverse weather, are darker blue than ever, but the mill demand for this type and those just slightly better has brought the basis up to 8 to 8¼ cents at the gin, or half a cent more in some places in the towns. There is a steady flow of actual cotton in most all grades, with mills more disposed than recently to pay the prices.

SOME INACTIVITY

Only the middling grades and better are in demand, with the lower grades neglected. Staple premiums are unchanged, with the exception of the 1-inch, which is in demand at 100 points on March. Offerings of 1-inch are light. Staple premiums are unchanged, with the exception of the 1-inch, which is in demand at 100 points on March. Offerings of 1-inch are light.

Baldwin Report for 1926 Bullish Factor on Exchange

(Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Baldwin Locomotive's 1926 figures, which were made public over the holiday interval, proved even more satisfactory than had been indicated by the recent preliminary estimates which have been around. The stock, however, was reactionary most of the day as those who had built up handsome profits on the recent spectacular rise proceeded to take them. But offerings readily absorbed and fluctuations were comparatively narrow. Net equal to $22.40 a share reflected the switch from an operating deficit to a substantial profit. Income from investments also was substantially larger.

Wating Woolens Figures

Another report which the financial community is awaiting with more than usual interest is that of the American Woolen Company. This company does not make public any figures except its annual results and while the pamphlet report will probably not be available for some time the preliminary showing is expected in the near future. General belief is that preferred dividend requirements will be shown covered, but the margin over is what interests followers of the situation there.

Steel Strength

Steel stocks swung into active leadership of the industrials notwithstanding reports from operating centers over the week-end that plate prices had been reduced. This, however, had been considered inevitable because of the previous reductions made in shapes and bars and other products. The steel shares were paying more attention to the news of the increase in the Youngstown Sheet and Tube dividend, which was accepted as an indication of the good feeling in official circles. Youngstown was up to new high levels, and Steel common, Crucible, Republic and Gulf States were at or above previous 1926 top levels.

Dupont Rate Increased

Expectations of the majority in the street that the Dupont dividend rate will be raised to correspond with the larger payments now in force on General Motors were fulfilled on schedule. It has been the policy of the Dupont directors to pass along to shareholders all benefits derived from its large investment in General Motors. The company is credited with holding about a one-quarter interest in the big motor company through investment in its common stock. Dupont was responsive to the favorable action of the board, rising to new high ground for the year.

Can Statement

Evidently the relatively poor showing of American Can's 1926 earnings by comparison with results obtaining in 1925 had been discounted. At any rate the financial community had heard in recent weeks that the results last year had not proven up to earlier estimates. Net reported which was equivalent to $4.38 a share on the common against $5.46 a share the year before was about in keeping with expectations. The stock, however, developed a better tone with the report out of the way, probably reflecting the covering of shorts who worked on the theory that the bad news was out.

Motors

Motor stocks were in high favor. It was apparent to the average observer that the action of W. C. Durant in deciding to forego his trip abroad was of vast significance. His decision was accepted as fitting in closely with reports which were current from the beginning of last week that another big bullish demonstration in the automobile shares was in the making. Incidentally the principal buying ran toward stocks which were mentioned freely as likely to be found in the leadership of the movement namely, General Motors, Hudson, Nash, and Mack Trucks. Studebaker was not particularly influenced by the unexpectedly poor showing of its 1926 net results.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

(Copyright, 1927, New York Evening Post, Inc.)

LONDON, Feb. 14. (By wireless)—Three days of fog have depressed the markets and after a firm opening oils were affected today by realization sales. The rise in the petroleum shares was probably overdone for the moment, but the movement is probably not over.

Railways rallied further because they are beginning to show fair yields at current prices, although the movement cannot go far until the industrial progress is generally better.

Prof. Cassel in the current number of the Skadinaviska Kreditaktiebolaget has further gloomy forebodings about the effect of the coming scarcity of gold, and says:

"If we are not prepared to submit to an indefinite fall in prices and the economic depression which is bound to follow in its train we shall eventually have no other recourse than to abandon the gold standard and base world currencies on a systematically regulated scarcity of the amount of means of payment."

Cassel's arguments lose force by the changeability of his views within a brief period and London generally considers we are suffering from an overdose of economic theories which obscure the element of human effort.

Growing uneasiness is felt here over the development of the Fascist movement in Italy and the scheme for consolidating all industries into a kind of state guild, with semistate control.

Aluminum Company of America Debentures Rank Among Best Bonds on Market

BY RALPH HENDERSHOT

(Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Seldom have investors been offered a more attractive purchase than the $60,000,000 bonds of the Aluminum Company of America, which were placed on sale earlier this week. Irrespective of the fact that they are debentures, the issue is entitled to a ranking well up among the best bonds on the market today. The offering has the distinction of constituting the largest piece of industrial financing so far this year.

The rapidity with which the Aluminum Company of America has come to the fore among the industrial companies of the world in recent years is a high tribute to its management. Formed less than forty years ago, the company is now the recognized leader in its particular field, and in addition has become a powerful factor in the production of electricity.

During the last five years Arthur V. Davis, president, says the company has ploughed back into property an amount equal to 75 per cent of its earnings before dividends. This is indicative of the conservatism of the management in the payment of dividends. Seventy-five per cent of such earnings for the past three years amount to approximately $42,000,000, and, while earnings for 1922 and 1923 have never been made public, it is probable that the proportion retained in the business for the full five years was close to, if not equal to, the amount of the present financing.

The balance sheet as of January 1, 1927, disclosed a remarkably strong financial condition. After giving effect to the bonds just sold, total current assets were $81,323,271, whereas current liabilities amounted to but $2,569,794.

Total assets are carried at $241,306,814, of which plants and equipment, less depreciation, account for $103,331,741, investments in subsidiary companies to $46,868,336, and investments in allied companies to $5,977,826. No value whatever is given to intangible assets.

On the liability side of the company's balance sheet the principal items are $147,362,500 of preferred stock, 1,372,625 shares of common stock, valued at $7,363,125; $61,000,000 of funded debt, including this issue, and about $20,000,000 of surplus and reserves.

It is interesting to note that net earnings applicable to dividends on the company's common stock in 1926 were $10,911,318, or $3,548,193 more than the stock is valued at in the balance sheet. It is not unusual for large corporations to be ultra-conservative in their valuations, and this case is cited merely to show that the value of the company's properties is more, if anything, than is indicated by the balance sheet, a factor worth considering in judging the value of its debentures.

Brazil will spend nearly $2,000,000 for construction and maintenance of highways this year.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (Exclusive)—The market had a strong opening with prices rising 15 to 18 points from Friday's closing quotations. It was due to the higher Liverpool markets of Saturday morning, when there was no session here, the bullish sentiment created in the trade over the holiday by the Senate passing the McNary-Haugen bill, causing the belief to prevail it would soon pass the House regardless of the soon pass to the House regardless of talk of a possible veto by the President, and also the bullish report that appeared just before the opening on the heavy American mill consumption for the month of January.

The latter showed 604,585 bales without linters consumed for the month against the heavy total of 605,217 for December and 582,315 for January last year. It makes 3,434,000 bales consumed from August 1 against 3,180,000 bales last year. This heavier total along with over 7,000,000 bales of cotton actually exported from August 1 to date, makes it look as if the American mill consumption for the year will go over 7,000,000 bales and the export movement will reach the record-breaking total of 11,000,000 bales.

On the rise March contracts here sold at 13.94 cents; May, 14.18 cents; July, 14.37 cents; October, 14 5-8 cents, and next December delivery about 14.80 cents, new high levels since the first week in October. Consideration of this following a sharp reaction in the late trading at Liverpool caused so much local profit-taking and fresh southern selling the market broke during the second and third hours 23 to 27 points from the top, with March going back to 13.69 cents; May, 13.92 cents; July, 14.14 cents; October, 14.36 cents, and December about 14.50 cents, from which there were only slight rallies in the later trading.

At Liverpool spot cotton was up 6 points from Friday's prices to 7 3-4d per pound there for middling. Futures at one time showed an extreme advance of 7 to 10 of their points over their closing prices of Friday, but broke later and closed barely steady at a net decline of 3 to 4 points on the day from Friday's final prices.

Why Recommend a Particular

bond

BONDS FOR INVESTMENT must be selected to fulfill exact personal requirements. Out of a large number of good, sound bonds on our present list we do not advise that a purchaser indiscriminately select any one or more of the bonds offered.

Here is the reason: No two individuals have exactly the same condition surrounding their own personal affairs. One man may already have the majority of his estate in a particular industry or a single locality. Another bond in the same industry or locality is unwise. He needs diversity.

Income taxes, the provisions of an investor's will, the amount of income from salary, what he already owns—these are important factors to be considered in the selection of additional bonds. That's why we make the extra effort to find out what an investor needs before we recommend a particular bond.

Dated February 1, 1927 — Due Serially Feb. 1, 1930 to 1942, Incl.

Principal and semi-annual interest (February 1 and August 1) payable at the head office of California Bank, Los Angeles, without deduction for the Normal Federal Income Tax, which tax up to 2% per annum the Company agrees to pay. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1000 and $500; registerable as to principal at the head office of the Trustee; callable in whole or in part after 30 days' published notice, on any interest payment date at 103 and accrued interest.

CALIFORNIA TRUST COMPANY, LOS ANGELES, TRUSTEE

IN OPINION OF COUNSEL, EXEMPT FROM PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX IN CALIFORNIA

Mr. Harrold English, President, has summarized as follows concerning the company and this bond issue:

BUSINESS AND PROPERTY: Wm. H. Anderson, Inc., is a California corporation recently organized to acquire a 99-year lease running to the year 2026, covering a lot having a frontage of approximately 60 ft., with a depth of about 165 ft., on the West side of Grand Avenue between Fifth and Sixth Streets, Los Angeles. The company proposes to erect immediately on this property a limit height 13-story and basement, Class "A" reinforced concrete hotel building to be known as the Mayflower Hotel.

BUILDING AND LOCATION: The hotel is to contain 348 guest rooms, each with bath; a spacious lobby, coffee shop and restaurant. The building site is ideally located as it adjoins the grounds of the Los Angeles Public Library on the South, thus assuring to hotel patrons unlimited light and air and an approach and surroundings equalled by few of the City's downtown hotels. In the immediate neighborhood and within easy walking distance are the Biltmore Hotel and Theatre, the exclusive West Seventh Street shopping district, and many of the principal clubs, theatres and office buildings.

OPERATING LEASE: The entire building has been leased for 25 years from date of completion to the Mayflower Hotel Company. The lease calls for annual rentals of $120,000 and requires furnishings and equipment to be installed by the Lessee at a cost of not less than $150,000. Net income to be derived from this lease, after deduction of ground rent and operating expense, should approximate $66,000, or over twice the maximum annual interest requirements of this issue.

SECURITY: These bonds will be secured by a closed first mortgage on the leasehold estate which will include the before mentioned limit-height, thirteen story, class "A," reinforced, concrete building, representing an investment of at least $870,000, including carrying charges, and the ninety-nine year lease also mentioned which has been appraised by the Los Angeles Realty Board as of February 1, 1927, at $119,712. The total values pledged as security for these bonds will thus be in excess of $985,000. The amount necessary to construct the building over and above the proceeds of these bonds will be supplied through sale of the company's capital stock to Major William H. Anderson of New York and Manila, who will own all of the outstanding stock except directors' qualifying shares. All construction funds are to be deposited with and disbursed by the Trustee. A Contractor's 100% Faithful Performance Bond, issued by the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, will be deposited with the Trustee guaranteeing completion of the building in accordance with the plans and specifications, free and clear of all liens and claims for labor and material. A Policy of Title Insurance in the amount of $500,000 issued by the Title Insurance and Trust Company is to be deposited with the Trustee for the benefit and protection of bondholders.

LEGALITY AND INSURANCE: All legal procedure in connection with this issue is being conducted and approved by Messrs. Musick, Burr & Pinney, Attorneys, Los Angeles, California. The company covenants to maintain at all times adequate insurance in accordance with the terms of the Trust Indenture securing these bonds.

MATURITIES

What 1926-1927 Grain Season Offers to You!

"Will this season's crop be bountiful, or will there be just barely enough grain to go around?"

The world's situation as it exists today is causing considerable apprehension among the grain trade. Private and government estimates have been published. But what does true analysis of these reports indicate?

What you want to know now is whether grain should be bought immediately, or should purchases be deferred until later on? Your profits depend upon this question. You do not want to be wrong, if there is a chance of being right.

FORECASTS—

What They Mean to You

An expert scientific analysis of world's conditions, as well as other factors on which rise or fall of prices depend, does forecast the ultimate outcome. Such analysis tells whether immediate purchase is advisable, and a forecast predicated on fundamental premises can be depended upon. For example:

Just about a year ago price of our wheat was ruling around $1.75 to $1.90 per bushel. A great bull market was on. The market was very active, but suddenly prices began to fall. It developed that our prices had mounted to a level which placed our markets above a world's parity. Our export sales fell off. Supplies could be had from other countries in sufficient quantities at lower prices.

But, while such developments were only natural, many of the trade were caught napping by the sudden change, and thus, having loaded up at top prices, lost on the decline. However, because of thirty-five years in grain trading, I not only had sensed developments which caused the advance in price but also the subsequent development which caused the decline. Naturally, some wonderful profits were offered by my service.

Now an opportunity is offered to you to secure forecast on the ultimate grain outcome for the 1926-27 season. If you want to know whether grain should be purchased immediately, or whether to defer purchases, accept at once the opportunity which I now offer to you.

Send for FREE Copy of Bulletin and Book—35 Years in Grain Trading

In order to acquaint you with my service free copy of my Weekly Bulletin and also book 35 Years in Grain Trading will be sent to you upon request. Accept this offer at once. My forecasts of coming movements in grain enjoy a remarkable reputation for being right and attend the trade.

If you really want to know what the 1926-27 grain season offers to you, send for free copy of my Weekly Bulletin and book 35 Years in Grain Trading right away. You incur no obligation. Simply fill out coupon and mail it to me today. Better do it now.

Wheat Market Off Following Early Advance

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (Resinetve)—Short interest in the wheat market had apparently been materially reduced as the result of the recent upturn, and while the market was fractionally higher at the start in sympathy with Liverpool, prices dropped 1¼@1½c from the high, with May touching 1.39⅝ on the break, and the finish was ⅝@1¼c lower, with May 1.39⅝@1.40, July 1.34 and September 1.31⅝@1.32.

Other grains were influenced by the action of wheat, with corn ⅝@⅞c lower at the last, May 1.04@1.04¼, July 84¼ and September 80¼. Oats lost ¼@½c, with May 46@46¼, July 44⅝@44¾ and September 43¼, while rye was off 1¼@1½c, with May 1.08⅜, July 1.09⅝ and September 99⅝.

Lack of support was very apparent in wheat as soon as the market started downward. Many local operators were long over the holiday, and when houses with northwestern and foreign connections started to sell there was a general movement under way to unload, and the decline was easily attained. Buying against bids was a factor in checking the decline, although around 1.40 for May commission houses took hold on scale orders, the same as has been the case for some time past. Outside interest remains limited. Part of the selling of futures here was credited to Winnipeg account, but that market failed to reflect the decline here and lost only ⅝@¾c, as compared with Friday's finish.

Highly beneficial rain and snow was reported in Kansas and Nebraska, and the forecast indicated more over night. Export demand was low, with sales of 600,000 to 700,000 bushels in all positions, largely Manitobas.

Trade in corn was not large and mainly of a local character, with sellers of bids forced to protect themselves toward the last, and the finish was at the low point. Break in wheat and the slow demand for the poorer grades of cash corn on truck, the basis being in lower, had some effect on sentiment, but in the main the action of the market was due largely to local operations. Country offerings to arrive were not large, with 30,000 bushels booked by Chicago handlers. In the visible supply there was an increase of 1,892,000 bushels, making the total 45,870,000 bushels, against 51,181,000 bushels last year. Buenos Aires finished 1@1¼c lower, with March 61¼ and May 62⅛.

Cash interests were on the selling side of oats, and the undertone was easy. There was buying of May and selling of July at ⅝c difference. Scattered Houltbation was on in rye, and it showed independent weakness as compared with wheat. The seaboard reported a little export business with the continent.

Provision market showed a distinctly heavy undertone, and while there was buying of lard early by houses with eastern connections, the close was at the bottom, with net losses of 12½@15c. Ribs were off 40@50c and bellies 30c. Packing interests and fired longs were sellers early, and toward the last scattered Houltbation was on.

PRODUCE MARKET

(U. S. Bureau of Markets.)

Fresh offerings were limited and trading was rather light on the wholesale market yesterday morning. Apples showed but little change from last week's closing prices. Cabbage was stronger and Brussels sprouts weaker. Lettuce trading was light and the market fairly well cleaned. All other lines showed little or no change over Friday's prices.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Buying in the bond market today failed to develop any great momentum and price movements were irregular. There was evidence that the large volume of new offerings during the first forty days of 1926 has satisfied, at least temporarily, the unusual investment demand.

The greater interest today was in the industrial division, in which several issues were given good support. Granby Consolidated 7s furnished a feature by scoring a 6-point advance, and there was considerable demand for Liquid Carbonic 6s, Wickwire-Spencer Steel 7s and Dominion Iron and Steel Convertible 7s.

Quiet prevailed in the rail group, high grade issues being the least sought after. The little activity present was in International Great Northern 6s, and Peoria and Eastern 4s.

Foreign bonds continued sluggish, particularly those of European origin. Mexican issues, however, displayed moderate strength and Holland American 7s attracted attention.

Demand for Federal government obligations was limited and price movements were mixed. The Treasury 4 1-4s, however, gave a good account of themselves.

Approximately $28,000,000 par value in outstanding 6 and 7 per cent bonds of the Interstate Power Company are to be retired shortly by virtue of the company's $20,000,000 new issue recently marketed. A new offering of $3,000,000 Agricultural Mortgage Bank, Republic of Colombia, guaranteed 20-year 7 per cent sinking fund gold bonds will be made tomorrow.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transactions, zeros in omitted when same as low, and both low and close when same as high.

DIVIDEND NEWS BRINGS ADVANCE

such action. Publication of Baldwin's annual report, showing over $22 a share earned on the common last year, as against a deficit the year before, brought a flood of new buying orders into the equipments, although Baldwin itself was held back by profit-taking. Money rates continued easy, despite the calling of about $10,000,000 in loans in connection with midmonth requirements. Brokers' loans reported by the New York Federal Reserve Bank showed a further shrinkage of $9,423,000 last week.

STEEL BOUGHT

Heavy accumulation of United States Steel common, which advanced over 2 points to within a fraction of the record high price for all time established last year, following soon after the announcement of a sharp drop in January unfilled orders, was interpreted in some quarters as foreshadowing a stiffening price tendency for steel products, recent weakness of which has caused widespread concern. Steel mill operations are being maintained at a relatively high level. Gulf States Steel was marked up over 4 points and closed within a point of the top, while Youngstown climbed 2½ and Republic 1 3-4. Crucible touched the highest price since 1922.

Some of the buying in General Motors, which advanced over 3 points, undoubtedly was influenced by the compliment paid to that company by William C. Durant, automobile manufacturer and stock market operator. Electric Refrigeration, another industry that Mr. Durant said he was bullish on, was marked up 3 points on reports of a sharp increase in sales. Among the score or so issues to touch new prices since 1925, or longer, were International Harvester, Union Carbide, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Press Steel Car, Loew's, Purity Baking A and B, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Freeport Texas.

HIGHS SCORED

New Haven and Peoria and Eastern touched new highs in the railroad group. Western Maryland issues were again in good demand, but there were only a few sales of Wheeling and Lake Erie common around $60 a share, a drop of about 70 points below the record high established less than a week ago.

Call money held at 4 per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

The principal commodity markets drifted to lower levels. Active wheat futures yielded a fraction of a cent a bushel and cotton declined 10 to 14 points.

Foreign exchanges held fairly steady. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.84 3-4 and French francs around 3.93 cents.

PROBLEM FACED BY TREASURY

step in the plan, and reissue suitable short-term notes and short-term bonds that bear convenient optional and maturity dates. It is reckoned that the Treasury will devise a balanced program for financing or refunding the issues now outstanding until the 3½s, first 4s and first 4 1-4s become available for treatment in 1932. It would be a coincidence, of course, if the Treasury should adopt any plan that might now be worked out in every detail, but the probability is whatever scheme is evolved that it will be one flexible enough in its nature to allow for a variety of changes that might easily occur.

That the debt will be extinguished in 1949 and not earlier or later is, of course, purely an assumption. It is the year indicated for debt extinction on the basis of sinking fund and foreign debt repayments that now appear reasonably assured. If foreign debt repayments do not come in as expected, however, a longer period would be required to wipe out the war debt. It would be extinguished by 1957 through payments from the sinking fund alone. On the other hand if both the sinking fund and foreign debt repayments come in as expected and larger amounts are made available over the course of years through Treasury surpluses, an extinction of the public debt might come before 1949.

As the statistician at C. F. Childs & Co., himself says, "facts, promises, and modifications of expectancies, coupled with future money rates, all will enter into the unprophesiable 'picture' but the known factors are more tangible."

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The bank stocks were the dominating feature of trading on the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange, with Rancitaly Corporation establishing a new high at 107½, closing at 106¾, advancing 2 points on sales of over 9600 shares, while the rights advanced to 3.05, closing at 2.95, a net gain of 90 cents, with a turnover of 31,000 rights. Bank of Italy registered a new high at 69¾, advancing 5 points, with a volume of 655 shares. American Trust soared 10 points to 365, a new peak.

Honolulu Oil rose 1¾ points to 48. Standard and Shell Union both gained ¼.

Pacific Gas common broke to a new low at 21¼, off ¼. Caterpillar Tractor was exceptionally active, reacting ¾ to 37¾.

Total sales: Bonds, $2000; stocks, 57,121 shares of $1,413,176 market value.

Sales yesterday on the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange, furnished by Logan & Bryan, 628 South Spring street.

TOO BUSY TO BOTHER With MORTGAGES?

AN INVESTOR says, "Mortgages are considered the best form of investment. Yet most of us are untrained in the business of handling them and are too busy to give the time necessary for properly caring for them. By owning Insured First Mortgage Certificates I received good return and insured safety without the work and anxiety of investing in separate mortgages."

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Price movements in today's curb market again lacked uniformity, but major speculative interest was on the upside. Trading was slightly broader in volume due to increased pool activities, but public participation was still on a relatively small scale.

Pipe line shares again led the advance in the oil group, Prairie touching a new top at 148. Standard Oil of Indiana improved fractionally, but the other active producing and refining issues showed narrow and irregular changes. Transcontinental Oil preferred soared over 6 points to a new top at 70 on reports of substantially increased earnings, leading to the belief that the accumulation of dividends will soon be wiped out, probably through payment in common stock.

A sudden demand for Durant Motor which carried that stock up nearly 2 points to above $8 a share overshadowed all other developments in the motor group. Ford of Canada jumped 5 points on a few sales and Auburn touched a new high at 96. The new Pullman stock was admitted to trading, selling between 75 1-4 and 76½. Selling pressure was lifted from Rand Kardex common and the stock rallied a point. Union and United Tobacco jumped 3½ points on a few sales.

Bancitaly continued its steady rise by touching a new peak at 106½, up 2½ points. Lehigh Coal and Navigation jumped 5 points on one sale, and Glen Alden dropped 3½. Public utilities were quiet with prices inclined to drift lower.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

OIL NEWS

BY ROBERT J. PRITCHARD

One of the most interesting, and in some respects unusual, ordinances for the regulation of oil well drilling is that which is now under consideration by the city of Long Beach in anticipation of developments in Alamitos Heights as a result of the Petroleum Securities Company's discovery of oil sand in its Naples well.

The Naples well is not in the Alamitos Heights subdivision proper, but is within a few hundred feet of it, and its success will affect Alamitos Heights directly. There is a drilling restriction in effect in the Alamitos Heights district, but its legal status is in doubt, and it is generally regarded as certain of revocation in the event of the development of oil in commercial quantities.

The Long Beach City Council has authorized the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance permitting drilling in Alamitos Heights, but with certain provisions designed to guarantees that no derrick shall be erected without being put into immediate and continuous operation until the well is completed or abandoned, after which all drilling and pumping equipment is to be removed without delay. The provisions designate the minimum number of men to be employed, set fifteen days as the maximum time a well may stand cemented, and declares that failure to produce an average of forty barrels a day for sixty consecutive days, or an average of 10,000 cubic feet of gas, is to be considered a cessation of operations.

An interesting provision is the fee of $500 required for a permit to build a derrick. This contrasts with the fee required by the city of Huntington Beach which raised the ante from $12 per derrick to $120, and when this was protested, cut it to $50 per derrick.

Near Completion

The Mariand Oil Company has two wells on the verge of completion in the Seal Beach field, either or both of which may go on production today or tomorrow. These are Bixby No. 6, which made a casing test yesterday, and drilled out the plug last night for a production test today. Bottom of this well is at 4460 with eight-inch water string set at 4432 feet.

Bixby No. 8, which is an offset to the Associated Oil Company's Bryant No. 1 is coring ahead in oil sand at about 4490 feet, after getting a water shutoff at 4338 feet. The well will be completed at about 4600 feet.

Leasers Active

Whether or not the San Martinez Oil Company has picked up the shallow sand in its test well at Ninth and Ocean avenue on the east side of the townlot area at Huntington Beach, the rumors concerning it during the past week have caused an active traffic in leases, at bonuses which are said to be as high as $2000 a lot. One such deal occurred at the corner of Tenth street and Ocean avenue, adjoining the lease of the Biltmore Oil Company, where two lots were leased by Thomas Potter of Pasadena, with a bonus of $2000 each.

As for the San Martinez well itself, reports from Huntington Beach indicate that whatever its showings may have been, the well is to be drilled on down to the deeper zones without a test of the 3200-foot showings. In the western part of the field the first zone was rather a disappointment, the real production coming from a lower sand.

Johnson Sets Casing

George W. Johnson has set ten-inch casing in his wildcat well east of Piru, according to field reports. The pipe was set at 2797 feet, where the first oil showing was found. The cores taken are said to be similar to the showings found by the Wickham well drilled by the Mariand Oil Company last year, a few hundred feet distant, but the Johnson well is supposed to be better located.

Gets Small Well

The Standard Oil Company has brought in, its No. 29 well in the Midway field with an initial production of about 180 barrels a day, according to officials of the company. Bottom is at 3226 feet.

A.P.I. Production Figures

The American Petroleum Institute estimates that the daily average gross crude oil production in the United States for the week ended the 5th inst. was 2,402,400 barrels as compared with 2,370,350 barrels for the preceding week, an increase of 32,050 barrels. The daily average production east of California was 1,765,900 barrels, as compared with 1,723,850 barrels, an increase of 32,950 barrels.

In California, Santa Fe Springs is reported at 45,500 barrels, no change; Long Beach, 93,000 barrels, no change; Huntington Beach, 89,000 barrels against 90,000 barrels; Torrance 25,000 barrels, no change; Dominguez, 19,000 barrels against 18,500 barrels; Rosecrans, 12,500 barrels, no change; Inglewood 56,000 barrels against 58,500 barrels; Midway Sunset, 90,500 barrels, no change; Ventura avenue, 56,100 barrels against 51,700 barrels, and Seal Beach, 11,900 barrels against 10,200 barrels.

Imports of Petroleum

According to figures collected by the American Petroleum Institute, imports of petroleum at the principal ports for the month of January totaled 5,562,000 barrels, a daily average of 179,419 barrels, compared with 5,511,000 barrels, a daily average of 177,774 barrels for the month of December.

Imports at the principal United States ports for the week ended the 5th inst. totaled 1,163,000 barrels, a daily average of 166,143 barrels, compared with 1,358,000 barrels, a daily average of 194,000 barrels for the week ended January 29.

Receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the month of January totaled 2,206,000 barrels, a daily average of 71,161 barrels, compared with 2,406,000 barrels, a daily average of 77,613 barrels for the month of December.

Receipts at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the week ended the 5th inst. totaled 1,236,000 barrels, a daily average of 189,429 barrels, against 390,000 barrels, a daily average of 55,714 barrels for the week ended January 29.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Active demand developed for yesterday's moderate supply and a good clearance was made. The big bulk only of the run came from the intermountain States, while the balance came from California and Arizona. The stock showed no increase in number over a week ago and the yesterday's run was about evenly divided between she stock and steers. Steers sold readily at generally strong to 10c higher prices, while good cows and heifers held fully steady with the lower grades on a weak basis. All cutters sold fairly well at about steady prices, while bulls ruled firm.

Two cars of good 1215-pound northern steers topped at $ 8.25, while a five-car string of 1121-pound Nevadas brought 8.10. The bulk of other good steers went over from $ 7.75@8.00, while medium kinds turned mostly from $ 6.00@6.50, with a few lots of common kinds from $ 4.00@7.50.

A part load of 955-pound heifers topped at 7.60, while a load of 1026-pound northern cows made 7.00. Three cars of weighty northern cows realized 7.00, while about fifteen cars of the stock, mostly cows, turned from $ 6.00@7.00. Other cows and heifers were fairly numerous from $ 5.00@6.00, while common and low medium kinds cashed from $ 3.00@4.25, mostly $ 3.25@4.15 for Arizona cows. Cutters turned from $ 4.00@4.75, with low cutters down to $ 3.00 and below. Good bulls sold mostly from $ 4.50@5.75, bringing a load of 1764-pound weights at $ 5.50, while sealper kinds sold from $ 4.00@4.25, with common bulls down to $ 3.00.

CALVES—The moderate supply was cleaned up readily at generally steady prices. Several lots of good and choice mills vealers cashed from $ 7.50@8.50, while plainer kinds sold down to $ 7.00 and below. A few lots of choice calves sold up to $ 7.90, with good kinds around $ 7.00, while the bulk of calves, 373 to 550-pound weights, turned from $ 6.00@7.50, with common kinds down to $ 5.00. A load of common 169-pound California vealers made $ 5.00.

HOGS—Fairly active demand cleaned up yesterday's supply on the morning session at generally 25@40c higher prices. The extreme top was $ 6.85, paid for two loads of 185-pound weights, while the bulk of butchers, averaging from 190 to 250 pounds, went over from $ 6.60@6.80, mostly $ 6.80 and $ 6.85. A load and a half of 198 and 243-pound Northern California butchers went over for $ 6.40 and $ 6.50. The few packing sows offered cashed from $ 5.00@5.40.

SHEEP—Yesterday's mixed supply of lambs cleared at about steady prices. Two decks of choice 77-pound Utahs made $ 8.00, with a 19 per cent cent at $ 8.50, while a part deck of choice 95-pound weights also made $ 8.00. A deck of common 73-pound lambs made $ 6.25, with a few culls at $ 5.00. Small lots of 120 to 150-pound wethers sold from $ 4.00@5.00, with odd head of lambs from $ 6.00@7.00.

SALESMAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

Joseph Lees, who described himself as a salesman, was arrested last night in his home at 1823 South Bonnie Brae street on the charge of suspicion of grand larceny preferred by C. P. Nelson, of 5594 Klump street, Lankershim. Nelson told Detective Lieutenants Edwards and Davis that Lees defrauded him of $600 worth of stock by giving him in exchange a large amount of worthless securities. Lees is being held in the City Jail pending further investigation.

DETROIT BASEBALL PLAYER DIVORCED

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Mervyn J. Shea, baseball player, was granted a divorce today from Clothine Shea on grounds of desertion. He charged in his complaint that while he was away with the Sacramento team last summer his wife said she was tired of married life and went to San Francisco. He has not seen her since that time, he said. Shea was represented in court by Attorney Claude Rohrer of Dixon, a former team-mate. Shea is the property of the Detroit club of the American League, having been acquired from Sacramento.

RARE JADE PIECES ARRIVE AT MUSEUM

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—A collection of Chinese archaic jades, many of the 636 carved pieces representing types heretofore unknown and made from a material no longer obtainable, has passed into possession of the Field Museum. A majority of the carvings are from the earliest period, having been exhumed from graves of the Chang and Chou dynasties.

TELEPHONE TACTICS CHANGED; REPORT 'WRONG NUMBER' NOW

Read this and save yourself money.

When a telephone central girl connects you with a "wrong number" tell her about it before you call again. When after dialing a number you discover you are talking to some one you never heard of before, don't hang up in disgust, but notify the central girl.

Telephone users in the Main, Broadway, Dunkirk and Fitzroy telephone exchange districts no longer can hear the central girls repeat their numbers and only a polite "thank you" has taken the place of number repeating with the result, according to some subscribers, that wrong numbers are becoming more frequent.

Yesterday from Division Traffic Superintendent Manning it was learned that the telephone company has instructed operators in the four districts to discontinue the calling back of numbers as an experiment conducted with the view of speeding up traffic over the telephone lines.

According to Mr. Manning the company is keeping a close check of results of the experiment and may discontinue the calling back of numbers in all the exchanges. Mr. Manning declared the percentage of wrong numbers has not increased in the exchange districts where the experiment is being tried and also stated that where a meter service is being paid for, the operator should always be notified when a wrong number has been received by the subscriber.. In every instance, even where the fault is with the subscriber, the telephone company, Mr. Manning declared, will connect the corrected call free of charge.

Patterson to See Daughter in "Miracle"

Capt. Joseph Medill Patterson, playwright, author and co-editor and co-publisher of the New York Daily News, Liberty Magazine and the Chicago Daily Tribune, will arrive in Los Angeles today with his daughter, Alicia to visit friends and to witness the performance of his elder daughter, Elinor, in "The Miracle." It will be the first time that Alicia has seen her sister on the stage.

Capt. Patterson originally was opposed strongly to his daughter's selection of a stage career, finally granting his consent when Morris Gest offered her a part in his present production. Gest and Patterson have been intimate friends since the latter collaborated in the writing of the "Fourth Estate," generally acclaimed the best play ever built around the problems of newspaper work.

Capt. Patterson attended his daughter's stage debut in Philadelphia, but is said to be anxious to observe for himself her development as an actress in the months that have followed. Critics have been outspoken in their approval of her stage interpretations here and in San Francisco.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN'S FUNERAL TOMORROW

Funeral services for Eugene W. Rice, Civil War veteran and retired banker of Sioux City, Iowa, who came here in 1910, will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., from the Inglewood Park Cemetery chapel. Mr. Rice died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elmira Rice Hunter, 335 East Spruce street, Inglewood. Mr. Rice left the study of law to answer the call of President Lincoln and when he was mustered out he engaged in business in Sioux City. His death was attributed to the infirmities of advanced age. He leaves, besides Mrs. Hunter, a son, Eugene Boardman Rice of Denver, Colo., and four grandchildren.

EARLY-DAY SETTLER OF CITY GONE

P. W. McStay, Old-Timer and Founder of Whittier, Dies at Home Here

Peter W. McStay, 80 years of age, father of Carl E. McStay, field secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California, died yesterday morning at the family home, 3090 East Fifth street. He had been ill following a breakdown after the death of his wife December 28, last.

PETER W. McSTAY

Mr. McStay came to this city with his family in 1894. What is known as the old Thomas place, an 80-acre tract at Figueroa and Jefferson streets, was occupied by the family after their arrival. At that time it was surrounded for blocks by barley fields.

Mr. McStay was one of the three founders of the town of Whittier in 1886. He and his family lived in the first house built there, which was on the old Thomas ranch in the center of a great grain field.

Mr. McStay was born in Watertown, N. Y., and as a boy went to Waterloo, Iowa. In 1873 he came west and for some years was with the Comstock mines in Nevada. He went to Alaska in the gold rush of 1897 and spent five years there. He had prospected from Alaska to Mexico and was well-known among the mining fraternity. At the time of his death he was head of the McStay Machinery Company, which was founded in 1902 as the McStay Supply Company.

The funeral will be tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the W. A. Brown undertaking parlors, 1815 South Flower street. Interment will be in the family plot in Rosedale Cemetery.

ESTATE LEFT TO SON

An estate worth $176,908, yielding an annual income of $12,507, was left by Mrs. Elsa J. Bouton, who died January 28, last, according to a petition for the probate of her will filed yesterday. It all is devised to her son, Edward Bouton, Jr., 1827 Oak street, except for bequests to three sisters, totaling $5000.

MOUNTAIN'S CONQUEROR RECOGNIZED

Legislature of Wyoming Decides Angeleno First to Scale Grand Teton

Officially settling a controversy that has waged for about thirty years, the nineteenth session of the Wyoming Legislature has decided after a review of all the evidence, that W. O. Owen, a resident of Los Angeles for the past fifteen years, with his party was the first to climb to the top of the Grand Teton Peak, according to a telegram received by Mr. Owen yesterday.

W. O. OWEN.

Mr. Owen and his party, consisting of the late Bishop Frank Spaulding, Frank L. Petersen and Frank Shive on August 11, 1898, climbed the mountain, the ascent and descent requiring seventeen hours to cover a total distance of five miles from their camp.

At the top they built a monument and fixed the painted metal flag of the Rocky Mountain Club and left their record of the ascent.

The peak is located in Northwestern Wyoming in Teton county.

Prior to their ascent it had been reported that Capt. N. P. Langford, first superintendent of the Yellowstone National Park, accompanied by James Stevenson, chief of a field division of the United States Geological Survey, had reached the top of the peak on July 29, 1872.

The Owen party decided that if they reached the top they would make a diligent search for any record of a prior ascent.

The peak has an elevation of 12,747 feet above sea level and the upper area did not fit the description as given by Mr. Langford, Mr. Owen declared.

At the time he and his party made the ascent, Mr. Owen was Auditor of the State of Wyoming. He has been in government service for forty years. He came to Los Angeles in 1902 and retired from government service in 1924.

ONE regret and one only marred the nuptials of Josephine Williams and Karl Otto Klein yesterday.

"If I only had brought my panorama camera" sighed a newspaper photographer.

Aside from that every one was happy in Judge Westover's chambers. Of course the quarters were a little cramped, because judges' chambers are not designed with the space demands of 555-pound brides in view, but by standing the bridesmaid and the groomsman in corners and allowing the reporters to spill out through the door into the courtroom the affair was managed.

The bride, known in the profession as Jolly Josephine, spends forty weeks a year on a raised platform in the side show of the Al G. Barnes circus. The bridegroom, who weighs about a quarter as much as his new spouse, plans to abandon the automobile painting profession to its fate and devote himself hereafter to attendance upon Jolly Josephine, it was announced.

"This started out to be an elopement but the fellow we had hired for the occasion wouldn't try to get his truck and dolly over the roads in this rain," explained F. W. Chaddick, who served in the dual role of best man and press agent for the event.

So immediately after the license was issued the bridal party proceeded downstairs to Judge Westover's courtroom to the accompaniment of a wedding march of groaning timbers.

The bride is 22 years of age and the bridegroom 24, according to the marriage license application.

Brig.-Gen. Butler Gives Marines Inspection Here

Brig.-Gen. Butler "told it" to his marines yesterday when he inspected them and their equipment at the Y.M.C.A. here during a brief stopover before departing for San Francisco and way points on a tour of observation.

He was snappy and to the point, arriving early in the morning from his headquarters at San Diego and leaving on the 6:05 p.m. train for the north, but cramming the day with instructions to his hundred-odd Devil Dogs in Los Angeles on guard over mails arriving at and leaving the Arcade station.

Gen. Butler will return to the city for further inspection next Saturday.

NEW STORM MOVES INLAND IN WAKE OF DRENCHING

Near-Cloudburst at San Fernando; Downfall Brings Season's Total to 11.04 Inches

With another low-pressure area off the coast of California moving slowly inland, more rain for today and possibly tomorrow was indicated last night, according to Col. H. B. Hersey, in charge of the local office of the United States Weather Bureau. The prediction was "partly cloudy, unsettled weather Tuesday and Wednesday, with possible showers."

Yesterday's rain, which was practically a continuation of Sunday's storm, measured 1.64 inches for the twenty-four hours. This made a total of 2.53 inches for the storm and brought the season's total rainfall to 11.04 inches.

At this time last year Los Angeles had 9.39 inches. The normal rainfall total for this time of year is 9.66 inches.

The rain yesterday was general all over California, extending somewhat below the border, but not up into Oregon or Washington.

Considering the duration of the storm and the amount of rain falling, damage reported was remarkably small. This was due to the fact that there were let-ups between heavy showers, giving the water a chance to run off. In some places, however, the rainfall reached almost cloudburst proportions, causing minor floods, washouts and landslides.

WASHES AT FLOOD STAGE

In the higher mountain reaches the rain turned to snow, which saved the lowlands from being inundated, as what would otherwise have been a heavy and fast run-off. Even as it was, such washes as the San Gabriel reached flood stage about midafternoon yesterday. At 5 p.m., according to the information at the Edison power plant at the mouth of San Gabriel Canyon, the river was running about 60,000 inches of water, the highest it has been this season. The level began to fall about 6 p.m. So fast did the flood come down the river that an automobile parked near the bank of the river near the mouth of the canyon was cut off and was abandoned on an island. The road up the canyon was cut off in several places by heavy landslides.

LANDSLIDE HALTS TRAFFIC

A heavy landslide came down on the Verdugo Road, cutting traffic off from between Glendale and the Crescenta Valley towns. The roadway was buried in places by earth from four to eight feet deep. The slide occurred just south of the old Glendale city park. Traffic was being routed over Canada Boulevard. A gang of men was ready to be put to work by Street Foreman Fairall of Glendale.

Supports to the bridge over the entrance to Eagle Rock Canyon were so weakened that police detoured traffic by way of Highland Park.

San Fernando Valley points reported extremely heavy rainfalls with areas flooded and streets running deep with water. A near cloudburst was reported at San Fernando proper at about 1:30 p.m. The rain came down in torrents for about fifteen minutes. Many of the streets were running like rivers. Porter avenue, the main business street, was inundated with water rippling on the sidewalk. None of the stores suffered damage, however. At First street and Alexander avenue, in the residential district, the water was the deepest.

Tyrone avenue, Van Nuys, was running like a millrace, and Van Nuys Boulevard was also flooded.

DAM STEMS FLOOD

The Pacoima and Tujunga washes were running torrents of water, but no damage was reported. The Pacoima dam, in course of construction, was holding back a great quantity of water.

The footbridge alongside the new Dayton-avenue bridge over the river was swept out and damage to the new work amounted to about $2000.

Redlands reported heavy rains, with ten and twelve inches of snow in the mountains at Oak Glen and Seven Oaks.

At Pomona heavy rainfall which has fallen steadily over the week-end brought much benefit to Pomona Valley and little damage reported.

CREEK OVERFLOWS

At the mouth of San Antonio Canyon nearly the entire flow of San Antonio Creek was being spread over a vast acreage to seep underground

Rainfall Figures

Following is the rainfall, in inches, reported from various Southern California points up to 6 p.m. yesterday with the exception of Los Angeles, where an unofficial reading was taken at 11 p.m.:

	Storm.	Season.	Last Year.
Los Angeles	2.53	11.04	9.39
Alhambra	3.79	14.79	10.05

HASTE URGED IN DRAIN CASE

Council Due for Legal Opinion on Course Today; Gadd Waives Delay Granted by Court

Action on the $1,072,000 assessments for the West Adams-street storm drain, paving and related improvements was yesterday postponed by the City Council until 11 o'clock this morning to await a written opinion from City Attorney Stephens as to the procedure the City Council should now follow as a result of the Supreme Court decision against Peter R. Gadd, the contractor, and in favor of the city's right to investigate the books and the bill of costs for it and if the Council desires, to revise and reduce the assessments.

The point at issue in the case, which has been pending since July 12, when the work was completed, was the $298,095 bill of "extras" on the storm drain, which was in addition to the $267,000 contract bid for the drain.

Assistant City Attorney Whitehead told the Council that it should now expedite the proceedings, as a matter of fairness to the contractor who has been waiting for his money for seven months. He said that the City Attorney would advise that the Council as a whole and not the Council's Public Works Committee conduct the hearings on the matter now to be held, as, he said, the Act of 1911 specifically states that the Council should make an investigation of this kind.

Attorney Asa V. Call, representing Contractor Gadd, said that in the interest of expediting the final decision, the contractor and his attorneys had the Superior Court dismiss the temporary injunction the contractor obtained stopping the Council's investigation and had also waived his right to a thirty-day delay so that the Supreme Court decision takes effect at once, and all legal obstacles to the Council's acting on the matter have been removed.

Heaviest Flow This Year Reported

Photograph shows flood scene in the San Gabriel River below the Foothill Boulevard bridge. It was estimated that the river was running about 60,000 miner's inches of water. This is the heaviest flow of water in the San Gabriel section this year.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE horse show this year was the best one I ever attended.

But there was this and that about it which filled me with sadness.

Principally this: Every year Los Angeles becomes more like New York and less like California. The old flavor is fast going.

Barring the fact that you didn't freeze in the boxes, you might have been in Madison Square Garden.

COW PONIES

I noticed this especially in the exhibition of the cow ponies which came at the end of the show. To me it was very interesting to see those wise little trained range horses pulling back on the imaginary roped steer, twisting and turning, whirling on their very haunches.

Now it may have been other nights, I can't say; but the night I went the audience yawned and started for the doors when the vaqueros in the stock saddles came in.

STYLISH, B' GOSH

It will be a great pity if park saddles and bobtail horses with fancy dancing feet drive the old swinging, graceful seat of the range riders into oblivion.

Miss Bebe Daniels, who is a California girl, has promised me by the great horn spoon and all other heathen gods that she will ride Mexican saddles until she is so old she has to be lifted on. But I suspect even her.

OUR ARMY RIDERS

A great feature of this year's show at the Ambassador were the cavalrymen who rode the military jumpers.

It is interesting to see the change in the seat and horsemanship that has come into the cavalry since the old border days.

I dare say that these young West Pointers who have taken postgraduate work in horsemanship at Fort Riley are the finest riders in the world. And it is more than just riding.

The modern American school of equitation has taken the best from all the great riders of the world—Cossack, Italian, French and English.

LONG-EARED MULES

There was nothing in the show more interesting to me than the mules in the contest between the covered army wagons. Just as there never was an uninteresting Chinaman; just so there never was an uninteresting mule.

A horse always seems to be a part of his rider; but, as Mr. Kipling has observed, "a battery mule's a mule."

A horse wobbles, psychologically, between unreasonable terrors and a desire to please the two-legged animal sitting on his back. A mule has his own ideas. That's why they use mules on difficult mountain paths. He can't be forced to depart from the dictates of his own judgment.

A MORTIFYING INCIDENT

An old cavalryman who was of our party tells me that a mule is—except for the whims of fashion—the ideal saddle animal. He responds to kindness—on the rare occasions when he gets it—even to the extent of allowing liberties to be taken with his heels.

At one of the great army shows a retired cavalry colonel filled the whole outfit with blushing mortification by entering the high-bar jumping contests on a long-eared mule. He won from all comers with ridiculous ease.

Burglar Tools Clews in Thomas Arrest

GREEN MURDER FIND REPORTED

'Jimmy' and Lock Picks Held by Local Detectives

Discovery Near Bungalow Occupied by Suspect

Officers View Implements as Important Links

A burglar's "jimmy" and a string of finely fashioned lock picks, discovered last night, by Detectives Dryden and Shannon near the former home of Harry (Mile Away) Thomas, arrested early yesterday morning and charged with complicity in the murder of Luther H. Green, local stock broker, may be definite links connecting him with the crime, the police declared last night following the discovery.

The "jimmy" and the lock picks were located as the detectives began an exhaustive search of places known to have been inhabited by the suspect up to the time and shortly after the murder of Green, the addresses of a number of which were not revealed to the police until clews were discovered after Thomas's arrest.

The importance of the "jimmy" and the lock picks found just outside the front window of a bungalow at 3430 London street, known to have been occupied by Thomas and Betty Carroll, his woman companion, who was also arrested yesterday, was based by detectives on the fact that the hi-jackers who attempted to raid Green's liquor cellar were forced to use a lock pick and a "jimmy." It is possible, they said, that the articles found might be identified as those used by the hi-jackers.

ARREST ENDS QUEST

The arrest of Thomas and Betty Carroll came after a two weeks' manhunt, in which more than two score officers took part. Credit for the apprehension of the suspect was given to J. N. and A. B. Fyles, heads of the Fyles National Detective Service, a private agency. J. N. Fyles is said to have recognized Thomas on the street Sunday night, called Captain of Detectives Cline and Assistant Captain Bean, in charge of the homicide division, and Thomas was surprised in an apartment at Vine street and Melrose avenue.

Following his arrest Thomas denied any complicity in the crime.

"I'll prove an alibi when the right time comes," he stated, "and I'll show that I was more than a mile away from the scene of the crime this time."

Thomas has been arrested in connection with many crimes in the past and always established an alibi that he was "a mile away" from the designated place, this drawing the nickname of "Mile Away."

SUSPECT SURRENDERS

Detective Lieutenants Condaffer and Miller hammered on the suspected hijacker's door early yesterday.

"Come on out, Harry," they called. "No use to make any fuss about it."

Thomas surrendered without making a "fuss." With him in the apartment they found Betty Carroll.

According to Thomas's story, he came to the home on London street where he and the Carroll woman were living on the night of the 1st inst., the date on which Green was killed, and saw several detectives about.

"I knew a couple of them had it in for me, so I just kept on walking," he declared. "I walked most of that night. After that I began living in hotels, jumping from one to another on different nights."

APARTMENT SEARCHED

Last Thursday, the records show, Thomas and the Carroll woman rented the apartment on Vine street. When it was searched, however, it revealed nothing other than some clothing and groceries.

What Thomas has done with his other belongings, was a question the police sought to solve last night as they began searching the places Thomas is known to have frequented since the murder.

Acting apparently on information that the authorities were not yet ready to make public, Detective Fyles left Los Angeles last night for the north on some angles of the case. Following his departure, it was rumored that he expected to locate one of Thomas's large automobiles, both of which have disappeared since the shooting. The suspect denied that a hat found near the Green home after the murder was his.

The arrest of Thomas makes the second in connection with the slaying of the stock broker. Following the crime, the police declared they were satisfied that the shooting was done by a band of hi-jackers led by Thomas, and named Warren Reeder, and Jack (Curly) Fifer, as well as three unidentified men, as members of the band. Reeder surrendered several days ago. Both he and Thomas, it was announced, will be represented by Attorney Howell Richardson.

SECOND WOMAN

A second woman will probably be questioned today in connection with Thomas's activities in the Green case, the police intimated last night. Known only to the underworld as "Mickey," the second girl is said to have been a former sweetheart of Thomas, and was believed to have been in Los Angeles on the night of the murder, but since left here for Bakersfield.

The suspect smiled yesterday when questioned by detectives and apparently was little worried about the charges made against him. Detectives who know him, however, declared that he had dyed his silver gray hair to a ruddy brown, and they believe he was thus attempting to disguise himself.

LEADERS PICKED TO RAISE FUNDS

our bank clearings per capita are rising. It is reflected by the fact that savings deposits average $443 per person whereas the average for the United States is but $211. It is reflected by the fact that the real estate transactions in 1926 exceeded $1,333,000,000.

"The join financial committee takes it for granted that the business firms of Los Angeles wish this prosperity continued. They can have it continued. After a most careful study the full directorates of the All-Year Club and the Chamber of Commerce have asked for a joint budget of $1,200,000. With this they can come very nearly an absolute guarantee of the prosperity of the Southland.

"In 1926 the favorable balance of foreign trade at Los Angeles Harbor was $56,000,000—a Chamber of Commerce achievement.

"In 1926 the number of gainfully employed persons in Los Angeles above the number employed at the end of the preceding year was 6000. The increased pay roll was nearly $12,000,000 annually—a Chamber of Commerce achievement.

"In 1926 we had approximately 1,500,000 tourists. They left with us a minimum of $150,000,000—an All-Year Club achievement.

"Of these persons perhaps 60,000 remained here as new permanent residents—an All-Year Club achievement.

"There are many other achievements of each organization but the above will suffice.

COMMITTEE NAMED

"Those who want this work continued will be found among the substantial subscribers toward making up the $1,200,000. Those who are content to see the work wane and our prosperity languish will defer and put off."

It was announced that from time to time the names of the subscribers would be published. The committee hopes to end the campaign within ten days. It was announced that subscriptions to the campaign are business expenditures and as such are deductible from income for Federal taxation purposes.

Members of the joint financial committee of the All-Year Club and the Chamber of Commerce in direct charge of raising the funds follow: Frank P. Flint, Victor Girard, A. Frank, William H. Harrison, Harold Janss, J. F. Jeffries, W. P. Jeffries, James R. Martin, George Pepperdine and A. Schleicher.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The advisory committee, including the full directorates of the All-Year Club and Chamber of Commerce, is composed of the following: George I. Cochran, Henry M. Robinson, Louis B. CRYER ASKS CITIZENS TO GIVE FUNDS

Proclamation by Mayor Points to Need of Backing Advertising Campaign

The following proclamation on the movement to raise sufficient funds to advertise Southern California for the coming year was issued by Mayor Cryer yesterday:

"A truly representative group of citizens is today launched on a task that must be successfully and quickly completed if Los Angeles and Southern California are to continue to advance at the splendid rate at which they have advanced during the past six years.

"These men are bent on the work of raising $1,200,000 from the business firms, the business individuals and the great property holders in Los Angeles. The money is to be used, as in the past, in bringing new wealth here.

"The All-Year Club of Southern California brings new wealth here by advertising for tourists. These tourists, in response to the advertising, have come in unprecedented numbers during the past six years. At this very moment they are filling our hotels. They are radiating a stream of new wealth in both money and ideas into our life. Many of these people will like Southern California so well that they will stay here as a part of our rapidly growing population.

"The Chamber of Commerce has as increased our favorable balance of foreign trade that all of the foreign nations of the world are paying us a financial tribute through commerce.

"In the past year the chamber placed upward of 6000 new persons to work in our city with an annual pay roll of more than $10,000,000. It has shown the charm of Los Angeles through placing the Los Angeles county exhibit in fairs in the East where it has been seen by millions of persons. It has distributed millions of pieces of literature to interested parties and has maintained a splendid office in Chicago, where about 1000 persons learn daily of the Southland lure and economic possibilities.

"Last year nearly $1,000,000 was spent in promotion. I think it would be modest to say that the investment was returned one-hundred fold. This year it is proposed that we spend $1,200,000. I think that in view of the record that the two organizations have made the money should be subscribed almost overnight.

"Los Angeles could not possibly make a better investment.

"It is a definite obligation on each to subscribe in proportion to his capacity to reap benefit from city growth. If each does his share the load will be light."

DISTRICTING GATHERING SATURDAY

Joint Committee to Take Up Realigning for New Assembly Divisions

A joint committee of the Republican County Central Committee and the Los Angeles legislative delegation will meet Saturday afternoon at 775 Subway Terminal Building to consider the redistricting of Los Angeles county under the proposed law befor the Legislature granting this county twenty-two Assembly districts.

This decision was made yesterday at a committee luncheon at the Alexandria. Registrar of Voters Kerr submitted tentative lines drawn as the amendments to the reapportionment bill which was introduced at Sacramento last month, and there was considerable discussion as to the best means of redistricting the county.

The following committee was appointed by Ralph Arnold, chairman of the county committee: Senators Evans, Allen and McKinley, Assemblymen Baum, Crawford, Woolwine, Rochester, Davis and Carter, A. W. McPherson, Mrs. Ida R. Koverman, former Judge George E. Waldo, W. R. Kilgore, James W. Everington, Marvin Arnold, Mr. Kerr and Mrs. Dora Stearns. Mendel Silberberg was named chairman.

paper and other foolish and idiotic things because of his race memories. To jump sideways and kick were his only defense against the animals that used to leap down upon him from the trees. So he jumps first and investigates afterward. I wonder how the mule got his sage wisdom. A pair of runaway horses will dash themselves to death against any obstacle that gets in the way. A runaway mule stops whenever it becomes unprofitable to continue the excursion.

Radio Executive Here to Effect Pacific 'Tie-up'

George F. McClelland, vice-president and general manager of the National Broadcasting Company, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and announced his mission on the Pacific Coast is to tie up radio broadcasting stations in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Spokane and Portland, with a view toward broadcasting nation-wide programs in conjunction with organized stations in the East.

McClelland declared that his company already has contracted with eastern stations for the broadcasting of programs from Portland, Me., to New York and Atlanta, Ga., and over the Middle West from Kansas City to Minneapolis, from any of the points.

He will remain in Los Angeles until Thursday and then proceed to San Francisco and other northern Pacific points to extend his company's radio network in the West.

Ex-Bank Chief Shown Mercy in Fraud Sentence

James A. McEnIry, former vice-president of the Corona National Bank, technically was placed on probation for a period of three years when he appeared yesterday before United States District Judge McCormick for sentence. Judge McCormick, on recommendation of Asst. U. S. Atty. Layng, showed leniency in McEnIry's case by delaying sentence for three years. If, during that time, McEnIry's record remains clear, the case will be dropped.

McEnIry pleaded guilty to misapplication of the funds of the Corona National Bank several weeks ago and was the government's witness against Irving Jordan. It was largely through McEnIry's testimony that Jordan was convicted and sentenced to a three-year penitentiary term.

LIGHTS PETITIONED

Property owners yesterday petitioned the City Council to install ornamental lighting posts on Pasadena avenue from the Broadway bridge to Avenue 38.

POMONA ORATORS HOPEFUL

Students Enter Constitutional Contest Determined to Be Heard in Finals

Entrants in the Fourth National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution are making excellent progress in the preparation of orations, according to reports from various schools reaching Director Nichols. The reports not only tell of progress but also stress the enthusiasm with which the schools are participating, says Miss Dorothy Banker, journalism student at Pomona High School:

"Pomona has had entrants in the oratorical contest for the past three years, and there has always been a great deal of enthusiasm. This year interest is, if anything, more keen than ever among both students and faculty.

"Extensive plans are under way to make the contest a success, Pomona being anxious this year to see one of its students capture one of the big prizes. In 1926 Ronald Anderson, now a student at Stanford, won first in his district, and placed in the semifinals. Last year Jeannette McFarland placed second in the district contest. This year our contestants are determined that Pomona is to have a place in The Times finals, at least, and if strenuous effort will do it, they hope that one of their number will achieve a place in the national finals in Washington.

HOPE FOR WINNER

"Aside from the prizes and honors offered by the contest, the student body at Pomona feels that this competition offers a unique combination of interest, especially to the English, history and public-speaking departments. The preparation of the manuscript requires proficiency in English and composition; the selection and use of material and references requires interest and application in history; and, finally, the delivery of the oration requires power and clearness of speech and interpretation. All these things bring out the best in the student and prepare him more fully for college and business life which come after high school. For this reason both students and instructors at Pomona feel that the National Oratorical Contests are worth a large place in their interests."

Miss Katherine Cline, city editor of the Jeffersonian, the newspaper published by Jefferson High School in Los Angeles, reports great enthusiasm over the contest in that institution.

ENTRANTS AT WORK

"Here at Jefferson the contest is considered the most important oratorical event of each year, and as such is sponsored by Vox Populi, the local public speaking organization," writes Miss Cline. "This club is at present arranging for the various rounds, but as yet has set no definite dates. A large number of entrants are already at work on orations. Since instructors of English, civics and public-speaking classes are giving credits for the time and effort spent on the orations, a further incentive is offered.

"Each week the Jeffersonian will publish a story reporting the course of the contest, allowing it as much prominence as possible."

How Doctors Treat Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsilitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

HOLLOW MOCKERY

According to Webster a boom is a hollow sound. That explains its connection with the Presidential passions of some alleged statesmen we might mention.

THE CONQUEROR

Alexander Caesar is the new Minister from Nicaragua at Washington. It would seem that one with that militant and impressive name would be needed to suppress the revolutionists that embarrass his country.

BILLION-HEIRS

Dr. Dorsey, curator of the Field Museum of Natural History, finds that there are about 26,000,000,000,000 cells of protoplasm in every full-grown human body. It is gratifying to know we all have as much of something as, for example, Henry Ford.

ARCTIC GOLD

All sea water holds gold in solution, but German chemists have discovered that the polar seas contain about five times as much as warmer waters. Since no one but chemists, with their laboratory equipment, can get the gold, a cold rush hasn't happened yet.

SAVE YOUR PITS

French chemists are reported to be extracting an oil from grape seeds to considerable commercial profit. So far as known little has been done in California in this line, but if the process is worth while we can get in the habit of saving our seeds. Heaven knows we have a lot of them.

BRITISH BIRTHS

The birth rate among the working classes in England runs from 230 to 250 for each 1000 laborers. In professional circles the rate is only about 100 for each 1000 potential fathers. If Great Britain is in need of man power for the future the humble toilers are doing much better than the doctors themselves.

TELEVISION

An English machine is said to have been perfected which enables one to see, even in the dark, as far as wireless waves will carry. If this machine comes into general use everybody will have to practice what he preaches. And wives will be able to see into the business that detains their husbands downtown after working hours.

CUTTING THE WEIGHT

When the Catalina channel gets its summer warmth visitors will be swimming it for the exercise. With its winter chill three persons have made the passage within a few days of one another. The last two swimmers each lost seventeen pounds in the struggle, so that the trip may become popular with those who are determined to reduce.

MANY FOREBEARS

A New York youth is richly embarrassed with ancestors. Besides his father and mother there are still living four grandparents, seven great-grandparents and two great-great-grandparents. With a roster of fourteen he is thought to be more highly endowed with ancestors than any other American kid. Between them they will give him something to live up to.

THE BLONDE INVASION

An eastern business woman is trying hard to secure a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, but none of the male chair-warmers seems to be willing to stand up and give the lady his place. They say that no woman has ever had a pew in their sanctuary and they shudder to think what may happen if the skirts once break in. Or perhaps they are taking a tip from the street-car riders?

THE SPENDERS

Voters of Illinois are expected to indicate a willingness to spend more than $20,000,000 of the public money in the creation of a fish-and-game preserve for many miles along the lowlands of the Illinois River. Some of the citizens, however, can see only a project for the expansion of Gov. Small's political machine and are knocking the project. It may not succeed without a struggle. It is a big and perhaps a worthy enterprise, but it proves the extent to which the passion for spending the people's money will go. No one is prepared to argue that the movement is an upstanding necessity.

A HOT SUMMER

In all the northern part of Argentina people have been sweltering in a heat wave that has kept the thermometer near the 100 mark and many prostrations have resulted in Buenos Aires and other cities. Perhaps some of this heat was generated by Senator Justo, leader of the Argentine Socialist group in the Congress, who recently denounced with fiery rage "the imperialism and audacity" of the United States in its dealings with Nicaragua. However, the rest of the Senators kept fairly cool during the tirade, thinking doubtless of that 700,000,000 pesos in bonds which their government would like to dispose of in this country.

WILLIAM MULHOLLAND

Written large across the history of Los Angeles is the sustained effort to convert a desert into a garden; for to build on climate without water was like making bricks without straw. The Los Angeles Water Department is a model of its kind; it is the splendid example referred to by other communities. And standing at its head, as he has stood for twenty-five years, is honest, fearless, energetic "Big Bill" Mulholland.

At the City Club Saturday evening Mr. Mulholland received a testimonial of gratitude and esteem from a grateful, adjuring community. Some of those present had been associated with him in municipal affairs; all had shared in the public benefit accruing from such distinguished service.

William Mulholland will be remembered by the present generation as the builder of the Los Angeles Aqueduct. Perhaps the next generation will remember him as the builder of the still greater aqueduct, that bringing the waters of the Colorado to the gates of Los Angeles.

If Mr. Mulholland were inclined to vanity he might stand on the hills of Hollywood, look forth at the city lying in the lap of the valley, glowing in the starlight like an opal set in emeralds—with more stars twinkling in the expanse below than in the heavens above—strike his breast with a still vigorous Scotch fist and say "I made it." For the city which possessed but 8000 inhabitants when he arrived here fifty years ago now has a population rapidly approaching the second million; and the department over which he is still the presiding genius has a greater replaceable value than the assessed valuation of Los Angeles city when he entered the municipal service.

But William Mulholland is not inclined to self-exaltation. While others are bragging he is building; and what he builds endures. As an engineer he stands in the front rank; but the difficulties he experienced in building that aqueduct through 250 miles of desert and mountain were of but secondary importance compared to the opposition he experienced in keeping the water department out of politics.

How many changing administrations have swept over his now grizzled head! How many selfish politicians have sought to undermine his position, to alienate from him the public confidence! How many incompetents have been forced into his department by commissions dominated by self-interest! They feared to strike in the open; for the public has always had faith in the ability and integrity of William Mulholland, and the administration that removed him would have been summarily dismissed by an indignant populace. But they harassed him almost beyond the point of human endurance.

While other departments have succumbed to political influence, William Mulholland has kept the water department above suspicion. And it is by reason of their confidence in him that the electors have never flinched from assuming the obligations for the construction necessary to give to Los Angeles an adequate and pure water supply.

One has but to draw a comparison with the Department of Light and Power to appreciate the obstacles which William Mulholland has overcome. It is the dark background from which the water department, with William Mulholland at its head, is projected in high relief.

Fate has been kind to William Mulholland in preserving him to perform a great service—and kinder still to the city of Los Angeles; for one shudders to think what the politicians, if left to their own devices, would have done with the Owens River project. And never was he more valuable to the community than at the present moment; for the Owens River aqueduct was but the precursor of greater things to come. The community can aid him by insisting that his activities shall not be hampered by the group about him; by legislation that will decrease his authority; by seeking to give him associates who will work with him for the public interest. If he could be persuaded to speak the response of the community would be unmistakable.

ART AND SMUT

New York's crusade to clean up its theaters and make its drama fit for decent people to witness is a good thing for the entire country, for not only does New York wield a great influence throughout the nation, but much or most of the country's commercially successful drama originates and proves itself in the eastern metropolis and thereafter goes on tour. The warnings of New York authorities did not impress all the producers of the city and action has been instituted to close several of the most obscene stage presentations.

The artistic and moral error of pampering the lowest taste in theater-goers has, indeed, been permitted to continue too long even for experimental purposes. Both the drama and its patrons have suffered too long already and sane leaders should carry the art back to the inspirational plane where it belongs and the public will gladly follow.

Frankness and realism are excellent qualities in art, but frankness and realism in themselves are not art. A bucket of swill is quite frank and very realistic, but it cannot be said to commend itself to artistic appreciation. Drama is not art if its only claim to attention is its candor.

Drama that fails to lift the soul a little higher than its usual workaday plane is not worth the cost of production, and drama that drags the mind down to a plane below the decent inclination of theater patrons is crime against art.

Drama should inspire. The "horrible example" never has been much of an aid to man, and the horrors of presenting it more than offset all the hypothetical good that might come of it through warning.

When the public demands clean plays, playwrights with real minds capable of creating worth-while drama will offer new plays on a plane suited to the age, and the pool-room type of dramatist can go back to his gutter.

SCARING SKEETERS

Uncle Sam is sending 1,000,000 minnows to Argentina to help in the demolition of budding mosquitoes. The insects are a great pest in certain sections of South America and the minnow is ready to eat his weight in their larvae at any time. The fish can be placed in courses where the use of oil is not feasible. If a genuine campaign is waged and all methods of combat utilized a mosquito plague can be suppressed in a single season. Southern California is to be congratulated in never having had to make the fight.

"Just Right! Neither Too Hot Nor Too Cold"

TYRANNY OF FASHION

Fashion's changes and milady's whims play havoc with many mighty industrial enterprises in the United States. The edict that ordered her skirts to just clear her dainty, although sometimes knobby, knees brought widespread losses to the textile manufacturers in the East and correspondingly caused wide unemployment. A conservative estimate of the loss puts it at 50 per cent.

About nineteen inches have been sheared off of the bottom of a fashionable damsel's dress. Besides this, the garment is of an extreme scantiness, with no extra fullness anywhere, emulating the graceful lines of a pillowslip. Less than one-half the material formerly needed to concoct a garment is required to turn out a snappy new creation.

What is one man's poison is another man's meat, however, and the fashion that has shrunk the income of textile manufacturers has swelled that of the hosiery manufacturers to the bursting point. The money a woman saves on material she spends on shoes and dainty hose.

A unique feature of the new fashions is that both chiropodists and dancing teachers have been tremendously benefited. Feet are so much in evidence that corns and bunions are quite taboo, and modish women now devote as much attention to the care of their tribbies as they do to the marcelling of their heads. Legs, too, must be of pleasing symmetry and contour if the owner does not wish to cut a ridiculous figure in her attenuated skirts. So teachers of ballet find their classes crowded by idle women in search of ravishing limbs, since nothing else develops graceful legs so quickly. An unfortunate feature of this is that it has run up the prices of ballet lessons sky high and the poor young girl with a desire to take up dancing for her career finds lessons prohibitive in price because the best teachers have full classes of young matrons who are seeking nothing more artistic than beautiful legs.

GOING TO COLLEGE

The Boston Transcript, which has been accepted through the years as a great high priest of learning, has made its annual survey of eighty-six typical colleges and universities of the 750 institutions of higher rank in the country. It finds the largest enrollments per capita of population in history. A second finding is that everybody wants to go to college.

In France thirteen out of every 10,000 persons go to college; in Great Britain, fifteen out of every 10,000; in the United States sixty out of every 10,000 attend some university.

The total enrollment of the eighty-six specimen institutions in this country in 1925 was 253,630. In 1926 the total number had increased to 265,564, about 40 per cent of all the students of the country go to 4 per cent of the schools.

The cultural hub of the universe used to be at Boston. However, that institution has gradually moved west until now it has crossed the Indiana line and is located about fifteen miles southeast of Urbana, Ill. It, too, seems to be on its way to California.

The largest school in the country is the University of California with 17,101 students in 1926. Columbia is given second place with 12,643 students. The University of Illinois, according to the Boston Transcript, follows third with an enrollment of 11,810.

It appeared difficult for that journal to conceive that California should have another institution, the University of Southern California, with an enrollment of 12,217. This State has two out of the three largest universities in the United States.

Roger W. Babson, never having had a college education, is having his troubles in recognizing the value of higher cultural training. Not long ago he declared that "higher education today is living in a fool's paradise."

However, the youth of the world do not appear to view education with alarm, but are crowding the college halls. The real strongholds of the republic are the schools and colleges. At least they are helping to make the world safe for ideas.

SONG CENSORSHIP

The jazz interests of America have chosen a New York lawyer to be their umpire and referee. This official will be to the day's offering of music what Judge Landis is to baseball or Will Hays to the films. He will be an advance listener to every number submitted to the public ear and if the words and music are not decent and meritorious the big orchestra leaders and music publishers will simply have nothing to do with them. They will die in their own folly.

This is a large responsibility—even for a Knickerbocker Blackstone, but it has been thought best to have a censorship of some kind and this program seems simple and effective. It is better to have one amiable and sensible arbiter than to leave the findings to a jury or commission. If it is known that no song or piece of music can get far enough into the market to make any money unless the composition is clean and meritorious the brewers of smut will subside. There is no successful bootlegging of music.

Many salacious songs and much discordant music have reached the public ear because there was no one in authority to raise the yellow flag, but with all the decent and responsible leaders, directors and publishers creating this form of censorship of their own the results, so far as the masses are concerned, cannot but be beneficial. For one thing the makers of obscene verse may as well throw up their jobs. There will be no money in dirt.

It may as well be understood now and for all time that a successful vaudeville program does not hinge upon a bouquet of nasty songs. The people will readily and gladly learn to prefer their humor clean and undefiled.

The folk who write their country's songs must come to the work with clean hands and purer hearts.

ITS FRAGRANCE SMELLS

The allanthus tree, which the Malakkas call the "Tree of Heaven," has been outlawed by tree lovers in this country—on account of its offensive odor. It appeals to the eye, but repels the nose. To some kinds of insects, however, its smell is as sweet as garbage to flies. Until we begin purposely planting trees to please insects it would be better to leave the allanthus alone. It is really a vegetable skunk.

EASTERN GEESE

By James J. Montague

The geese, when autumn winds blow chill
And frost is white upon the hill

In geometric wedges form
And seek a climate mild and warm.

While we remain, where blizzards blow
And wade knee deep through slush and snow.

The geese, when spring is in the air,
Upon their northward way repair,

And seek a quiet and cooling shore,
For instance, such as Labrador,

And ever further north retreat
To dodge the thunderstorms and heat.

We stick around the same old spot,
And grow uncomfortably hot

And, as our ancestors have done,
We swelter in the blazing sun

And as the fevered skies we scan
We roundly curse the weather man.

Instead of setting out betimes
For milder California climes.

The geese, all sane folks must admit,
Outsmart us humans quite a bit.

And yet—will wonders never cease—
We still allude to them as geese.

Statements Questioned

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In an announcement in The Times today of lectures to be given by Mr. Dittemore statements were made which are misleading to the public and space is asked to correct them.

"The faith of the one seeking health from a higher standpoint" is not the fundamental basis of Christian Science healing, as is evident from Mrs. Eddy's words in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," where she says "The physical healing of Christian Science results now, as in Jesus' time, from the operation of divine principle, before which sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation."

In the writings of Mary Baker Eddy there is unquestioned evidence of her approval of Christian Science treatment when given to individual patients by humble and Christian practitioners and she instructed her followers "to handle no other mentality but the mind of your patient" (Miscellany, page 264,) showing plainly that Christian Science treatment is individual.

The Christian Science Church is prospering spiritually; marvelous healings of physical and moral ills are continually taking place of which authentic reports may be found in the Christian Science periodicals; and Mary Baker Eddy, who is known to Christian Scientists through her writings, stands as the leader of this mighty movement. No one can take her place.

ALBERT E. LOMBARD.

Less Than Four Per Cent

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you kindly permit me to make a correction regarding Dr. Annie Besant's eloquent address given at the Biltmore Hotel under the auspices of the California Anti-Vivisection Society last Tuesday evening, which has been misquoted by Mr. Harry Carr in "The Lancer"? Dr. Besant did not say "that the cruelty let loose in the World War was due to vivisection by physicians." Dr. Besant is too conversant with statistical evidence to have implied that all physicians are vivisectors or even believe in vivisection. In reality, less than 4 per cent of the medical profession are vivisectors and a very substantial number of physicians would openly condemn vivisection, if they dared, as being contradictory, valueless, misleading and unmoral.

The point that Dr. Besant stressed was the callousness and degeneracy that are the result of vivisection and which are naturally extended to human beings, as well as animals. That the same spirit of indifference, selfishness and cruelty that has caused the centuries to re-echo the agonized cries of tortured animals of vivisection hells, found a counterpart in the World War, when defenseless women and children were made the victims of poison gas bombs, exploited by individuals or nations seeking political and financial aggrandizement.

Great numbers of animals are being used, and have been used, since the war ended, for experimentation with poison gases for future warfare. For what!—to rain down upon innocent, helpless humanity the hellish fusillade of death which is the fungus growth of a degeneracy founded upon vivisection.

ROSEMONDE RAE WRIGHT.

From Northern Texas

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] My home is in Northern Texas. Three years ago in July and August my wife and I visited here and liked it so well that we decided to come again and see if the winter climate suited us. We arrived here last month, the 4th ult., and we are so well pleased that we have decided to come next fall and make Los Angeles our home. We are both improved in health and now feel that, although I am 71 years of age, I might live to be 100 years old if I stay here. In fact, I have become a California booster, in proof whereof I submit the following:

'Tis the land of enchantment, the land of your dreams,
With its mountains and valleys, its ocean and streams,
Where the high mountain tops that are covered with snow Forever are pointing the way we should go.
Here are no extremes of heat or of cold,
A land whose inhabitants never grow old,
The odor of flowers is borne on the breeze
And the birds' song is heard from the fruit-laden trees.
Where roses are blooming each day of the year,
A bright land of sunshine, a place without peer,
Where down on the beach the young children play,
Growing ruddy and strong in the salt of the spray.
The sick and the weary find comfort and rest
In this golden and glorious land of the West.

HUMBLENESS
BY ADRIAN RAGSA
Let your heart get a thrill of endlessness of the universe you will be humble. Let your get a glimpse of the and inexplicable magnitude life and you will be humble. your mind dwell on the historic development of and spiritual unfoldment and will be humble.
Humbleness to your like a gateway to a palace provisions be brought in, dows to a room to permit to enter, like space to a let its petals extend and blossom forth.
Without humbleness a gets narrow in his thoughts, reiterates the same ideas, points and habits until he to a rut. Then he is held that rut like a prisoner deprived from the beauties grandeurs and far-flung open vistas of life.
We must always remember life is growth, development, stant, unceasing, joyful and esting advancement into the tic intermingling mysteries of titarious and multihued na. Only humbleness makes growth and such blossoming possible. It leads the way broader and wider and more tiful comprehensions.
What will make an individual see the other fellow's viewpoint? What will take an individual from his mistaken notions? often our thoughts are those our desires so that the wish is ther to the thought, irrespective of the real facts! In such a person lives within illusions the realities of life wake him to bitter disappointments. will save a person from such ness? To see facts impersonally an indispensable necessity to thinking and all enterprises, in salesmanship a man can sell services or merchandise only he sees the other fellow's point. Otherwise his talk is to the point and his would not bring the right
What is called the conscious mind—the capacity censor and differentiate right wrong—is largely a product of virionment. A person raised in environment of low morals or torted concepts of what is would never rise above his ronment unless he is humble enough to give attention to people's ways of life and admit possibility that his might be taken.
Prejudice, narrowness, hopes, unjust demands, tolerance, tragical delusion, propriate, inapplicable and a general slavishness to ronment: these dark and evils are cast out from the that is humble and thus comprehend the outside world. It really is in all its aspects and harmonious tions.
Humbleness begets broadedness, and broad-mindedness builds a place for truth power and freedom and complishment.
But not humiliation. The great and far-reaching Humiliation is a giving up of proper place in life, whereas bleness is a seeking properly one's place. Humiliation make one feel unworthy of confidence and exercise of that are accorded all normal man beings; it would make one looked upon as bad and hope of correction; it would allow the human soul to rise the possession and exercise of real, full, divine powers; it attempt at crushing the personality; while humbleness is a and wider expression, an ate and efficacious exercise of rights on the basis of clearstood and well-classified ment, while humbleness is soul's nourishment. Humiliation is annihilation; humbleness is aspiration. Upon the ways of life that we are to go through let us ferentiate between the two.
A quiet whisper is like the mer of a smiling brook gliding over white, clean whisper, like the breath of grant breeze bringing the of red roses and love in the breath of the wide sky its millions of stars hanging, all-enchanting, like dreams; like the first sunrise flooding the riotous joy of light and radiance glittering in the with multitudes of outstretchings of longing with their urge of life manifesting the buoyancy of abundance. Such is the speaks to the human soul tones, saying: Be humble!
It is the same voice that commands the oceans to keep their bounds; that makes the terfly emerge from the caterpillar that commands the oak to grow from the acorn and the flower from the leaf; that commands humanity to come nearer and share in all the glories of creation.
Truly blessed is he who, hearing this voice, can drop all turbulent anxieties and perplexities sorrows and gladly receive the vision that is clarified and illumined by the life-giving light of humbleness.

SUNRISE AT STAMBOUL

At dawn we ascended a lofty minaret in Stamboul—so lofty that we could see the lifting sun kindle the snowy outline of the Asiatic Olympus while yet Stamboul crouched in distinguishably gray, upon her seven hills.
Then Anatolia's plains caught the spending flush, the Bosporus lay all around its silhouetted hills, five nations, and its fleets of estuary, where huddled ships and stacked masts, became Golden Horn.
High over sleeping Stamboul gleamed groves of slim minarets, now extinguished watch candles of the night. And last, row by row, the red-tiled, street-veined city of forth in multicolored detail, with the sunrise, a human soul in been flung wide and senses that stretched rug had gathered life.—[Melville Chater in Geographic Magazine.

PLAYS FOR SOLDIERS

Charles D. McRoy, who presents the harmonica band on the children's hour from KHJ Tuesdays, played a concert yesterday afternoon at the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle.

The WJZ chain tonight will give an interesting program at 6 o'clock with orchestral and solo numbers, including "Vesti la Guibba," from Leoncavalli's "Pagliacci;" "A Fors e Lui," from Verdi's "Traviata;" the "Pilgrim's Chorus" from Wagner's "Tannhauser," and other operatic excerpts.

The WEAF chain at about 4:30 today in its continuity program of great moments from history, will bring to radio listeners the old cry of "Remember the Maine," with an hour program of music and story.

CONTRACT BRIDGE—THE NEWEST GAME

By E. V. Shepard

(BRIDGE AUTHORITY AND AUTHOR OF TEXT-BOOKS ON THE GAME)

[From "Win at Bridge." Copyright, 1927, by E. V. Shepard.]

IX. Shifting An Assisted Suit Bid

Although partner at once assists your unopposed declaration you must sometimes shift to another call, to make certain which partner can best aid. On the hand shown below, Z opened the bidding with one-heart. He wanted to show both hearts and clubs; the latter can be shown later, but the short suit should be declared before bidding goes too high.

Y raised his partner's unopposed bid to two-hearts—all that his values justified. Z could not see game if Y held only a single raise for hearts, so instead of either passing or bidding more hearts, Z bid three-clubs. Y reasoned that Z must hold few hearts and many clubs; using his head more effectively than some contract players do; Y omitted thinking: "Four-odd at hearts and five-odd at clubs mean game," and bid five-clubs. Game was made at clubs, but game would have been impossible at hearts, owing to the many adverse hearts held, and their bad distribution.

The bidder of a four-card suit must be even more careful at contract than at auction bridge. The following hand affords another illustration of warning partner that only four-trumps are held. Z opened the bidding with one-heart, which unopposed declaration Y raised to three-hearts. Notwithstanding the two assists Z thought it wiser to overcall the bid with three-spades, just to show that he held only four hearts, because Y's raise might have been made largely on side strength, instead of especial strength in hearts.

Of course Y overcalled Z's three-spades with four-hearts, having unusual aid for hearts and barely normal assistance for spades. This return to hearts was a fortunate move; Z could have made only three-odd at spades; at the best, as he must have lost at least two spade and two club tricks; at hearts he made four-odd, dummy being able to ruff one of the declarer's losing spades.

A single-track mind is not well suited for playing contract bridge; just because partner shows one suit is no guaranty that he may not be able to show a second suit still better adapted to the joint twenty-six cards of his side. Partners should try to show just what each holds, until confident that the best declaration has been reached.

Lasky Departs After Mapping Expansion Plan

After completing plans which will expand the present production drive of Paramount and carry it well into the summer, taxing to the utmost the facilities of the new Famous Players-Lasky west coast studio for months to come, Jesse L. Lasky, Paramount's production chief, left late yesterday for New York, accompanied by Walter Wanger, general manager of production.

During Mr. Lasky's stay on the west coast more feature productions were launched at the Hollywood studio than are said to have ever been put at work simultaneously in any studio in screen history. As a result, he found the facilities of the new studio already outgrown and authorized the construction of new buildings and a general expansion of equipment in order to make possible the carrying out of his plans.

YOUNG WOMAN GIVEN TERM IN SAN QUENTIN

Irene Evans, 28 years of age, remained silent yesterday when she was asked by Judge McLucas to explain charges that she had violated her probation by the asserted converting of an automobile to her own use. As a result she was sentenced to San Quentin for from one to fourteen years on a previous charge of forgery, upon which she had been granted probation. The young woman was arrested last July, but later was granted probation on eight charges of forgery. She pleaded guilty to one count. The court yesterday granted her a ten-day stay of execution of judgment.

BURGLAR TAKES HIS TROUSERS

Angeleno Finds Them on Porch But With $270 Gone From Pocket

When Peter Kolot of 529 California street got out of bed yesterday morning, he was unable to find his trousers.

"Where are my pants?" he called to his wife.

"Just where you left them, on the foot of the bed," came the reply.

But they were gone. Ultimately, clad in bathrobe, Kolot found them on the porch. But the pocket that had previously contained $270 was empty.

A burglar had entered the home during the night, picked up the trousers, pocketed the money and in his departure, tossed them on the front porch.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Carrying out the old-fashioned custom of sending a lovely Valentine to one's dearest friends, Miss Marjorie Hamlin used this delightful method to formally announce her betrothal to Garnet C. Rainey, son of Mrs. Thomas Henry Rainey of this city. Miss Hamlin and her mother, Mrs. Ralph Hamlin of Kingsley Drive, entertained yesterday afternoon with a beautifully appointed luncheon of 100 covers at the Uplifters' clubhouse in Santa Monica Canyon, and when the guests arrived home after the party they found the exquisite Valentines with the betrothal news.

The St. Valentine motif was charmingly and effectively carried out in the decorations of the clubhouse and luncheon tables in a profusion of fragrant spring blossoms in great crimson baskets tied with tulle and candles in the same color tone, as were the ribbons on the tables with the ferns.

The charming young hostess was assisted by a bevy of her most intimate friends, including Miss Warrene Swetland, Miss Virginia Laswell, Mrs. Donald McGaffey, Mrs. Charles Frances Forbes, Miss Consuelo Baker, Miss Helen Worthington, Mrs. Harold Boyd Hershman, Mrs. Leo Bering, Miss Dorothy Henry, Mrs. Albert Rogers and Mrs. Le Roy Taft. The wedding is to be a brilliant event of May.

Miss Hamlin was graduated from Mariborough School and later from L'Ecole Francaise in New York City, while Mr. Rainey, son of the late Dr. Thomas Henry Rainey of Rampart Boulevard, is an alumnus of Stanford, University of Southern California and of Cambridge, England. He is a member of the University and Jonathan clubs and is affiliated with the Phi Delta Phi Fraternity.

Engagement Announced

An interesting announcement of recent date is that of the engagement of Miss Marie Clarkson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Palmer Clarkson of Windermere avenue, St. Louis, to Robert Prince Casey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Casey of Huntington Park, the news being told at a beautifully appointed tea given by Mrs. Marion L. J. Lambert at her home in the eastern city, when fifty guests were bidden. The decorations of the tea table were effectively carried out with cream-colored rosebuds and ferns, while in the center of the table stood an immense three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, while beneath were the names of the betrothed in the elaborate icing.

Assisting at the tea tables were Miss Kathleen Ryan, debutante sister of the hostess; Miss Augusta Cook and Mrs. Richard S. Hawes, Jr., Miss Clarkson, who is one of the most attractive members of the younger set in St. Louis, made her debut several years ago. She was graduated from Mary Institute and Ely Court, Greenwich, Ct., and is an active member of the Junior League of St. Louis, has traveled abroad and has visited in many foreign countries.

Mr. Casey is an alumnus of University of California, and after the wedding will bring his bride here to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson with their attractive daughter are arriving in Los Angeles today for several days' visit with her fiance and his family on their way to Honolulu, sailing for the Hawaiian Islands the last of the week.

Many Affairs

Miss Alice Warmbath, charming young fiancee of Juan Bautista Martino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mark Warmbath, is the inspiration of a number of beautifully planned prenuptial affairs. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Richard Edward Letts (Dorothy Bressee) her most intimate friend, in Europe, there will be no special matron of honor at the ceremony, although a number of young matrons and bridesmaids will be in the wedding entourage. Miss Virginia McWilliams will assist as maid of honor, others in the party including Mrs. Edmund Jackson, Mrs. Dudley Frank, Mrs. Lawrence Overall, Mrs. John Moss Toland, Miss Janet Morris, Miss Kathleen Nolan, Miss Marguerite Corwin and Miss Mary Lucile Gaskill.

Dudley Frank will serve Mr. Martino as best man and the ushers include Wayne Allies, James Pierce, Thomas Scully, Paul Robinwon, Edward Moore, Bronson Howard, Edmund Jackson and John De Moss Toland. Little Nannette Bachellor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dale Bachellor, and Betty Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Beach, will be flower girls, while preceding the ceremony Margaret Compton will sing a group of songs.

This afternoon Mrs. Guy C. Hewitt is giving a bridge-luncheon in honor of Miss Warmbath at her home on Norton avenue, while tomorrow afternoon Mrs. William Camp is to be hostess at a bridge-upper in honor of Miss Warmbath and Mr. Martino.

Thursday Miss Kathleen Nolan is to entertain at a bridge-luncheon at the Westport Beach clubhouse, while Friday Miss Mildred Young is giving a "Brunch" at the Los Angeles Country clubhouse for Miss Warmbath and the following afternoon Mrs. Lawrence Overell is to be hostess at a bridge-luncheon at the Women's Athletic Club, with Miss Warmbath as especial guest of honor, twenty-four guests having been bidden.

Silver Wedding

Celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zemansky of Los Angeles and San Diego, entertained Friday evening with a dinner-dance at the Ambassador, 160 guests being bidden. The affair took place in the French Room of the Ambassador, which had been entirely decorated in silver motif, even to the walls and ceiling. The tables were spread with cloth of silver and the vases holding fragrant spring flowers and ferns were also of silver.

After the dinner dancing was the feature of the evening's entertainment. Warren Williams was toastmaster.

Musicale

One of the beautifully planned events of last week was the musicale with which Mrs. Arthur Eweibell entertained at her lovely home, 1475 Havenhurst Drive, Thursday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Vincent Bremner of Chicago. Fifty guests were bidden to meet the visitor, a Valentine motif being effectively carried out in the decorations and appointments. Afterward the hostess gave a most enjoyable program of numbers on a pipe organ which has just been installed in the home.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Fisher Dix of South Pasadena are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Juliette Marie, to Rodman Wilde Houser, son of Judge and Mrs. Frederick H. Houser of Alhambra.

Home Again

Miss Jo Neely of 351 South Vendome avenue has returned home after several months' visit with relatives in Central America. Life on a 5000-acre banana plantation Miss Neely found most interesting and the climate similar to that of Southern California. On the return trip she visited Havana and Florida and stopped at the Grand Canyon and other points of interest.

Wampas Ball

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smathers, eastern visitors who are here stopping at the Ambassador, have taken a box for the Wampas frolic and ball Thursday night the 17th inst., and will have with them Mr. and Mrs. James J. Haggerty of New York, who are also stopping at the Ambassador. The Smathers, the Haggertys and the W. T. Hoops, also of New York, were interested spectators at the horse show.

Judge and Mrs. Elias V. Rosenkrans have taken a box for the Wampas ball and are entertaining a party of friends with a dinner at their home prior to the ball.

Mr. and Mrs. John King Baillie of Pasadena are also having a party of friends with them in their box.

Valentine Tea

A valentine tea was the attractive entertainment given entering freshmen women at the University of California at Los Angeles, by the Associated Women Students of the university Friday. Carrying out the Valentine motif, petite nosegays of red sweet peas were presented each guest by tiny Gemma Houston, daughter of Prof. Percy Houston of the English department, and heart-shaped cookies and punch were served.

Miss Barbara Brinkerhoff, vice-president of the Associated Women Students, and forty selected women acted as hostesses.

The divertisements of the afternoon consisted of a song and banjo skit by Miss Gail Erickson and James Stewart, bridge and dancing.

Patronesses of the occasion were the dean of women, Mrs. Helen Matthewson Laughlin, and Miss Ruth Atkinson, head of the physical department.

Keep Thin

To Keep Young

Fight excess fat, whatever else you do for youth, beauty and vitality. Fat is not popular today.

Some fight fat by strenuous exercise, some by starvation diet. But the fight is hard and never-ending.

Millions have learned to fight it with Marmola Prescription Tablets. They correct the cause. This is the easy, pleasant way.

Marmola has been used for 19 years. The use has grown, through proved results, until people are using a very large amount. You see the results wherever you look. You can learn them by inquiring of your friends. Excess fat is not nearly so common as it was.

Some wonder if such results can be accomplished without harm. The evidence is everywhere. Countless people know that Marmola brings benefits other than reduction. It could not live and prosper for nearly two decades without that.

Learn what Marmola does. Watch the gradual but constant reduction. Watch the new vitality that comes. Then tell your friends. Tell them how easy it is to reduce in the right way. Go start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Messages Sent Guests After Luncheon

Miss Marjorie Hamlin

[Shyder for National Illustrated News Syndicate]

OF MORE than usual interest to local society is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamlin of Kingsley Drive of the engagement of their attractive young daughter, Miss Marjorie Hamlin, to Garnet C. Rainey, son of the late Dr. Thomas Henry Rainey, and Mrs. Rainey of Rampart Boulevard. The news was told by exquisite valentines sent yesterday to the 100 who were guests of Mrs. Hamlin and Miss Hamlin at a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Uplifters' Club, the messages awaiting them on their return home from the clubhouse.

PARADE of FASHION

HERE AND ABROAD

DRESSES AND WRAPS MUST MATCH IN PARIS

Paris would as soon present a charming dress without its matching, or contrasting, wrap today, as Savile Row, London, would turn out a suit with blue trousers and a brown coat. Everywhere the ensemble costume is conspicuous. Women get closer and closer to the closely drawn lines which have so long indicated male apparel.

A dress of beige broadcloth, with matching coat, is in the spring collection of Ysab. There is nothing startling or particularly new about the model, but its sleek line and slenderizing revers offer great charm. It represents, however, the kind of dress the Parisian actually wears, combining grace with usefulness.

Short, rich brown fur forms a shawl collar and cuffs on the coat Ysab designs to go with this dress.

PASTRY TARTS INSPIRE BRITISH HAT DESIGNERS

"Open-work" pastry tarts are the latest inspiration of London designers of evening wraps. This type of casquette is now being much used for restaurants and theater wear. Fitting tightly to the head, the shingled hair appears through the openings that are cut in the material. Shimmering brocade in gold and silver is the material used in the making of the most popular types of these caps. Featherweight velvet ones also are seen, frequently the color of the velvet matching the cloak of the wearer.

RUSSIAN NEEDLEWOMEN POPULARIZE HANDIWORK

Kasha dresses for morning and sport wear, joined at the seams with wool embroidery, promise to be even more popular than ever this spring. Certain Russian needlewomen in Paris make a specialty of these dresses which are low in price. The wool trimming is actually worked on the material, and not applied, as was the bright wool banding so popular a season ago.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Quick Aid

One Mother Says:

In the lowest shelf of my medicine cabinet I have several bottles with large labels bearing the word which tells what they are used for. One has the words "Stings"—"Cuts", another "Burns," and others bear words telling at a glance just what one needs to know in a hurry. The children can find quick relief in this way from insect bites or stings and other injuries.

DIET and HEALTH

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

CHEESE

The small boy when asked: "What is limburger cheese composed of?" answered: "It ain't composed—it's decomposed."

I thought of this answer when reading in the September, 1926, issue of the American Journal of Physiology, of the vitamin A in certain cheeses.

Tests were made on rats that had been on diets deficient in the vitamin A (which has largely to do with the growth and the integrity of the mucous membranes and increases the resistance of the body to infectious diseases.) These rats had developed inflammation of the eyes and had their growth stopped. Three types of cheese were tested—the California cream cheese (cheddar,) New York limburger, and the imported Swiss cheese. It was found that the addition of cream and limburger cheese to the rats' diet cleared up the eye trouble and started growth, but the imported Swiss cheese did not. The deficiency of this cheese was thought to be due to the long heating and curing process used.

Even though this Swiss cheese has been found to have lost its vitamin A, it still contains the valuable lime and complete protein, so it is a good food.

Now a little more about limburger cheese. Kellogg calls limburger, Brie and Roquefort cheese "rotten" milk products and fit only for the turkey buzzard, but lovers of these cheeses will not agree with him. If your digestion is strong there is no doubt you can overcome the strength of these cheeses, but it would naturally seem that the milder cheeses such as cream and cottage, are more wholesome foods.

Strong cheeses are ripened and flavored with certain molds and yeasts. I haven't seen any work done on the subject that would indicate that these molds and yeasts are detrimental in those who have strong, healthy stomachs, for the disinfecting properties of the gastric juice will render them harmless.

Cheese is listed in Sherman and Smith as being three plus (which means the highest) in Vitamin A, two plus in Vitamin B, (the antineuritic vitamin,) and variable in Vitamin C (antiscurvy vitamin.) Cottage cheese is one plus in Vitamin A. The anticorbutic and antineuritic vitamins evidently have been destroyed in the making.

Cheese is a very concentrated food and has no equal therefore, when it is eaten, should be eaten.

SHE DID WHAT SHE COULD

"Dear Helper: The first time when I get my measure what our friend, Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters, says. You surely have helped me. Six months ago I weighed 220—now I weigh 200—a loss of 20 pounds. I am but five feet, five inches tall, and am 40 years of age. I feel lots better now. I do less cooking and raw. I am a vegetarian bit in the cabbage patch—but only five feet, five inches tall, weighed 240! My clear, normal average weight for your height is 140 pounds. What do you suppose is assisted by Mrs. with a loss of twenty-one pounds you still are not satisfied with you?

However, you are wise to go very slowly. About a pound a week, a quarter a week has been my rule, and at your age it is the safest way to do, although in some cases it is necessary to reduce more rapidly to relieve the heart of extra strain.

Just keep on eating from the vegetable patch. Mrs. A. E. Wilson, see that you get two glasses of milk or buttermilk, daily, or some other needed foodstuff. Write to me again when you have lost another 10 pounds.

I wish those of you who are writing me of your results in losing weight would also tell me some of the things that have helped you most in gaining much sought for health, or any other points that you think unusual.

The booklet on reducing may be obtained by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope with 6 cents in stamps.)

(Tomorrow—Meal Menus.)

My dear Helpers: When asked which we value most, health or money, we answer, of course, health. Yet how many people there are who do not value health as they should, or who do not take care of it as they should, or write their letters to me in such a way that I can help them! Please remember that I am glad to help you if you will only write me a letter that I can answer. Remember I do not answer letters through the newspaper. Please enclose a self-addressed envelope with your letter. Please write your letter in ink and not in pencil. Please write on only one side of the paper. BUTTER SPONGE CAKE

Two cupfuls of sugar, one of butter, six eggs beaten separately, one half cupful of milk, one half cupful of water, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three cupfuls of flour. Rub butter and sugar to a cream. Add yolks. Do not beat much. Next add with whites and flour last. Bake in loaf or cup cakes.

HUNGARIAN GOULASH

One pound lean beef, one pound lean veal, one tablespoonful fat, one large onion, diced, one teaspoonful paprika, one cupful strained tomatoes.

Veal and beef mixed. Cut into one inch squares and brown in hot fat with the onion, salt and pepper. When the meat is brown, add the tomatoes, and one-half hour before serving, add some small potatoes. Let cook slowly closely covered.

BANANA SPONGE

One-third package of gelatine, one-third cupful cold water, one-half cupful boiling water, one cupful sugar, juice of one lemon, one cupful banana pulp, whites of three eggs, slices of banana.

Soften the gelatine in cold water, add the boiling water and sugar, when the sugar is dissolved remove from the banana pulp, beat to the scalding point, cool, add the lemon juice and beat over ice water until light and cold, then beat in gradually the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Turn the mixture into a mold lined with slices of banana. Serve cold, ornamented with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored.

Peck Judah in New Quarters on South Hill

The formal opening of the new offices of the Peck Judah Company, Inc., at 749 South Hill street, occurred yesterday as announced by Floyd S. Judah, president of the company.

The Hill-street location is adjacent to the new offices of the Santa Fe and Western Pacific railways. The new quarters are leased from Gilbert's Restaurant, which recently has been remodeled to accommodate the restaurant, Peck Judah and the Santa Fe and Western Pacific ticket offices.

Peck Judah, which is world wide in its scope, formerly was situated in this city in South Spring street. All sorts and hotels information service and an independent and tours bureau is conducted.

C. V. Forsyth will be in charge of the information bureau. T. J. Lassuz, who until recently was with the Canadian Pacific steamship Company in San Francisco, has been brought to Los Angeles to manage the tours bureau of Peck Judah.

REZONING REQUESTED

The Crenshaw Boulevard Improvement Association yesterday asked the City Council to rezone Crenshaw Boulevard from Pico street to the Arroyo de la Escalera channel for business or semibusiness purposes, as provided in zones C and D.

Mrs. George A. Waters, recently appointed warden of the California State penitentiary, is believed to be the first of her sex to hold such a position.

CUSTOMERS WELCOMED AT OPENING

Remodeled Brack Shops Present Gala Appearance at Reception

BY OLIVE GRAY

There was just that breath-bated air which prevails in one's own home, a few hours before party-time! Throughout the various promenades of the Brack-Shops yesterday bouquets were being vased, draperies of newest designs were being hung, loveliest of wares and most modish of creations were being advantageously placed—in fact, "the best foot foremost" was the hospitable intent of that community shop building.

The Business and Fashion Show to open at 2 o'clock was in readiness and the many charming shops were to act as hostesses, to welcome friends old and new.

This building has been so handsomely remodeled as to seem like new, presenting the most modern features and facilities, including bronze-framed elevators, beautiful woodwork, new lighting systems, in fact, the best and most tasteful in fixtures and accessories.

As some one has aptly said: "One may shop all day and for many days in this building." There are represented gowns, jewelry designing, lingerie and negligees, hand-made in original designs; corsets, hemstitching and embroidery, millinery, furs, bead-stringing, gift shops, photography, tea-rooms, hand-painting china, interior decorating.

The opening will extend from Monday to Wednesday, inclusive, from 2 to 8 afternoons and from 7 to 10 in the evenings. Many interesting features and entertainments will be presented by the shops individually during this time.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Neat Finish

When hemming linens that are to be finished on the edge with lace, turn up the edge on the right side and place the lace on top of that. In this way the piece will be just as neat on the wrong side as the right. It may not seem so important when new but after a few washings the raveling starts unless correctly finished.

Accumulate Them

It is time to start saving the pasteboards that come in shirts from the laundry. They are invaluable when packing dresses for the summer vacation.

Make Them Last

When the drawnwork or hemstitching in a centerpiece or dolly becomes worn, sew a piece of insertion over the drawnwork and cut out underneath. The centers, if of good linen, will wear as long as the new lace.

LINEN NAPKINS

Do not sprinkle each napkin that is to be ironed. Dampen every third one quite wet and spread a dry napkin on either side of it. Roll all together. They will iron very easily if this is done.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Any one can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—[Advertisement.

Union's Scheme for Pay Rise to Council Today

Organized labor yesterday succeeded in putting through the Finance Committee of the City Council a complete schedule of salary increases for forty-nine foremen and superintendents in the city's employ. The increases range from $20 to $65 a month for each man, and if they are granted today by the City Council the city's pay roll will be boosted $14,000 yearly.

The lobbying before the finance committee was done by J. W. Buzzell, secretary of the Central Labor Council, a member of the City Civil Service Commission and a close worker with the Cryer regime.

CITY COUNCIL AIDS IN SCHOOL PROJECT

The City Council yesterday appointed a special committee consisting of Councilmen Barnes, Randall and Allan to make efforts to obtain from the Board of Education an agreement to purchase additional land at St. George and Tracy streets, so that a high school, to be known as the East Hollywood High School, can be built. The Northwest Chamber of Commerce asked the Council for support of the project, and Councilman Barnes said that the school is much needed.

COLORADO ALUMNI TO MEET

The Colorado College Alumni Association of Southern California will hold its annual banquet at the Windsor Tea Room, Brack-Shops, 527 West Seventh street, at 6:30 p.m. next Saturday. Dr. C. C. Mierow, president of the college, will speak.

Court Receives Appeal Briefs in Stand Collapse

The appeal of Paul P. Mahoney, Pasadena contractor, who was convicted of manslaughter as a result of the deaths of several men and women and the serious injury of 300 others when a street stand collapsed during the Tournament of Roses parade on January 1, 1926, was submitted on briefs yesterday to the Second District Court of Appeal.

Mahoney appealed his conviction on the ground that prejudicial error had been committed by the admission of irrelevant testimony during his trial. The appeal was accepted by Presiding Justice Works and an opinion will be handed down within the next three months.

Police Officer's Accidental Shot Possibly Fatal

Police Officers Fermin V. Irwin, 24 years of age, stationed at Highland Park Division, accidentally shot and perhaps fatally wounded himself yesterday when the .38 caliber automatic revolver he had finished cleaning was discharged, the bullet taking an upward direction until it finally lodged in his neck, puncturing the jugular vein.

Should death be cheated, Officer Irwin will owe his life to Officers Waters and Lamkin, who conveyed him to the Receiving Hospital in record time, meanwhile stemming the flow of blood as well as possible, and to Police Surgeons Saverien and Dorn, who performed a major operation.

Officer Irwin has been a member of the Los Angeles Police Department since April 1, 1926.

LA BREA PROTESTS GIVEN TO ENGINEER

The City Council this morning will take action in referring all protests against the widening to 100 feet of La Brea avenue from Pico street to Exposition Boulevard to the City Engineer for checking as to the percentage of the property owners who are protesting, and the Council is expected to set March 10 as the date on which protests will be read, protestants heard and action taken by the Council on proceeding with or abandoning the improvement.

PAVING WORK AWARDED

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded the contract for the paving of streets in the Verdun avenue and Rossland-street Improvement District to George R. Curtis. His bid, which was the lowest submitted, was $270,822.05.

Assessments in Wilmington Area Approved

Emil Cykler, harbor district piling and dredging contractor, yesterday received from the City Council authority to collect from the property owners in the Anaheim street and Sampson-avenue improvement district in the Wilmington section of the city $288,689.17 for filling a large number of streets with harbor-dredged material.

There were but eight appeals out of 800 property owners in the assessment district, and Councilman Colden said that the improvement was one of great benefit to the district. The Council then confirmed the assessment.

Honey Pumpkin Pie

16 Recipes—FREE

1 cup cooked and sifted pumpkin
½ cup Boyden's Honey
1 tablespoon flour
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1 pastry shell
½ teaspoon grated nutmeg

Mix the cooked pumpkin with the honey, stir in the eggs, the flour, which has been stirred smooth with a little of the milk, the salt and spices and the rest of the milk. Pour into the pastry shell, bake in a hot oven for ten minutes to set the crust, reduce the heat and bake slowly until a knife inserted comes out clean.

FUND ASKED FOR W. C. T. U. USES

Organization Launches Drive for $600,000

Home for Aged Women Must be Vacated

Enlargement of Activities Society Plans

A fund of $600,000 for a new building for the Southern California Home for Aged Women, for an endowment for the home and for endowmeht funds for the Francis Willard Home for Girls and the Home Center for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines at San Diego, is being sought by the State Women's Christian Temperance Union, southern division, it was announced yesterday. The solicitation of the fund, it was declared, has the sanction of the Community Chest.

According to a statement made by the publicity committee, the present wooden building of the Home for Aged Women has been condemned as unsafe and must be vacated. This home has been in use twenty-five years and at present every room and even the screened porches are occupied, while there is a long waiting list and new applications average three a day. It is planned to replace the present unsafe and outgrown structure with a modern, fireproof building and to provide a fund which will maintain the home and its inmates.

The Willard Home for Girls is a protective home, designed to give shelter until girls can be made self-supporting or returned to their parents, and the endowment fund planned will put this institution on a self-sustaining basis.

The Home Center for enlisted men of the three services at San Diego now has more than 1000 guests monthly, the committee says. It is located near the naval base and provides a homelike atmosphere for boys on leave.

The campaign for this $600,000 fund will cover all Southern California, it was said, but for the present the effort will be concentrated in Los Angeles.

Eighteen Seized as Suspects in Theater Hold-up

Eighteen arrests of suspected safe-crackers were made by police yesterday in an effort to find the two men who held up Harry S. Streberg, watchman at the Hollywood Playhouse, opened the safe and took $2000. Most of those arrested were released after brief questioning but several were held for a further examination. More arrests will be made, police said.

A large gang of safe burglars invaded Los Angeles recently from the East and that the two of the Hollywood Playhouse robbery are members of this gang, it was said at the detective bureau. Whether any of the men arrested have been identified by Streberg was not made known, and the names of the suspects were withheld for the present.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF STEALING $360 CHECK

Mrs. Sofia Coan, 45 years of age, was in the County Jail yesterday awaiting a hearing at Lancaster today on a charge of grand larceny, as the result of charges brought against her by her former employers, Mr. nd Mrs. Stanislaus Balliere, ranchers of Lancaster. It is charged that the defendant stole a check for $360. She was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Jones and Higgins.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

[Requests for recipes and information pertaining to the proper preparation and serving of foods will be answered in this column every Tuesday. Address all requests to Chef A. L. Wyman, Laboratory Kitchen, 434 Arden avenue, Glendale.—Ed.]

CHEF WYMAN'S ANSWERS

CHILI REINAS

A. R. D., Ventura, Cal.: Place in the oven large bell peppers and roast until black, wash in cold water and rub off the black skin. Cut around the stems and remove the seeds and coarse veins; take some dry cheese, grate fine and fill the peppers with it. Closing the ends with a wooden toothpick. Make a batter by beating separately the yolks and whites of six eggs, and when mixing, add enough flour to make a thin batter. Have ready a pan of boiling hot shortening, dip the peppers in the batter, then in the hot shortening, remove quickly and dip again in the hot shortening. Let then remain until a light golden brown. Place on a hot plate and cover with a sauce made by grinding to a pulp the pepper seeds, one small white onion, and two tomatoes and a seasoning of salt. Cook this mixture ten minutes and add what batter is left from dipping the peppers and cook twenty minutes. Finely chopped and seasoned meat may be used in place of the cheese.

AVOCADO COCKTAIL

G. E. J., Montrose, Cal.: Fill tall glasses two-thirds full of avocado, cut in dice; pour over a sauce made by mixing one-half cupful of tomato ketchup, with one-half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of orange juice, one-half a cupful of cream, and a seasoning of salt, paprika and tobasco sauce.

MASHED POTATO SALAD

S. O., Hollywood, Cal.: Place three cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes in a bowl, and while hot beat into them one-quarter of a teaspoonful of mustard, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of paprika, four tablespoonfuls of finely chopped parsley, two teaspoonfuls of onion juice, one tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar, and two tablespoonfuls of white wine vinegar, and one beaten egg. Beat until light, place on the ice until thoroughly chilled, and lay in spoonfuls on crisp lettuce leaves, garnished with sprigs of parsley and rings of hard-boiled eggs.

ORANGE MARMALADE

Slice twelve thin-skinned oranges, one lemon, and one grapefruit, remove the inner white pith and seeds and weigh. To each pound of fruit add six cupfuls of cold water and let stand in an earthenware dish for forty-eight hours. Keeping the dish well covered. Place in a preserving kettle and boil slowly until the fruit is tender. Pour in the earthenware dish and let stand overnight. Weigh and to each pound add one pound of sugar, bring to a boil, skim well and cook slowly until a little will jell when dropped on a cold plate. Seal in jars and store in a cool, dark place.

SHRIMP GLIDE

H. D. L., Los Angeles, Cal.: Place in a double boiler, two tablespoonfuls of butter, melt and stir into it two tablespoonfuls of flour. When well blended, add one cupful of rich milk, a seasoning of salt and paprika, and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Beat with a wire whip until foamy, then add one and one-half cupfuls of clean shrimps. Cover and cook four minutes. Stir in half a cupful of small cooked green peas and heat. Serve on squares of buttered toast.

DEVILED LAMB CHOPS

Broil six thick lamb chops until nearly done. Mix four level tablespoonfuls of English mustard, a pinch of cayenne pepper, and enough Worcestershire sauce to make a paste. Cover both sides of the chops with this mixture, dip them in fine bread crumbs, then in melted butter, place in a pan and brown in a medium oven. Serve on a mound of mashed potatoes and garnish with strips of broiled bacon and sprays of parsley. Pour over a deviled sauce.

DEVILED SAUCE

Place in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one chopped clove of garlic, and one tablespoonful of chopped mild onion. Reduce until nearly dry. Add one cupful of tomato sauce and half a cupful of meat gravy, and cook at a boil for ten minutes. Add a teaspoonful of dry mustard, mixed with two teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, a pinch of cayenne pepper, one tablespoonful of roange juice and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Boil up once and strain through a sieve.

MEXICAN PORK PUDDING

T. K. K., Phoenix, Ariz.: Remove the fat and bones from two pounds of fresh pork and place in a saucepan with two cupfuls of boiling water and simmer until tender. Remove the meat and place in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped onion, one sweet red pepper, chopped fine; a tablespoonful of chili powder, and a cup of the broth. Cook slowly until the meat is tender, chop fine the contents of one can of corn and heat in a saucepan with three tablespoonfuls of milk, a seasoning of salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Add to the corn mixture a tablespoonful of melted lard and one well-beaten egg, spread a layer of the corn mixture in a baking dish, cover this with a layer of meat, and cover the meat with finely chopped ripe olives. Repeat this process until the dish is filled. Bake in a slow oven, one hour, adding a little boiling water if it is too dry. Veal or chicken can be used in the place of the pork.

BANANA PIE

L. K. M., Los Angeles, Cal.: For the banana pie, press through a sieve enough bananas to make two cupfuls of pulp, and add to the pulp half a cupful of sugar, two rolled and sifted soda crackers, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, half a cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of molasses, a little cinnamon and two beaten eggs, mix well and pour into a pastry lined pie pan. Bake the same as pumpkin pie.

CORNMEAL WAFFLES

M. E. A., Los Angeles, Cal.: Cook half a cupful of white cornmeal with one and a half cupfuls of boiling water for twenty minutes. Remove from the fire and beat into it one and a half cupfuls of sweet milk, three cups of flour, sifted with three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one teaspoonful of salt. Beat well, add the well-beaten yolks of two eggs and four tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Add the stiffly-beaten whites of the two eggs and bake on a hot waffle iron. This also makes delicious corn griddle cakes.

Fifty women now are enrolled as members of the Royal Astronomical Society of Great Britain.

EXPOSITION PLANS MADE IN JALISCO

American Interests Asked to Aid in Guadalajara Display of Products

Guadalajara, capital of the State of Jalisco, Mex., and the terminus of a branch line of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico, will bid for American exposition honors during July and August of this year, when the rail line linking the important West Coast industrial center with California is expected to be completed.

Tidings of the project were brought to Los Angeles yesterday by Henry C. Higley, 32-year-old manager of the exposition, a civil engineer, graduate of Yale and the University of Texas, who is stopping at Venice with his uncle, Mortimer Higley.

Young Higley arrived in Los Angeles from the East, where he has been outlining plans for the exposition, the character of which is hoped by its manager to be international in scope. Products of Jalisco, Sonora, Sinaloa, Michoachan and Colima will be on display and plans already formed call for the operation of special tourist trains between Los Angeles and Guadalajara.

Higley bore a message to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce from the commercial organization of his own city and officials of the local institution expressed complete willingness to co-operate in promoting plans for the exposition's success.

The exposition missionary is the son of Henry Grant Higley, until his death civil engineer on the Guadalajara line.

Naval Officers Refuse Data on Seaman's Death

Officers of the U.S.S. Arizona last night declined to reveal circumstances concerning the death of William Bootom, a seaman, first-class, on that ship, whose body showing marks of violence, yesterday was brought ashore to the Goodrich Undertaking Parlors, San Pedro. An investigation is under way, it was announced.

The body of Emmett Warren, seaman, first-class, on the U.S.S. Colorado, also was transferred yesterday from the Colorado to the Goodrich parlors pending shipment of the remains to Rogersville, Ala., former home of the seaman.

Warren was killed on the night of the 12th inst., in an automobile accident north of Compton.

STAFF GETS VALENTINE

Portrait of Sim W. Crabill Given to Electrotype Company

The staff of the American Engraving and Electrotype Company, which is associated with The Times and The Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House, received as a Valentine yesterday a life-sized portrait of Sim W. Crabill, manager.

Mrs. Bertha M. Just, office manager of the engraving company, received the gift on behalf of the staff from H. E. McCornell, a salesman, and the portrait was placed in the engraving company office.

Quick Quaker "stands by" you through the morning

That's why doctors urge it to start every day

TO feel right through the morning you must have well-balanced, complete food at breakfast. At most other meals—that is, at luncheon and at dinner—you usually get that kind of food but rarely at breakfast.

Thus Quick Quaker, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 65% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Food that should start every breakfast you eat.

Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

The Daily Conference

One of the most important factors in the Safeway Man's training is the daily conference between store managers and their salesmen. In these conferences daily problems involving the economical and efficient dispensing of foods are talked over and each man is given an opportunity to offer suggestions or criticisms tending to improve the service or eliminate waste.

The manager explains all of the various details of properly conducting a store or market according to our method. Each man is shown how he, individually, can serve the public better. This policy of taking our men into our confidence—of taking counsel with them and making them realize that they are indeed and in truth a vital part of the business—accounts, in part, for the keen intelligence with which they serve you.

CARL LEONARDT ANSWERS CALL

Head of Cement Company Dies After Operation

Erected Many of Cities' Permanent Buildings

Funeral to be Conducted Tomorrow Morning

Carl Leonardt, president of the Southwestern Portland Cement Company, builder of some of the more prominent older buildings in the city and for forty years a resident of Los Angeles, died in the Good Samaritan Hospital early yesterday morning. He was operated on for an abdominal trouble about two weeks ago. He was 71 years of age.

Mr. Leonardt was a building contractor here for many years. He erected the Hall of Records, Pacific Electric Building, H. W. Hellman Building, Grant Hotel in San Diego, the sugar plants at Oxnard and Huntington Beach and many public and semipublic structures.

For the last seven or eight years, Mr. Leonardt had devoted himself exclusively to his cement interests. His company has plants in Victorville, El Paso, Tex., and Dayton, O.

BORN IN GERMANY

Westphalia, Germany, is the place of Mr. Leonardt's nativity. He left there forty-one years ago for America. He was at San Antonio, Tex., for a year and then came here. The Leonardt family home was at 2 Chester Place until the death of Mrs. Leonardt three years ago. Since that time he had lived at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Powell, 621 South Oxford street. The other daughter, Mrs. Felix McGinnis, lives in San Francisco.

A funeral service will be conducted at the Powell home tomorrow at 9 a.m. and will be followed by one in St. Vincent's Church, where Bishop Cantwell will officiate. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

HONORARY PALLBEARERS

Honorary pallbearers for the funeral include E. L. Doheny, Marco Hellman, Irving H. Hellman, Dr. Carl Kurt, Dan Murphy, Secondo Guasti, Dr. P. G. White, C. J. Kubach, John P. Krempel, Frank Jackson, W. G. Kerckhoff, William Lacy, B. H. Lacy, Victor H. Rossetti, J. A. Graves, S. H. Maier, Simon Maier, John Trainor, Norman Macbeth, Richard Culver, Isadore B. THEATER "SOLD OUT"

Postal Employees and Wives Pack Morosco to Raise Funds

Members of the Los Angeles Postal Employees' Association and their families "bought out" the Morosco Theater last night and attended the performance of "A Poor Nut" en masse as part of their program to obtain funds with which to send the association's band to the El Paso national convention of the Association of Letter Carrier next September.

The theater party was in charge of Harry T. Johnson, chairman of the association's entertainment committee, which is planning other affairs to increase the convention fund.

BRITISH NOVELIST TO GIVE PUBLIC LECTURE

Los Angeles lovers of literature and fiction are to have an opportunity to hear Hugh Walpole, well-known British novelist, at a public lecture to be given in Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California, Thirty-fifth street and University avenue tonight, according to announcement of the lecture bureau of the Trojan university, under whose auspices the English author is to speak. "Books and My Friends," is to be the topic of Mr. Walpole's lecture, and he will include in his talk comments based on personal contact with H. G. Wells, John Galsworthy, Arnold Bennett, Thomas Hardy, and Joseph Conrad.

PROSECUTOR MEETS RAP WITH REPLY

Responsibility for Low Flying at Venice Denied by Dist.-Atty. Keyes

A statement disavowing responsibility for permitting low flying at Venice was issued yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Keyes in reply to a letter from Armand A. Normandin, 2715 South Main street, father of Leitizia Normandin, one of the two girls killed by a plane at the Venice beach on July 21, last. Carroll B. Crosman, an aviator, is now being tried on manslaughter charges in connection with the death of the Normandin girl and Madeline Kupfer, both 13 years of age.

Normandin wrote that Los Angeles and Venice police have done nothing in response to pleas to enforce the law prohibiting flying at a height of not less than 1000 feet over buildings. Had this law been enforced, he said, his daughter would not have been killed.

Keyes's answering statement follows:

"While I fully sympathize with Mr. Normandin's feelings in this matter, and while I deplore as much as he does the stunt-flying over inhabited houses, yet in fairness to my deputies and myself I must point out that my office is not charged with the duty of arresting reckless pilots.

"There are no aerial policeman connected with my staff. If the police should arrest aviators who violate the law and bring them here and present evidence in the case, prosecution will shortly follow. Our action in the case of Carroll B. Crosman, now being prosecuted for causing the death of two 13-year-old girls for reckless driving of his airplane on the beach at Venice, is ample proof of my attitude."

NEW HARBOR HEAD TAKES OVER DUTIES

Port Manager Cole's First Day in Office Devoted to Survey of Affairs

Franklyn B. Cole, newly appointed manager of the port, spent yesterday, his first day as administrative head of Los Angeles Harbor, inspecting harbor facilities, together with his department heads.

Accompanying Mr. Cole on the port survey were Capt. S. Steele Sandberg, port traffic manager; Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson; Burt Edwards, comptroller; Assistant Port Manager Jay G. Starr, and Clyde M. Leach, deputy District Attorney.

The morning was spent in the offices of Capt. Sandberg and Mr. Nicholson, getting under way several projects which had lain dormant during the illness of Charles H. Spear, who last week resigned as port manager.

Mr. Cole, who comes to his new post from service as engineer to the Greater Harbor Committee of Two Hundred, said yesterday that until he formulates a definite policy of action the administrative program laid down by Mr. Spear will be followed to the letter.

'King Tut Tomb' Hides Treasure of Illicit Sort

A cleverly constructed "plant" under the cement floor of a local cafe, entrance barred by a heavy concrete block, which could be lifted only by a complicated electrical connection, was revealed yesterday when Alfred Nelson came before Municipal Judge Turney for arraignment.

Nelson was arrested by Officers Washburn, Stokes and Mulligan at Corbett's Cafe, 907 West Third street. Ninety pints of liquor were confiscated in the raid. Detective Caldwell informed the court. Prosecutor Thoms charged that the cafe is known as a resorting place for hijackers, bootleggers, gunmen and other underworld characters.

On Nelson's plea of not guilty Judge Turney fixed bail at $500 and set the case for April 13, next.

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS ASKED

The installation of ornamental lighting posts on Fifty-fourth street from Second avenue to Seventh avenue was asked of the City Council yesterday by property owners.

EWING PAVING ASKED

The paving of Ewing street from Apex avenue to Fanning street with 5-inch cement concrete pavement with a roadway width of thirty feet yesterday was asked in a petition filed with the City Council.

PURSE MAY GIVE CLEW IN MYSTERY

Youth Tells of Wallet Found on Desert Which May be Missing Texan's

Investigation was started by the Sheriff's office here yesterday regarding an account given by Oral George, 17 years of age, Walnut Park, of the finding near Deming, N. M., of a wallet, which it was thought might throw some light on the mysterious disappearance here on the 3rd inst. of Howard H. Hunter, master mechanic for a railroad in Dallas, Tex.

The youth reported he was riding in a car with another youth, whose parents were with him, when the wallet and an overcoat were discovered near Deming. He said the wallet appeared to be stuffed with what he thought were bills.

It was reported the mother of the youthful driver grasped the wallet and she and her husband drove on. It was recalled that Hunter left a local hotel on the 3rd inst., carrying more than $28,800 in cash and more in traveler's checks.

Hunter was said to be on his way to Dallas to marry Miss Ruth Cary of 2505 Maple street, Dallas, and that she had received two letters from him, saying he was leaving in the company of two strangers. One letter told of a quarrel and later, the young woman is said to have received another letter, not in Hunter's writing, saying the quarrel was settled amicably.

Capt. Bond of the Sheriff's missing persons detail yesterday said he doubted if the wallet were Hunter's because the latter left here on the 3rd inst., and the wallet was found on that date.

CRUZE TO MAKE TWO MORE

Noted Lasky Director Gets Many Offers from Others; First National Buys Comic Strip Film Rights; Emil Jannings to Play Limehouse Hero

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Just what James Cruze's future plans will be is not certain. The famous director, who made "The Covered Wagon," "Beggar on Horseback," "Old Ironsides" and other pictures for Paramount, is still under contract to that firm, but his contract with them will expire in the course of a few months.

JAMES CRUZE.

It is understood that there has been some little friction between Cruze and Paramount, with Cruze not pleased because of certain restrictions alleged to have been made on his productions. But whether all these reported differences will be patched up and Cruze remain with Paramount, or whether he will leave that organization it isn't possible to ascertain at this time.

Cruze is known as one of the most brilliant directors in the business. He has received many offers from other large film companies, and there are those who prophesy that he will accept one of these.

In the meantime he will probably make two more pictures for Paramount. One of these will be a comedy entitled "Fireman, Save My Child." Then, ascending a few thousand feet, it is the plan that Cruze will film "Beau Babreur," by Percival Christopher Wren, author of "Beau Geste."

Harold Teen on Screen

The purchase of world screen rights for all times to the newspaper comic strip entitled "Harold Teen" has just been announced by John McCormick, general manager of west coast production for First National Pictures, and M. C. Levee, general executive manager.

The acquisition of these rights is largely due to the immense success that attended the production of "Ella Cinders" by McCormick, in which Colleen Moore was starred by First National.

The development of a story around the "Harold Teen" adventures is now in process and production will be started in the near future.

It is of general interest to note that "Harold Teen" is said to have the widest circulation, continuously, of any similar strip in the history of American newspapers. It has been followed eagerly by millions of Americans for more than six years, not only in its daily appearance, but also as a full-page comic running in a large number of the leading newspapers of the nation.

No star has as yet been selected to embody the paper doll hero, but it is interesting to note that Eddie Quillan, Mack Sennett star, so greatly resembles the comic strip sheik that he has received many letters asking him if he were not the original of the cartoons. I charge nothing for this little observation tossed at random amid the whirl of daily film news.

Monta Bell's Next

Following the signing of a new long-term contract, Monta Bell, former Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, has returned to M.-G.-M., where he will soon direct John Gilbert in a new starring vehicle, according to Irving G. Thalberg, studio executive.

The name of the new Gilbert picture has not been announced, but it will probably follow "Twelve Miles Out," which will be directed by Jack Conway.

Byron Morgan With M.-G.-M.

As an indication that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is preparing to film a number of red-blooded stories, it was announced yesterday by Harry Rapf, studio executive, that Byron Morgan has been placed under contract to write exclusively for that organization.

Morgan is known widely for his fiction published by the Saturday Evening Post and other periodicals, and has been the author of many screen stories. He wrote the majority of the late Wallace Reid's out-of-doors vehicles based on racing, golf and other athletic pastimes, and he recently wrote the screen play of "Red, White and Blue," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is producing with the cooperation of the United States government. This picture introduces Karl Dane and George K. Arthur as a new screen comedy team with Marcelite Day in the featured feminine role.

Emil Jannings's New One

The fog of Limehouse nights will sweep anew over the screens of the world in Emil Jannings's next picture for Paramount, a powerfully dramatic saga of the underworld of London to be filmed under the working title of "The King of Soho."

EMIL JANNINGS

It will be the international artist's second American-made production for Famous Players-Lasky, and will go into production shortly after completion of his present vehicle, "The Way of All Flesh," which is being directed by Victor Fleming.

"The King of Soho" is an original by Josef von Sternberg. The screen play is by Benjamin Glazer. It is said that Von Sternberg has given Jannings a characterization wholly fitting with his talents as one of the foremost picture stars of the day. "The King of Soho" is a letter of an unscrupulous gang of ruffians in the evil Soho district of London. He meets a Salvation Army lassie during her ministering rounds and joins the army that he may seduce her. It wouldn't be fair to tell you how he is reformed. Of course, you will already have guessed that he is, however.

Eva Novak to Remain

Eva Novak, that inveterate globe-trotter, is to take a vacation from travel. She is not going back to Australia until early April. Cable advices from her husband, William Reid, who is now in Sydney aiding in putting the finishing touches on Miss Novak's last Australian production, "For the Term of His Natural Life," indicates that Eva will not be forced to leave Hollywood until that month. She is to be starred in a series of six features to be produced by Australian capital from stories typical of life and romance in the Antipodes.

EVA NOVAK

In the meantime Miss Novak is making haw while the sun shines. She has just completed the featured feminine role in "Red Signals," a railroad melodrama, produced by Joe Rock for Sterling at Universal City. Earl Williams and Wallace MacDonald are co-featured with Miss Novak and J. P. McGowan directed. She plans to do leading roles in three more pictures before the time comes that she must sail forth on that long voyage back to Australia.

Menjou's Buddy in It

Adolphe Menjou has joined the ranks of producers in one respect—the introduction of new faces to the screen. In "Evening Clothes," which has just been completed at the Lasky studio under Luther Reed's direction, Menjou introduced one Jack Turley, former Missouri University athlete, and a nice role was allotted him as a French prize fighter.

Turley has been prominent in Los Angeles business circles for several years, but now threatens to completely desert the financial mart.

Menjou and Turley became acquainted during the war, at Allentown, Pa., the training center for the Ambulance Corps. There the two put on a training-camp show which was later introduced to all American conbentration centers.

Her Wink Was Famous in Old Broadway Days

Cissy Fitzgerald, former idol of Broadway and creator of the still famous "Cissy Fitzgerald Wink," plays an important role in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of New York life, now playing at the Uptown Theater, Tenth and Western avenue.

Miss Fitzgerald plays the role of the "dancing mother" in the film which depicts the ultra-select group of social elite in New York in their daily round difficulties amid sumptuous surroundings.

Pauline Starke and Owen Moore head the cast in the new production, with Lionel Barrymore, Gwen Lee, Dorothy Phillips, Carol Wines, George Cooper and others in support.

CUT YOURSELF PIECE OF CAKE

When Val and Ernie Stanton remark to the ladies at the matinees at the Orpheum tomorrow, "Cut yourself a piece of cake," the ladies can truthfully reply, "No, thank you, we just had a piece."

Tomorrow's matinee at the Orpheum is the thirty-third Anniversary Cake matinee and each lady that attends will be given a piece of cake as a souvenir of the occasion. And as Trixie Friganza remarked when advised of the event, "That matinee will certainly take the cake."

STAGE AND SCREEN DIVIDE HER TIME

Helen Ferguson is one of the busiest persons in Hollywood these days. In addition to appearing in support of Reaton Churchill in "Alias the Deacon" at the Hollywood Playhouse, she is also keeping up with her motion-picture contracts.

Helen Ferguson

Immediately after finishing a role in "The Tiger" with Pat O'Malley, Miss Ferguson was signed to costar with Lou Tellegen in "Eyes of Envy," now being made at the Fine Arts studio.

"Alias the Deacon" marks the first appearance of Helen Ferguson behind the footlights.

GRIFFITH ANNOUNCES CONTRACT TO P.D.C.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—After many weeks of conjesture with affirmatives and denials pouring in from every conceivable source, it now seems more or less definite that all other plans for the immediate future of D. W. Griffith have been abandoned and that immediately following the imminent merger of Pathe and Producers' Distributiong Corporation this producer will become a member of this unit.

Griffith now definitely announces that he is no longer considering the proposed return to United Artists or any other connection, but will work under contract to Pathe-P.D.C., personally directing two pictures and supervising the production of from four to six others. As remuneration Griffith will share in the profits of these films in addition to a stipulated figure when agreed upon.

MORE THAN HALF A CENTURY OF PROGRESSIVE BANKING SERVICE

From

8 to 42 years of Loyal Service

Fourteen of its Junior officers have faithfully served this bank a combined total of more than 280 years!

WE have heretofore told you of the personnel and standing of the present directors of the Bank and of former directors who have passed away.

No praise can be too great for the younger officers of the institution. Their names with the length of time they have been with the bank are:

A. E. ELLIOTT, Vice-President	42 years
J. M. HUTCHISON, Vice-President	34 years
GEO. H. NAEGELE, Cashier	22 years

ASSISTANT CASHIERS

E. L. Powell	25 years	F. B. Dickey	15 years
C. L. Hogan	23 years	H. L. St. Clair	14 years
F. S. Hilpert	19 years	Also Asst. Trust Officer W. J. Crosby	16 years
E. Mader	19 years	F. B. Putnam	14 years
Ernest Garrett	15 years	W. D. Baker	14 years

R. C. Lemmon, Assistant Trust Officer - 8 years

All of them are upstanding, competent officials. They have the prosperity of the Bank at heart. They have served their apprenticeship within its walls. They have come up from the ranks, and gained their present positions by earnest effort and faithful services. Some of them started as messenger boys.

In the ranks below these officers, other men are in training, who, in time, will also be advanced to positions of greater responsibility than they now occupy. There is no occasion for the Bank to go outside for executives. It has them at hand,—competent, loyal to the institution, versed in its ways, trained to its business principles, and able to handle its affairs.

PLAY TO SHOW AT MAJESTIC

"I'm Sitting Pretty" Will be Presented With New Leading Lady

Ruth Helen Davis will be associated with Tom Wilkes in a downtown presentation of "I'm Sitting Pretty" at the Majestic Theater this week.

"I'm Sitting Pretty" was written by Miss Davis and given its world premiere at the Belmont Theater several weeks ago. The run there was cut short due to the staging of "The Fool," the current attraction there.

The play is said to deal with the experiences of a newly rich family and their efforts to break into New York society.

Marta Golden, who last appeared as the native wife in "Rain" at the Orange Grove, will appear in the leading feminine role, that of the socially ambitious mother. Lillianne Leighton, who created the role at the Belmont, was not able to resume her stage work on account of a motion-picture contract.

The majority of the cast, however, will be moved to the Majestic intact.

Miss Davis is also reported to be looking for a new stage vehicle for James Kirkwood and Lila Lee, now appearing at the Belmont in "The Fool."

Kate Campbell Assigned Lead in 'The Tavern'

According to announcements made yesterday by Louis O. Macloon, Kate Campbell has been signed to play opposite Alan Brooks in George M. Cohan's mystery melodrama, "The Tavern," which opens at the Biltmore Monday evening for a limited engagement.

Miss Campbell has not been seen in this city since Louis O. Macloon presented his production of "The Butter and Egg Man," and has been allotted the important role of Violet in the George M. Cohan mystery play.

As Violet in this comedy, Miss Campbell will appear in one of the most important roles of her entire stage career.

Alan Brooks is cast as the vagabond, a role played by George M. Cohan himself, as well as the late Arnold Daly. Sam Sidman will play the role of Williyum, creating the catch line, "What's all the shootin' for?"

"The Tavern" will be presented here by Macloon as one of the first big productions listed on his play schedule for 1927, and has a cast of supporting artists including Harry Jordan, John H. Elliott, E. P. Wade, Paul Fix, Frances Sheehan, Margaret Wesner, Zeffie Tilbury, W. D. Pearsall, Stuart Erwin, Thomas L. Brower and others.

The entire production is being staged under the direction of Alan Brooks.

Triangle Used in 'Glory,' but New Treatment

The rise of the curtain on "What Price Glory," which is the current attraction at the Playhouse Theater, discloses company headquarters in a French village. The bare room looks clean. So do the three American soldiers sitting on the bench.

One of them speaks broken English, Lipinsky, presumably a Polish Jew. Capt. Flagg arrives. An interesting situation starts to work out. Flagg finds than an old foe of his, Sergt. Quirt, interpreted by Clarke Gable, has been assigned to his company. Their hatred of each other they subordinate to their war loyalty. And this loyalty carries them even through competition for a little French girl with a faculty for going easily from one man to another.

Some practical difficulties here, caused by difference in language. The French girl has learned to speak a little English, enough, at any rate, to carry her along when her father, the inn keeper, comes to demand marriage for his daughter.

WARNER STUDIO WILL SEE REVUE

MARIE CALLAHAN

A gala celebration is being planned for the Saturday midnight show, the 20th inst. It will be official "Warner Brothers' Night," and the star, under that banner as well as studio officials have promised to be present to aid in the festivities. Huge sun arcs will light up the skies.

Fanny Brice is the star of the revue, W. N. Marie Callahan, one of the chief feminine luminaries.

The second of the series of popular priced matinees which Louis O. Macloon is presenting every Wednesday of his "New Music Box Revue," starring Fanny Brice, will be given tomorrow afternoon.

Tragic Figure in Play

Ruby Rush

Appearing as the factory girl in the dramatization of Theodore Wreiser's "An American Tragedy," now showing at Wilkes' Vine Street Theater.

ROLES ALWAYS VARY

Few screen stars have the ability to give to their followers a wide range of acting which will permit the portrayal of numerous roles and types which in no way resemble each other.

Most feminine stars prefer stories of a certain type, which permit them to play more or less the same kind of roles in each picture. But not so Norma Shearer.

This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, though she has been on the screen less than four years, has furnished an entirely different characterization and type with each picture of her career.

Her roles have varied from the upper planes of society to the demimonde and from circus performer to school teacher. In fact she played two exact opposites in a single picture, "Ladies of the Night," wherein she had the dual role of a girl of the half-world and a society debutante.

Miss Shearer made her first screen bit as an American flapper in "Pleasure Mad." In "He Who Gets Slapped" she had the role of a European society woman. "His Secretary" showed her as two types of stenographer, while in "The Devil's Circus" she was a circus performer. In "The Snob" she was a school teacher and in "The Waning Sex" was a woman attorney.

In "The Demi Bride," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture starring Miss Shearer with Lew Cody, and seen at Loew's State she appears as a young French school girl whose innocence and self-confidence gives her the victory in love over her own stepmother.

The cast "The Demi Bride," which was directed by Robert Z. Leonard, also includes Dorothy Sebastian, Carmel Myers and Lionel Belmore.

Francis Will Make Another Theater Visit

Again acceding to popular demand, Alec B. Francis, the character actor, will once more be seen in person on the stage of the Figueroa Theater, where his starring vehicle, "The Music Master," is showing in its second week. He will appear tonight.

ALEC B. FRANCIS

Francis was applauded on his visit to the theater last week, whither he was invited by the management after repeated solicitations from the anxious patrons, who have stormed the box office consistently since the picture made its debut there.

Seen as the music master, a role played on the stage some twenty years ago by David Warfield under the Belasco banner, Francis gives what is acclaimed perhaps his most dramatic portrayal, winning also the honor of being called the Warfield of the screen. He appears as Anton von Barwig, the impoverished musician, whose wife leaves him, departing for America with their daughter Helene. The musician gives up his clientele in Vienna and follows her, but only after a score of misfortunes is he happily reunited with his daughter.

Belasco Stage Production to Travel Circuit

Don Jose Maria Lopez y Tostado is leaving.

Richard Bennett will play him for the last time in "The Dove" at the Belasco Theater Sunday night. The genial Don Jose has enjoyed six weeks of high life at the Belasco during the run of the David Belasco play, and is now preparing to journey to San Diego, a city much nearer his native country.

Messrs. Belasco, Butler and Davis are sending Richard Bennett in "The Dove" out to tour their new circuit, starting Monday at the Spreckels Theater in San Diego, thence to Pasadena, Santa Barbara and San Francisco. This will be the first Belasco production to go out over the circuit, and will travel by special train, as it includes sixty people and three baggage cars of scenery.

In the meantime, the final performances of "The Dove" are taking place this week at the Belasco.

The final Los Angeles performance takes place on Sunday night.

"In Bat So" opens on Monday at the Belasco.

MACLOON EXTENDS LEASE ON THEATER

Because of the popularity of Michael Kallesser's sex comedy-drama, "One Man's Woman," and the fact that playgoers are said to be purchasing reservations long in advance of performance dates, Louis O. Macloon yesterday negotiated a deal with Arthur Freed to extend his lease on the Orange Grove to cover a period of twenty weeks.

It is Macloon's intention of sending the play on the road shortly and producing another sex comedy as its successor. Whether or not Macloon has entered into negotiations with Michael Kallesser of New York for "Any Man's Woman," his sequel to the current Orange Grove sensation, was not announced, but rumors are rife that the producer is considering the play for local production.

ELINOR GLYN STORY BOOKED FOR RIALTO

Elinore Glyn's latest comedy, "It," opens at the Rialto tomorrow. On account of the popularity of this first Clara Bow starring picture, the management of the Rialto is opening the engagement two days early.

"It," that shortest word in slangdom that means everything from sex appeal to the ability to be a lightning calculator, is transmutable.

Proof of this was demonstrated in the filming of this original story by Elinore Glyn, it is said. Director Clarence Badger had Antonio Moreno and Clara Bow in their third rehearsal of a special sequence. He wasn't quite satisfied with the result. "Ah, ha!" He suddenly exclaimed, "I have It." And badger joined in the general laugh that followed.

MARINES GUESTS OF METROPOLITAN

Twenty-five marines will be guests of honor at the Metropolitan Theater tonight, in celebration of "Marine Night," which is being observed in connection with "Let It Rain," Douglas MacLean's Paramount picture, in which the stellar comedian is cast as a young sergeant of the Marine Corps.

DOUGLAS MACLEAN

Frank L. Newman, managing director of the Los Angeles Publix Theaters, has arranged for Lee Shumway, who appears as the captain in "Let It Rain," to appear as master of ceremonies, when the detachment of marines will be introduced.

In addition to MacLean and Shumway, the cast for "Let It Rain" includes Wade Boteler, Shirley Mason, Frank Campeau and others.

On the magic stages at the Metropolitan Theater Bob Nelson, "The Dixie Dynamo," is seen in "Marching Through Jazzland," a Jack Partington presentation.

PRESENTED TO COOLIDGE

Louis B. Mayer, noted film producer, and family were presented to President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House while in Washington a few days ago, according to word received at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. The Mayer party went East a few weeks ago with Marcus Loew and family and at Palm Beach they enjoyed a brief vacation.

DIRECT DESCENDANT

MEISLE EXCELS IN RUSSIAN NUMBERS

Operatic Contralto Pleasing in Recital Program of Unusual Versatility

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The Los Angeles debut of Katherine Meisle in recital took place last night as the eighth event of the auditorium artist series. Miss Meisle was introduced to the city last fall as the leading contralto of the Los Angeles Civic Opera, coming here from the Chicago Opera Company for the purpose. She is, it goes without saying because of her achievements elsewhere, a singer of a high order of musicianship. Her voice is a velvety contralto with a surprisingly highly range and a remarkable flexibility.

Her program last night was varied. It catered to many tastes. Those who preferred German lieder were satisfied with her first group of Brahms and Schubert, sung with a beautifully smooth German diction and fine phrasing.

The second group was outstanding in its interest. It consisted of four Russian songs from the pens of Rachmaninoff and Gretchaninoff which were musically, dramatically and artistically arresting. They were sung in clearly understandable English so well translated from the Russian that they fitted the phrases to a nicety.

Operatic arias from "Le Phrophete," "The Barber of Seville" and "Carmen" displayed Miss Meisle's vocal technic and a fine sense of the drama. Her singing of "Una voce poco fa" was a vocal feat that few contraltos could equal. The fact that the role of Rosina was originally written for low voice did not lessen its coloratura demands.

The compliment paid a resident artist when Miss Meisle sang one of Fannie Dillon's late songs was appreciated by the audience. It was a quiet, atmospheric number filled with the unmistakable longing for the mountains and the sadness that often accompanies contemplation of Nature's wonders.

The last group of Salter's "Cry of Rachel," Stanford's "Bold Unbiddable Boy," Fannie Dillon's "Alpe" and a setting of the familiar poem "Trees" by her excellent accompanist Solon Alberti was augmented by several encores.

Katherine Meisle has a most pleasing warmth of address before a recital audience and were she to sing more of the strictly contralto song literature and fewer numbers which show off her high range and her coloratura powers her programs would carry more distinction.

FAIR WEATHER INSIDE THEATER

Clouds Outside Have No Effect on Entertainers of Pantages Bill

Fair weather and fun reigned supreme within the Pantages Theater, and completely dispelled the threatening skies, flooded streets and general downpour outside.

The occasion of the hilarity was the advent of the new bill, that featured as its headliner Cecilia (Cissie) Loftus.

Cissie Loftus is billed as "the world's greatest mimic," and in her act, entitled "Impressions of Today and Yesterday," she did much to prove her title correct.

Among those selected by the versatile Cissie, were the Duncan sisters, Fanny Brice, Eva Tanguay and Nora Bayes. In every instance her quaint imitations caused amazement and enthusiasm on the part of the audience.

Her likenesses were vividly realistic, and it was, in many cases as if one was listening to the person imitated, instead of the imitator.

Two well-known Fanny Brice selections were chosen for "Fanny's" part in the act. The numbers were "The Spring Song," and the famous "Russian" dialogue. In both cases, the numbers were rendered with vivid semblance.

Other characteristic selections were chosen for the other members of the group.

Perhaps the finest piece on her program was the bit of the "Shanghai Gesture," popular New York drama, that was offered in imitation of Florence Reed.

This piece was gripping monologue, and gained the sincere appreciation of the audience.

Francis Benault, female impersonator in his act, offered some rare touches of comedy as well as displaying an elaborate Parisian wardrobe.

Mr. Benault's part of the bill proved to be a most popular one.

As comedy seemed to hold top space on yesterday's bill, Mack and Tempest, shared laugh honors with the rest. The two presented a clever dialogue of "Wise-cracks," that were comparatively new.

Burton and Churchill, "tickle, tune and tap," comedians, Lester and Irving, strong men, and the Medini Four, unsupported ladder artists, comprised the remainder of the bill.

For the feature film was "Stage Madness," featuring Virginia Valli, Tullio Carminati, Lou Tellegen and William Walling.

The film dealt with the life and adventures of a famous Parisian danseuse.

Shorter film offerings completed the bill.

FORMULA CHANGED

Authoress of "Flag Maker" Uses Simplified Method

The accepted formula in writing original stories for the screen has been revolutionized by a simpler medium, it is claimed. Jewel Spencer, authoress of "The Flag Maker," which has just been filmed with a stereoscopic camera by J. Stuart Blackton, has prepared various detailed books, which are shortly to be published, dealing with a simplified method of writing stories.

It is understood that the commodore paid Miss Spencer $15,000 for the film rights to "The Flag Maker," which was written in accordance with the principles embodied in her unique discovery. This opus, according to Blackton, is one of the most perfect screen vehicles ever brought to his attention, and the simple way in which it was conceived by the authoress proves that she has found a medium through which future writing of stories will change the entire present-day standards of film ideas.

"It is possible," says Miss Spencer, "through the application of the 'divisions' which I have prepared, to now write on short notice stories for any individual star, in uniform keeping with their type."

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this sour-ing waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty-cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—[Advertisement.

DISTINCTION IN MOTORS SHOWN

Automobile Salon Exhibits Art of Coach Making

Encouraging of Extravagance Object of Promoter

Los Angeles One of Three Centers Favored

BY OLIVE GRAY

"To encourage extravagance; that is our objective in these salons." Allowing time for digestion of this revolutionary statement, the president of the Automobile Salon, proceeded to enlarge upon this very original idea. The salon is the pet plan of this New York man who is a power in financial circles. That Los Angeles should be chosen as one of the three cities in which such events take place, is not only complimentary to the city but is a prediction fraught with business acumen. Visiting here, last season, the head of the organization was struck with our city's possibilities and proceeded to plan for the event, now taking place.

In order to admit entrance of some of the gargantuan cars, to the Biltmore ballroom, it became necessary to enlarge doorways and altogether required the expenditure of more than $5000 for this purpose. None except the finest, most unusual of cars are admitted to exhibitions. "It is our plan," said the president, "not merely to show cars of certain highclass make, but to exploit coach making of exceptional quality and design. We wish to appeal, not to the person able to expend into the tens of thousands for one car—to last a lifetime, perhaps—but it is our idea to tempt the motor appetite of the car-gourmand. If the rich man will put his wealth into cars, into extraordinary workmanship and finish, be at the same time is putting money into circulation where it will do most good. He is distributing wealth to those capable of high artistry in workmanship in many lines."

BUILDED UPON IDEALS

Hence, as was observed, not merely the highest class of standard work became available for this salon, but regardless of names, the unusual received recognition. Builded upon ideals, constructed along imaginative lines, gone to lengths unlimited by cost, these motor cars noblesse, are an interesting study in motor making. Not only are designs in body shapes such as only the highest artistry could accomplish, but in many instances, especial weaves in upholstery fabrics have been created to become the exclusive property of the particular company for which they were made.

Silver in finishings and accessories, designed by the most famous of silversmiths, is a feature incorporated in one line of cars. Accessories shown for the first time, but so convenient that soon they will become popular, are shown in connection with a certain make of car. Unusual finish, color combinations not heretofore shown, those details making for the best in everything for wear and for use, are here presented.

Attracting wide attention, the famous Mercedes, imported by Emil Jannings, is here seen for the first time. An Emperor among cars is this Superb, commanding in appearance and in detail. The speedometer indicates a possible 100 miles per hour and the car, in its very appearance, avows that this is no idle boast.

The makes exhibiting are: Cadillac, Cunningham, Duesenberg, Lincoln, Marmon, Minerva, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, Rolls-Royce and Stutz. Whatever heretofore has been seen in these makes, must, however, be considered of the bread-and-butter type, however, excellent the broad and the baiter, compared with the examples shown in this salon. Coachwork exhibits are by Brewster, Brunn, Derham, Dietrich, Fisher, Fleetwood, Holbrook, Judkins, Le Barob, Locke, Murphy and Willoughby.

TOUCH OF ROMANCE

A touch of romance is presented in the period designs, shown by the coach makers who have incorporated features redolent of such eras as the Italian Renaissance, Louis XV, Egyptian, Roman, Gothic, Georgian, Empire and Colonial. One example reminiscent of the Old English type, exhales an atmosphere of ye olden coach days in and around country estates, where one can fancy hearing the horns sounded by red-coated footmen. From this to the most modern of impudent roadsters, the cry is far and yet most musical as interpreted at the Biltmore Salon.

It is interesting to recall that E. L. Cord, maker of the Duesenberg and the Auburn—which he now owns—was an Angeleno who, going East, attained to distinction in his line; having associated with him, William Wrigley, Jr.

The salon will continue throughout the week, day and evening the latter taking the form of gala events, many dinner parties visiting the ballroom and salon corridors. The quarters at the Biltmore have been leased for the salon as an annual event, for the coming ten years—a prediction upon the part of far-seeing business men, that our city will continue to grow in worthiness and appreciation of the best there is or that will be, in motordom.

POSTOFFICES TO BE MERGED

Incorporation of four outlying postoffices into the Los Angeles city postal system as branch offices, to become effective the 16th inst., was announced yesterday by Postmaster O'Brien. The stations affected are Palms, Westwood, Brentwood Heights and Sherman.

Mail intended for residents of Westwood will be handled through the station at Brentwood Heights instead of through the postoffice at Sawtelle, it was stated. Mail addressed to the territory included in Palms, Sherman and Brentwood Heights should carry the name of the station as well as the street and number of the addressee.

The discontinuance of the separate postoffices and the incorporation of them as stations of the Los Angeles Postoffice was ordered by the Postoffice Department at Washington.

Meeting Today on Persecution of Hebrew Race

The protest meeting of Los Angeles Jews against the anti-Semitic outrages being perpetrated in Rumania will take place tonight in Trinity Auditorium. Not only will members of their race and faith participate in the meeting, but Protestant, Catholic and other elements also have entered the movement and a number of prominent persons of varied creeds and nationalities are scheduled to appear.

The mass meeting will adopt a resolution that will be sent to Washington national and foreign authorities. It is one of a series that are being held in various parts of the States.

I. Irving Lipsitch is chairman of the campaign cottitee here. Rabbi Magnin will be chairman of the mass meeting. It will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Patent Paving Contract Held Up on Protest

Property owners on Pleasant avenue from First street to Macy street who are objecting to the paving of their street with patented pavment yesterday appeared before the Board of Public Works with their attorney, Marshall Stimson, and obtained an order of the board withholding the signing of the contract for the job until the City Council shall have acted on the property owner's petition asking that the present proceedings be abandoned.

The property owners are asking that new proceedings for concrete paving be started. Attorney Stimson and the property owners were informed that the Public Works Committee of the City Council will give them a hearing this afternoon. The improvement is situated in Councilman Sanborn's district.

Daughter of Pantages Wed to O.A. Martin

Miss Dixie May Nelson, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pantages of 890 North Vermont avenue yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock became the bride of Orlando Alfred Martin, a member of the Abe Lyman Orchestra. The bride is 19 years of age and the groom 28. The ceremony was performed at the Pantages residence in the presence of 150 friends and relatives.

Miss Carmen Pantages acted as maid of honor and Abe Lyman as best man. Miss Adelaide Le Claire, a friend of the bride, played the wedding march, and Phil Neily, a member of the Lyman orchestra, sang "O Promise Me" during the ceremony.

When Martin's musical engagement here has terminated, the young couple will go to Chicago and other eastern cities for their honeymoon, after which they will make their home in this city.

Total Liabilities (including Paid-up Capital)	300,240,000
Surplus and Contingency Funds	45,011,000
Rate of Interest Earned on mean invested assets	6.69%

Dividends to Policyholders increased for seventh successive year.

To secure the absolute protection of its policyholders in the United States the company actually maintains on deposit with United States Trustees approved securities equal to its net liability to American policyholders.

Policies written and payable in United States currency.

TOTAL INVESTMENTS IN UNITED STATES SECURITIES EXCEED $125,000,000

EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

The operations during the past year have resulted in substantial advances in all departments. . . .

The new policies paid for. . . . almost double the figures of two years ago.

The assurances in force, after deduction of reassurances, ... show an increase of. . . . . over twenty-three per cent.

Policies and group certificates now outstanding aggregate well in excess of half a million.

The high quality and profitable character of our investments has again been demonstrated. As a result of continued reduction in prevailing rates of interest, and of satisfactory industrial conditions, there has been a further rise in the market values of our long-term bonds and of our preferred and other stocks. The appraisal of our securities made by the Government Insurance Department shows that the excess of market values over cost has increased during the year by $6,894,266.26. In addition, the sum of $1,729,364.52 has been realized as net profit from the redemption or sale of municipal debentures and other securities which had risen to high premiums. The rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets has also risen to the remarkable figure of 6.69 per cent, as the result of substantial dividend increases, bonuses, and stock privileges received in connection with many of our holdings.

The quality of the investments listed in the assets may be judged from the fact that on 99.55 per cent of the bonds and on 99.71 per cent of the preferred stocks, not one dollar of interest or dividend is in arrear for even one day. On our common stocks the dividends now being received are greatly in excess of the dividends payable on the same stocks at time of purchase.

The sum of $2,000,000 has been deducted from the official valuation of our securities to provide for possible fluctuations in market values. This raises the amount set aside for this purpose to $5,000,000. In other words, the value at which our securities are carried in the balance sheet is $5,000,000 less than the appraisal made by the Government authorities.

The account to provide for unforeseen contingencies has been increased by $1,000,000 bringing the total under this heading to $11,000,000. . . .

An additional amount of $400,000 has been set aside to provide for greater longevity of annuitants. The total held under this heading in excess of Government requirements, is now $1,500,000. . . .

To our policyholders, profits have been paid or allotted during the year to the amount of $9,235,526.80.

After making these deductions and allocations an addition of $5,371,564.56 has been made to the undivided profits. The surplus over all liabilities, contingency accounts and capital stock, now stands at $34,011,565.25.

For six years in succession we have increased the profits to participating policyholders. During this period our profit scale has been doubled. While the assurances in force have multiplied two and a half times since 1920, the amount paid or allotted as profits to policyholders has multiplied five and a half times. We are gratified to announce, for the seventh consecutive time, a further increase in the scale of profits to be distributed to our policyholders in the ensuing year.

Everyone—can afford Metropolitan Trust Service—

DESPITE general opinion, the cost of Trust Company protection is moderate. Not only men of wealth, but men and women of moderate circumstances also, can enjoy the security afforded by a corporate Trustee.

For example, there is the Life Insurance Trust. Nearly everyone has life insurance. Too often the lump sum of cash settled upon beneficiaries is dissipated in a few years. The Life Insurance Trust insures proper distribution of the proceeds from a policy; prudent investment and careful accounting.

Creating such a Trust is simple. In a short talk with our Trust Officer you set forth the policies which you are carrying. You may add other policies at any time. You instruct the insurance company to pay the proceeds of your policies into your Trust account. You give definite instructions to the Trust Company for investment of the funds and payments to your beneficiaries.

A very nominal charge is made for accepting the Trust. Otherwise there are no costs until time for settlement of your estate arrives. Then moderate administrative charges are levied for the work performed.

BODY FOUND FLOATING IN VENICE SURF

Unidentified Woman, Dead in Sea Thought to Have Leaped from Pier

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Feb. 14.—The body of an unidentified woman, who is thought to have leaped to her death from one of the piers, was found floating in the surf at the foot of Mildred avenue today.

Deep cuts and bruises about the head at first led police to believe the woman had been murdered. This theory was abandoned, however, after a thorough investigation, and the marks are attributed to contact with logs and timbers tossed about in the heavy surf.

The woman was apparently between 55 and 60 years of age, weighing 180 pounds and 5 feet 5 inches in height. She wore a plain gold-band wedding ring, inside of which was engraved the name Emma V. Alfred. A careful check by police has failed, however, to establish the address of any woman of that name.

The body was clad in underclothing, stockings and shoes, but uncovered by outer garments. A laundry mark on the underclothing bore the letter S, and another letter too blurred to be decipherable.

The body was taken to the Sharp & Nolan undertaking parlors.

Elks Will Have Their Patriotic Session Tonight

Patriotic night of the Los Angeles Lodge of Elks, commemorating the births of Washington and Lincoln, will be observed this evening at the temple opposite Westlake Park.

HAZEL KEENER

Through the courtesy of the Los Angeles Railway Company, a program will be presented by Exalted Ruler Richard H. Hilf, with the orchestra and string quartet of the company providing the music.

Other features on the program will be Max Asher, magician; H. M. Campbell, basso; Kathleen Rutman, esthetic dancer; Billy Weston in a monologue, and the Maude Daniels troupe from the Springtime Revue.

Hazel Keener, the Miss Hollywood of 1923 and Wampas baby star the following year, will portray the role of Columbia. Broderick O'Farrell will portray Lincoln and W. Clayton Ward will impersonate George Washington. Gavin Young will act as stage director and Francis Patrick Shanley as master of ceremonies.

Dr. Frederick Warde, Shakespearean actor, and Attorney John R. Mott will be the speakers of the evening.

ROBBERY HALTS FILM OF LAURA LA PLANTE

The Sheriff's office, co-operating with Universal City police, yesterday was seeking the whereabouts of approximately $1500 worth of clothing and jewels stolen from Laura La Plante, film actress. The loot was taken from the actress's studio dressing room, the report stated. Search was redoubled because of the value of the clothing and jewels used by Miss La Plante in filming a production. If the articles are not located they must be duplicated, else several hundred feet of film will be worthless, officers said.

ACTRESS EXPECTED IN HOSPITAL TODAY

Mabel Normand

Mabel Normand, motion-picture actress, is ill in her Beverly Hills home, it was learned yesterday, and may be taken today to a Santa Monica hospital to be treated for a serious bronchial irritation. Her condition is such, according to Dr. George K. Dazey, Santa Monica physician, that X-rays will have to be taken before treatment can be started.

Miss Normand was expected at the hospital yesterday, but her appearance was postponed by the storm, Dr. Dazey stated. Asked if there is a probability of the ailment developing into pneumonia, the physician declared that "pneumonia may threaten if proper care is not taken."

GETS 300 VALENTINES

"Uncle Fred" Solomon Remembered by Inmates of Orphanage

Representing the handicraft of the entire membership of the Los Angeles orphanage, 300 valentines yesterday were delivered to Fred H. Solomon, Los Angeles dance king.

Every one of the little handmade tokens bore a personal greeting to Solomon, who is known to the parentless little ones as "Uncle Fred," through his position as unofficial godfather to the children.

The valentines also furnished evidence of the progress made in the study of art by the kiddies of the various grades in the orphanage school under the supervision of Harry Wilson of Solomon's advertising staff, who one day a week pays a visit to the institution to instruct the children in drawing and color work.

Every year Solomon observes his birthday by staging a mammoth picnic party on his Topanga Canyon ranch for the orphans.

YOUTHS WITH RIFLE SHOOT INTO HOME

Firing a shot through a window of the room of Mrs. M. N. Moore, 8203 1-2 Sunset Boulevard yesterday, was ascribed to small boys playing with a rifle by Detective Lieutenants Kling and Mahoney of Hollywood police. The bullet pierced the screen and glanced and struck a wall. Mrs. Moore was unaware of the occurrence until later, and expressed the opinion she had swept the bullet out, police said.

Hart Trust Fund Settlement Due After Troubles

Mrs. Winifred Westover Hart has not yet received the trust fund of $100,000 due her under the Reno divorce agreement with William S. Hart due to difficulties about the securities in which the trust fund is invested. It is expected an adjustment will be made today, Mrs. Hart plans to make of the sum a second trust for her boy, William S. Hart, Jr., to add to the trust fund established for him by his father before his birth four years ago. Her earning power in pictures is to be her dependence in the future, she said.

The trust fund of Hart becomes payable when his son is 25 years of age. If he should die between the ages of 21 and 25 the money goes to his heirs. Mrs. Hart originally had planned to make half of her trust for the boy payable when he becomes 18, and half when he becomes 21. This plan, however, may not be final. Meanwhile the income from the two funds, which will amount to approximately $200 a week, may be used for his support and education.

"If Mr. Hart can give his son $100,000 I am going to do the same for my baby. I can earn anything I need for myself," said Mrs. Hart.

Traffic Crash Victim Dead; Motorist Held

One victim in an automobile accident that occurred last week died of his injuries yesterday and a motorist, charged with failing to stop and render aid, was lodged in the Wilshire Division Jail.

William Whitehead, 64 years of age, 947 West Fiftieth street, died in the French Hospital from injuries received on the 12th inst., when the automobile in which he was riding with the driver, Alexander Jack of 1213 West Sixty-first street, was struck at San Marino street and Harvard Boulevard by a then unknown motorist. An hour before Whitehead's death, Detective Lieutenants Wearn and Misner of Wilshire Division had arrested and lodged in jail Chester B. Wright, 35, of 7652 Sunset Boulevard, who they declared to be the driver of the other car in the collision.

ALUMNI BANQUET OF PHI BETA KAPPA SET

FRATERNITY MEN OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MEET FRIDAY AT ELKS' CLUB

The annual midyear banquet gathering of Phi Beta Kappa alumni in Southern California is to be held at the Elks' Club next Friday evening.

Prof. Louis Wann of the University of Southern California and Prof. Alfred E. Longuell of the University of California at Los Angeles will be the featured speakers, the latter talking on "America's Part in the Intellectual Co-operation of the World." The alumni essay contest sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa here to promote scholarship among students in Southern California colleges will be discussed by Dr. Allison Gaw.

Orra E. Monnette, president of Phi Beta Kappa alumni in Southern California, will act as toastmaster and the Trojan Glee Club, under the direction of Harold Roberts, will provide entertainment.

MRS. CHAPLIN DUE IN COURT

Second Appearance Scheduled for Today in Effort to Gain Possession of Comedian's Home

Lita Grey Chaplin will make a second personal appearance in court today in her divorce fight with Charles Chaplin to plead "for a home for herself and her two children." She will appear on the motion of her attorneys to place her in possession of the comedian's home in Beverly Hills pending the trial of her divorce action.

She is seeking temporary possession of the home, her attorneys have explained, because she is out of funds and therefore unable to meet the $1000 monthly rent bill due on the house in which she lives with her two children at present. This bill becomes due Thursday.

Just what the attitude of Chaplin's lawyers will be at the hearing on the motion this morning has not been made known. Friends of Chaplin, however, pointed out that the home is the property of the Chaplin Studios, Inc., and was acquired some two years before the comedian's marriage to Mrs. Chaplin.

TWO MORE HEARINGS

The divorce battle, still deep in its technical phases, was accompanied by two more court hearings yesterday. In the first, Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys lost in an attempt to have the order sustaining the demurrer of the Chaplin studios set aside. In the second the bill of exceptions, which becomes the basis of the appeal to the Supreme Court from the receivership over Chaplin's estate here, was given approval and now becomes the record on which the Supreme Court must decide the issue.

The first hearing was conducted before Judge Schmidt of the Superior Court and the second before Presiding Judge Wood of the same court. Both were rather short and devoid of anything unusual.

RESULT OF RULING

As a result of Judge Schmidt's ruling, Mrs. Chaplin's divorce complaint must be amended on the score of property and cash involved so as to be more definite.

"It is our present intention to amend the complaint in the particulars indicated by Judge Schmidt," William K. Young, one of Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys, stated.

"We may take occasion to include in the amendments other matters pertaining to the case," he added significantly, though refusing to discuss what these other matters might be.

PATRONS WHO WILL FURNISH MISSION PLAYHOUSE SOUGHT

The Mission Play, John Steven McGroarty's world-famous pageant of drama of how California began, now is permanently established in the new Mission Playhouse at old San Gabriel, as a result of the untiring efforts of the directors of the nonprofit corporation organized for the purpose of maintaining the benefits of the historical play to California forever.

The corporation was got together by W. I. Hollingsworth and his board of directors at the instance of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The new Mission Playhouse now is completed, having cost the officers, directors and their associates a sum exceeding $600,000.

The furnishings have not yet been financed. Therefore the patriotic and public-spirited citizens of the State are being given the opportunity of donating $100 or more to the furnishing fund. The donors will be known as patrons and will be listed in the souvenir program opening night. Only the personally invited guests of the officers and directors will be present on this occasion. The officers and directors are inviting to the opening night dedication of the new Mission Playhouse, which will be Saturday, March 5, all the patrons who have subscribed $100 or more to the furnishing fund.

DEATH CLOSES BUSY CAREER

Veteran Newspaper Man to be Buried at Santa Ana

Community Honors Memory of Isaac Sheldon

Fifty-five Years a Recorder of Events

SANTA ANA, Feb. 15.—One of the big men of American journalism, his background colored by some of the most famous figures and events in national history, Isaac Melvin Sheldon, veteran newspaper man, will be laid at rest here tomorrow. Honors from his craft, from church, fraternal circles and the community at large will mark the funeral services set for 2 p.m. in the Winbigler Mission funeral home in Santa Ana. Sheldon at 76 had experienced one of the most interesting careers of a profession rich in adventure. A reporter for more than half a century his work carried him into the high places and gave him companionship with the great. He was among the noted men of the newspaper world when he retired after fifty-five years of service.

His declining years were spent with his daughter in Santa Monica, where he went in 1924. He was a native of New Jersey. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Earle Pierce Cochran, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Orange. Interment will be Westcott family plot in the Fair Haven Cemetery.

Isaac M. Sheldon was born September 24, 1850, in Hoboken, N. J. He graduated from Mt. Pleasant Academy and was pointed toward a military career with West Point in view, but turned to newspaper work instead. He joined the staff of the Sing Sing Republican, then located in Ossining, N. Y., his father being owner and editor of the paper. The young Sheldon was correspondent for West Chester county for several years, then went to the New York Times, with which paper he was connected for twenty-five years.

Leaving the Times, he joined the Associated Press, covering special assignments, including several of a notable character. On one of these he accompanied Whitelaw Reed, owner and editor of the New York Tribune, who toured the country in a campaign for election as Vice-President of the United States. Sheldon supplied the country with daily reports of Reed's speeches and travel experiences.

Later came another outstanding assignment, that of accompanying Col. Theodore Roosevelt, from Montauk Point, Long Island, to the camp of the Rough Riders after their return from Cuba. Later Sheldon again accompanied Col. Roosevelt during the latter's camapign for the Governorship of New York and then as a candidate for the Vice-Presidency of the United States.

A warm and lasting friendship was formed between the statesman and the reporter.

SAFE CRACKERS

Officers Investigate Another Robbery at Woodlake

WOODLAKE, Feb. 14.—Sheriff R. L. Hill of Tulare county and local authorities are seeking clews leading to arrest of robbers who last night blew the safe of the Beeman & Co. market in Woodlake, escaping with about $300.

Owing to last night's storm, all tracks were erased, but photographs of the safe are being developed in hope of securing finger-print records. Entry was made through a rear door of the building and the safe was taken into the refrigerator plant for blasting operations.

Some time since the Beeman concern suffered another safe robbery. Shortly after that the safe of the Woodlake postoffice was carted off bodily, later discovered in a stream after it had been looted.

FUMES OF GARLIC SPEED UP COURT

GLENDALE, Feb. 14.—Speed was the watchword in Police Justice F. H. Loew's courtroom today. The various defendants being rushed through their trials as rapidly as possible, when the judge was and police and court attendants were forced to carry on their business in an atmosphere that was solidly banked with garlic fumes.

By the time the calendar had been cleared Judge Lowe had both windows beside the bench wide open in spite of the rain and policemen were wandering to another window to snatch a breath of air before staggering up to the rail to testify against some defendant. The culprit who introduced the garlic aroma into the courtroom never was located.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE PAVEMENT CAVEIN

PASADENA, Feb. 14.—Twenty feet of pavement were undermined today when heavy rains caused a cave-in of earth forming the north wall of the excavation for the Lake-avenue branch of the Pacific Southwest Bank at Lake avenue and Colorado street. At street lamp, a fire-alarm box and a small palm tree were precipitated into the pit by the slide, and a water pipe broke. Traffic was barred from the south side of Colorado street at this point while workmen repaired the damage and took precautions against further cave-ins. No other appreciable damage by the rains was reported here.

MUSICAL TREAT

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 14.—Theatergoers and music lovers of Porterville were given two treats for St. Valentine's Day. "The Woman's Club," an original play composed and directed by Grattan Guerin, well-known local musician, composer and author, presented at the Woman's clubhouse this afternoon drew a goodly crowd in spite of rain.

Charles Wakefield Cadman, famous American composer and musician, appeared in a group of his own selections at the clubhouse this evening. Mrs. Julia Jack of Fresno, nationally known in musical circles, appeared on the program with Cadman, singing songs written and composed by him.

CUPID BUSY ON RAINY DAY

Task of Mail Men Made Doubly Heavy by Love Notes

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 14.—St. Valentine's reign and the spring rain which visited Porterville together today made heavy sledging for the postmen on their rounds. Tender missives in keeping with the sentimental season added considerably to weight of their packs, while heavy showers causing flooding of the storm drains in some sections of the city made delivery of mail a real task.

Dealers reported an exceptionally heavy sale of Valentines. Numerous social events over the week-end celebrated the famous saint's season. Mail carriers say it would take more than a California rain to dampen Cupid's ardor in Porterville. Judging from the smiles with which even the dampest missive delivered was received, apparently the little god made a killing in this section.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED

Burning Bridge Stops Trains on the Southern Pacific

MECCA, Feb. 14. (AP)—Blockade of many miles of the Southern Pacific main line was caused this morning by a burned trestle near Mortmer, nine miles east of this town. Two tramps chose the wash under the trestle for a sleeping place last night, left a fire burning and woke up this morning to find the entire trestle afire. Three freight and one passenger trains going west and two more trains eastbound, were held up while repairs were made. All additional trains were stopped at Yuma and Indio, while the railroad authorities sought to untangle the mixup and rush a pile driver and work trains for repairs.

WHITTIER CHORUS TO GIVE CONCERT

WHITTIER, Feb. 14.—The Whittier Men's Chorus, composed of some thirty-eight representative business and professional men of the city, with a sustaining membership of more than 300 music lovers and music patrons, will give the second concert of the 1926-27 season tomorrow, Tuesday, evening at the First Friends Church.

This is one of the outstanding civic organizations of the city and has been in the forefront in gaining favorable publicity for Whittier as a center of culture, for the men have given concerts at the Los Angeles Athletic Club and at the Maryland, Arroya Vista and other hotels in Pasadena and other near-by cities, where they have received generous praise for the excellence of their offerings.

COUNTY EMPLOYS COYOTE KILLER

CORCORAN, Feb. 14.—Sam McGinnis, who has the reputation of being the best wild-game hunter in the Central San Joaquin Valley, is living up to his reputation. The first of the year he was appointed "coyote killer" by the Kings county Board of Supervisors and since his appointment he has killed 113 of the animals. Most of these were trapped. Small stock and poultry were sufferers from the marauding pests and their depredations bid fair to be much less for some time to come.

VALLEY GOES IN FOR BERRIES

EL CENTRO, Feb. 14.—That strawberry plantings in Imperial Valley are being increased rapidly is indicated by the report of County Horticultural Commissioner B. A. Harrigan for the past month, showing that 56,000 plants have been brought into the valley from outside points.

It is estimated large additional plantings are being made from local roots. Strawberries have proved one of the most profitable plants grown in this district during the past three years, the income in many instances exceeding that of grapefruit groves. Harrigan's report also shows the arrival of 20,000 peppermint roots for valley planting.

WEATHER BUREAU CLOSED

LINDSAY, Feb. 14.—Following one of the mildest winters experienced by Lindsay district in years, E. H. Jones, United States government meteorologist, who has been stationed in Lindsay during the last winter, will close the local frost-warning headquarters tomorrow. After the 15th inst. frost danger is usually passed.

There was very little demand for use of the 105,000 orchard heaters protecting the 1800 acres of Valencias in the citrus belt of Tulare county this season. Chambers of commerce throughout the county co-operate with the government station in sending out frost warnings during the danger period.

PLEA FOR BIRD LIFE

VAN NUYS, Feb. 14.—A plea for the preservation of bird life was made today by Miss Miriam Faddis, district chairman of the birds and flowers division of the Woman's Club Federation, at the Van Nuys Woman's Club. The meeting was conducted under the auspices of the garden section of the club. The lecture was illustrated by slides provided by the California Audubon Society.

QUITS LAW FIRM

VAN NUYS, Feb. 14.—Robert A. Whitson, partner in the law firm of Hanley & Whitson, has severed connection to become general counsal for the National Surety Company, with Los Angeles headquarters. John B. Hart, former deputy District Attorney of New York City, will succeed Mr. Whitson here.

NEW NATIVE SONS

MONROVIA, Feb. 14.—Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, Native Sons of the Golden West, will initiate a class of fifteen here Wednesday for Monrovia Parlor No. 266 at Legion Memorial Hall.

GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Ventura Youth Pays Penalty for Killing Sweetheart After Plea of Guilty

VENTURA, Feb. 14.—Within five minutes after the arraignment in Superior Court today of Leroy Haywood, 20-year-old bootblack charged with the murder on the night of January 10, of Marion Lemays, with whom he was jealously infatuated, Judge Edward Henderson sentenced Haywood to life imprisonment in the State penitentiary at San Quentin.

Haywood pleaded guilty to the murder charge, and calmly announced that he was ready for the pronouncement of judgment. He showed no emotion. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Don R. Holt submitted Haywood's full confession of the crime to the court, and Haywood told the judge, upon questioning, that he had no excuse to offer for his act.

Haywood's sentence to the penitentiary came just a month and four days following the murder of the Lemays woman, he having been in the hospital for more than two weeks following the murder, recovering from the effects of six self-inflicted bullet wounds in his body.

Investigation by officers showed that Haywood had fired eight shots from a .32-caliber revolver into the body of the woman before turning a .38-caliber revolver upon himself in an attempt to end his life.

Gets Injunction in Slot Machine War at Fresno

FRESNO, Feb. 14.—Restraining Chief of Police Walker and members of the Fresno police department from interfering with the operation of or seizing of mint vending machines against which a city and county anti-slot-machine campaign has recently been directed, Superior Judge Barnard today issued an injunction returnable next Friday.

The restraining order was granted upon the application of Bert Chance, member of a syndicate operating in the Fresno Mint Company, which distributes the machines and their merchandise to local dealers.

The suit instituted by Chance is the answer of the agents for the machines to the action of Chief of Police Walker in arresting M. Goldstein, head of the distributing firm, on a complaint issued by Dist.-Atty. De Vore. De Vore, in a lengthy written opinion, advised Walker that the machines are illegal under the State law.

Chance's complaint states that he is the lessee of fifty of the "automatic mint-vending machines," having an aggregate value of $8750. The machines vend rolls of candy mints at 5 cents each and upon certain subsequent operations pay checks in varying amounts in excess of the 5 cents paid into the machine to start its operation.

VALLEY TOWNS WANT PHONE TALK FREE

VAN NUYS, Feb. 14.—A concentrated movement is afoot to eliminate telephone toll charges between various towns and communities in San Fernando Valley, to be independent of the Glendale district telephone offices, it is announced here and in other parts of the valley. It is pointed out that long-distance tolls are charged between towns that are only a few miles apart, all of the communities being a part of the city of Los Angeles in the San Fernando Valley annex to the metropolis. Such charges are not in effect in other outlying sections of Los Angeles, it also is pointed out in a resolution that has been prepared by the Cahuenga Park Improvement Association and forwarded to the State Railroad Commission. This draft asks the commission to investigate present conditions and later establish a single valley-service rate. All civic bodies in the valley are joining to push the matter. At present the valley telephone service is under the direction of the district office at Glendale. It is proposed to establish a new district office at Van Nuys, phone renters to be able to talk to any part of the valley without the additional toll.

LONG BEACH WAGES WAR ON SPEEDERS

LONG BEACH, Feb. 14.—Because of an unusual number of automobile accidents, City Manager Henderson today ordered police to stop speeding now and keep it stopped. No expense will be spared, he said, to make the city a terror to out-of-town motorists who exceed the speed limit. The motorcycle squad is to be increased, at least temporarily, and officers on and off duty who are driving cars will be expected to watch for and arrest speeders.

Fred Steffen of Seal Beach, an oil worker, was the first man arrested in the campaign. He is in jail under $500 bail, charged with reckless driving. At Atlantic avenue and State street, at thirty-five miles an hour, it is declared, he ran into another car.

STILL ANOTHER

SOUTH GATE, Feb. 14.—Another annexation move has been started in Magnolia Park to annex that territory to this city three petitions now being circulated. These will, when sufficient signatures are secured, be presented to the Board of City Trustees, and if found sufficient, after being checked by the City Clerk, the election date will be set.

The territory of Magnolia Park is a subdivision which lies south of this city along both sides of Long Beach Boulevard, it being just north of Lynwood. An annexation election was held in this territory last year and was voted down by a large majority, but the former movers of the petition state that there is evidence of it carrying this year.

STORM ACCIDENTS

REDLANDS, Feb. 14.—Fred Smith, Jr., well-known young man of this city, took his wife to Mill Creek Canyon today for her first experience with a snowstorm and as a result will spend several days in bed. He was struck by a skidding automobile and badly cut and bruised although fortunately no bones were broken. The driver of the automobile put on his brakes suddenly and the car skidded on the snow and crashed into Mr. Smith.

The automobile of Miss Adeline Jacinto skidded on the wet pavement here and crashed into Walter Delmont, a school boy crossing the street. He was taken to the hospital with a deep gash across his head and bruises.

MAY BE POISON

TAFT, Feb. 14.—W. J. Wilson, 40 years of age, resident of Ford City, north of Taft, was found dead Sunday at his home by two friends, J. B. McMurdo and John Carlan, according to word received here from the west-side city.

Wilson's home was visited by the two men late in the afternoon, when he was not seen about town. When the house was entered, Wilson was found lying across his bed.

Officials believe he was the victim of poisoning, and Deputy Coroner C. W. Withrow of Taft ordered a post-mortem examination.

PUBLIC HAS INNING

Retail Price of Eggs Now Below Usual Cost of Production

LANKERSHIM, Feb. 14.—Although the price of eggs is now lower than at any time since 1914, poultrymen in San Fernando Valley assert that it is not the fault of overproduction in the valley or in other poultry centers in Southern California. Thousands of dozens of eggs from the East recently have been shipped into the Los Angeles markets, thereby knocking the bottom out of the usually well-established prices in California at this time of the year.

Egg raisers today state that conditions cannot get worse and that the lowest trend has been reached. It costs about 28 cents a dozen to produce eggs in Southern California. With the present market slump poultrymen are not breaking even. Many poultry growers are culling flocks, while hens are selling at a fairly good price, later to add to their holdings all the new pullets available.

"The public is now having its inning in the matter of cheap eggs," one Lankershim poultryman said today. "Hens everywhere are laying their heads off. Later, there will be the usual slight let-up and hen fruit will soar again to about 50 per cent over what eggs are selling at retail now."

NEW MINISTER CALLED TO GLENDALE CHURCH

GLENDALE, Feb. 14.—Rev. G. A. Francis has accepted the call to occupy the pulpit of the recently organized Calvary Baptist Church of Glendale and has already entered on his ministry here. He was formerly engaged in mission work in South Africa and is one of six brothers, all of whom are pastors in the Baptist church, one of them being Rev. James A. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Los Angeles.

He is one of ten sons of the late Dr. Daniel Francis, for many years a prominent physician in Canada. The Calvary Baptist Church now has a membership of thirty-seven, but it is the plan of Rev. Mr. Francis to seek to build it up into one of the strong congregations in the city.

HELD FOR ASSAULTING ARRESTING OFFICER

MONROVIA, Feb. 14.—Charged with assaulting a Monrovia police officer with a deadly weapon, Howard Hall was held in jail here today under $2500 bond and Tim Bussad and Glenn Nichols were fined $25 each by Judge John Sturgeon on charges of disturbing the peace. All of the men were said to live at Glendora.

The three men were arrested last night by Officers Morris, Spickerman and Ordwaker, who answered a call to stop a fight at Wheeler's Inn, a roadside cafe on Foothill Boulevard at the west edge of Monrovia. While resisting the officers, it was said, Hall attacked Spickerman with a set of metal knuckles. Spickerman placed a blow to Hall's jaw and succeeded in putting him under arrest.

WAREHOUSE MEN MEET IN FRESNO

FRESNO, Feb. 14.—Approximately 150 members of the Pacific Coast Furniture Warehousemen's Association will come to Fresno February 21 from California, Oregon and Washington for a three-day convention of their organization, it was announced today by Floyd R. Bekins, chairman of a local arrangements committee.

Al C. Joy, publicity director for the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet on the night of the 22nd inst., Bekins announced.

SERVICE CLUB SPEAKERS

HERMOSA BEACH, Feb. 14. — Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, metropolitan college, U.S.C., spoke before the Hermosa Beach Kiwanis Club today, having as his subject, "Vocational Guidance." The birthday of Abraham Lincoln was commemorated by Dr. Foster, rector of the Episcopal Church of Uplands, who was a visitor, speaking on the strength of Lincoln's character in direct relation to the hardships endured by the frontiersman father.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

SANTA ANA, Feb. 14. — Mrs. S. A. Clark, 819 North Artesia street, is thought to have suffered a fractured shoulder, and Billy Young Small, Santa Ana boy, was cut and bruised when the car in which they were riding with S. A. Clark, collided with a machine driven by S. Pellen, 34, 824 South Palm street, Anaheim, at Broadway and Fairview avenue, according to a report filed with city police.

TWO NEW CANDIDATES

PASADENA, Feb. 14.—Two new candidates for positions on the Board of City Directors announced themselves today and petitions for a third were taken from the City Hall for circulation. Guy V. Frank, 284 North El Molino avenue; W. W. Albin, 520 Prescott, and Robert L. Mackey, 845 North Marengo avenue, are the three.

CO-EDS SPORT SHIN PATCHES

Fad Follows Start of Hockey Games at High School in Valley Section

VAN NUYS, Feb. 14.—Many of the fair co-eds of Van Nuys High School are wearing a small patch of gauze strapped with adhesive tape on the shin bone of either or both of their nether extremities, and which shows through their gossamer silk stockings. The patch is a "badge of honor," following the start of the hockey season today at the school. "We are now members of the shin?patch sorority," one of the girls said.

So many of the co-eds will get their shin bones bunged up in future hockey games, it is believed the shin patch will become the feminine fad, and the craze will spread through the school. Whether a girl is a hockey team member or not, it is expected from now on that skinned shins will be all the rage and the shin patch will be seen through all silk stockings on the campus.

City Planner on Short Visit to San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14.—John Nolen, author of San Diego's city plan, arrived in San Diego today for a week's visit. Nolen was on the Pacific Coast on business and is visiting San Diego to follow up the plan which was adopted about a year ago.

"I am glad to be back in San Diego again," the noted city planner said, "I would not think of visiting the west coast without stopping at San Diego. I am delighted to learn of the early publication of the city plan. It is a splendid booklet, and it is encouraging to see a city following it as conscientiously as is San Diego.

"San Diego, because of its geographical location and unrivaled climate, will be unique among the great cities of America. City planning will be its greatest aid in attaining this goal. You must remember, however, that city planning involves a larger question than beautification. It is a question of good business and economy."

Nolen expects to confer with several of the official governing bodies of the city during his visit and expressed a hope that he would have an opportunity to meet a large group of the business men and civic leaders in one or two gatherings.

He had nothing to say in regard to the location of the Civic Center or any other definite project under way here, because he had been out of touch with local conditions during the past year.

He intimated that he would make a statement after conferences with local governing bodies.

ROBS GAS TANK

Takes Full Supply From Car of City Attorney

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 14.—The bandit of automobile gas tanks has made his appearance here with City Attorney George A. French as the first victim. As Mr. French's car stood before his doorstep Saturday night its supply of fuel was neatly removed by unknown persons under the light from French's porch light and while neighbors viewed the proceedings from the lawn next door.

The motorists drove up immediately behind the attorney's car, removed the plug from the bottom of the gas tank and with a bucket transferred the contents to their own machine. Not until the visitors had gone and neighbors casually remarked to French about the accommodation to his "friends," was he aware of what had occurred.

French's principal grievance seems to be that the gasoline pilferers did not bother to replace the plug. "Apparently they threw it as far as they could," he complained. "I had to walk downtown to find another."

DRUNKEN PARTY

Four Men and One Woman Go to Jail in Default of Fines

GLENDALE, Feb. 14.—An automobile party including four men and one woman was arrested early this morning by Sergeants Platner and Manring, who filed charges of intoxication against all five after they had observed them for some time and had found two bottles of gin in the car.

W. J. Meyer, 339 G street, Oxnard, and Charles Selby, 4139 Monroe street, Hollywood, pleaded guilty in Police Court today and were fined $30. Mrs. Lucile Selby, the woman in the party; O. W. Meyer, Universal studios, Hollywood, and T. F. Diefen, 105 S. street, Oxnard, at first pleaded not guilty, but later changed their pleas and were fined the same as the other two. As none of the party could pay the fines, all were sent to the County Jail for fifteen days.

THANKS JUDGE WHO IMPOSED LIFE TERM

FRESNO, Feb. 14.—Sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin for the murder of Bourbon Palmer, Southern Pacific red cap, here on Thanksgiving Day, Lewis Pearson, negro, thanked Judge Frank Lamberson of Tulare county, who imposed the sentence.

In precise English and without a trace of emotion, Pearson, who, for eighteen months has been studying law in his spare time as a porter and janitor, expressed appreciation of the consideration and courtesy shown him by the court and for the fairness with which everyone treated him since the slaying. At the same time Pearson expressed regret for the demonstration he made in court during the progress of his trial, once when he made a frenzied attempt to attack assistant Dist.-Atty. Stewart, of the prosecution and on the following day when he attempted to leave the courtroom during the closing argument by his attorney.

SEALS LIPS OF WITNESS

Marriage Prevents Introduction of Evidence in Murder Trial at Bakersfield

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 14.—The charge of having murdered Frederick Miller, a Fellows barber, by slitting his throat with a boning knife was dismissed against Al Swindel today upon a motion of Dist.-Atty. Ray Bailey, made before Judge R. B. Lambert, before whom the murder trial was to have been held.

The motion was made on the ground that there was insufficient evidence upon which to base a conviction. Miller was killed about a year ago at Fellows by a knife thrust through his throat, which severed the jugular vein, the man bleeding to death almost instantly. Swidel, a Fellows butcher, was held for the crime.

In making his sensational motion for a dismissal today, the District Attorney stated that it was impossible for the State to secure the testimony of the only three eyewitnesses to the crime.

"I would not be warranted in spending the county money when an attempt to secure a conviction without witnesses would be absolutely futile. There was only one thing left to do and that was to move for a dismissal," said the District Attorney.

The three asserted eyewitnesses to the slaying are Anton Magyar, Elsie Yarbrough and Marie Harden. "Marie Harden, since the commission of the crime, nursed Swindell through a serious illness and has married him," said the prosecutor. "Under the State law you cannot force a woman to testify against her husband. The other two witnesses, Anton Magyar and Elsie Harbrough, have married and are living in New Jersey. They have refused to come to Kern county to testify and we cannot force them to do so.

"This eliminates all of the State's witnesses and without them it would be impossible to hope for conviction. Prosecution would be mere futility," the District Attorney concluded.

Expert Leaves for Honolulu Sugar Fields

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 14.—To continue bud-selection studies with sugar cane and pineapples for the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, A. D. Schamel, plant physiologist for the United States Department of Agriculture, leaves here today for Honolulu. In accepting this important work Schamel has asked a three months' leave of absence from government service and will not return to his work at Riverside until April or early May.

Mr. Schamel is taking up again a work in which he was engaged for five years in Hawaii, during which time he made an appreciable increase of production in cane and pineapples through careful selection of propagation materials. His work is considered one of the most important contributions to the yield of sugar in cane that has been developed in the history of the industry.

C. S. Pomeroy will have charge of the Riverside office for the Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, during Mr. Schamel's absence.

STORM WRECKS BOAT

Fishing Barge Breaks Away from Moorings

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 14.—The fishing barge "Esther Buhn," a 2600-ton vessel, which has been anchored off the coast of Newport Beach for the past year, blew loose from its mooring last night and is pounding to pieces on the beach today. A forty-mile-an-hour gale was blowing at Newport Beach when the large ship broke loose.

Charles Hemstreet, a local fisherman, was on the barge and was not rescued until late this morning.

The boat has had an interesting career. It was for many years a whaling vessel. Late it was used in motion pictures, playing an important part in "The Sea Hawk." A year ago it was purchased by Joe Smith, C. E. McFarland and Jacob Duman of Newport Beach and fitted up as a fishing barge. More than 15,000 persons were on the boat during the past year, and many tons of fish have been caught from its decks. Efforts to pull it off the beach were unavailing. The owners plan to place another fishing barge in service soon.

ESCAPED CONVICTS ARE RETURNED TO ARIZONA

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 14.—Bill H. Cole and William L. Clarke, who last week were arrested by Undersheriff Charles Rankin and Deputy Vance Brite, after they had looted Supervisor Perry Britte's road camp in the Tehachapi region, today were taken to Arizona, where last December, according to information just received here, they made a sensational escape from the Arizona State prison.

Cole and Clarke were booked at the County Jail under the aliases of H. Smith and William Hill, respectively, but fingerprints taken in the local identification bureau revealed their identity as the two Arizona jail breakers, and today Warden Hunt of Arizona arrived to take them into custody.

According to the Arizona officer, both men were serving prison terms on convictions of highway robbery. Clarke had only two more months to serve and was working from the outside as a trusty in the successful jail break. Clarke had several more years to serve.

NEW PASTOR TO TAKE PULPIT AT TUSTIN

TUSTIN, Feb. 14.—The Rev. S. F. Shiffler, new pastor of the First Presbyterian Church will be formally installed at a special service Thursday night, it was announced today. Officers of the Los Angeles presbytery will officiate. The Rev. John G. Kiesz of Long Beach will preside. The Rev. Earl Cochrane of Orange will deliver the installation sermon. The Rev. M. L. Pearson of Orange will deliver the charge to the pastor and the Rev. T. H. Walker of Anaheim will deliver the congregational charge to the new minister.

Attendance at the local church has broken all records during the past few Sundays since the Rev. Shiffler has been in the pulpit and already some discussion is being heard of a new church or improvements to the present church. Music will be presented by the church choir.

GET-TOGETHER DANCE AT BEACH TONIGHT

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 14.—The Santa Monica lodge of the B'nai B'rith in conjunction with the ladies auxiliary will hold their first get-together dance in the Masonic Temple, 926 Santa Monica Boulevard, Tuesday night. Due to an error, it was announced as taking place on the 14th inst. A large crowd is expected, delegations coming out from the various surrounding lodges, Los Angeles included. Numerous specialties will be introducing between dances, music being furnished by the Bon Ton orchestra.

BOY SCOUT CELEBRATION

REDONDO BEACH, Feb. 14.—Redondo Beach celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of the organization of the Boy Scouts of America Sunday evening in the form of a union meeting of all of the churches in Redondo and the Community Church of Manhattan Beach at the Central School auditorium. The newly organized troop of Girl Scouts were guests of honor, and Dr. H. P. Hames of the Episcopal Church delivered the Scout sermon.

NEW STORM ON WAY TO COAST

More Rain Forecast for Today and Tomorrow

Season's Total Exceeds Normal by Nearly Two Inches

Precipitation Held Great Benefit to Farmers to the vast natural underground reservoirs and in due time to find its way through subterranean channels to supply the various pumping plants throughout the valley with a renewed water supply.

A miniature cloudburst near Walnut, six miles west of this city, flooded low spots and seriously hampered traffic in the vicinity for a short time last night and this afternoon, ranch property in a few spots suffering slight damage.

Scores of autos were stalled along Valley Boulevard west of the city throughout the day and although the local branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California stated that they had towed nearly fifty cars out of the mud at a sharp curve near Pacific Lodge, four miles west of Pomona, no accidents of a serious nature were reported. Mud on the highway at this curve was responsible for cars sliding from the paved highway into muddy fields adjoining, forcing drivers to seek aid in getting back to the road.

A check of city streets by City Engineer Froehde and a large crew, found no appreciable damage and although gutters were running to overflowing and pedestrian traffic was seriously impeded, no serious damage was reported nor were any sections of the town menaced by flooded conditions.

Venice and the Santa Monica Bay district got their share of the rainfall with 1.93 inches for the twenty-four hours ending last night. A heavy sea was running, cutting into the beach. Fishing craft took heed of the storm warnings and scurried back to Los Angeles Harbor to lie up until the wind dies down.

At Long Beach many tons of logs, stumps and other debris were being tossed up on the beaches, having been washed out into the ocean by the floods pouring down from the mountains in the San Gabriel Wash. The City Council, as was done last year, will ask the County Board of Supervisors for money to pay part of the cost of removing the debris.

BOON TO FARMERS

The storm, which has been general, will be of inestimable value to farmers and fruit growers H. J. Ryan, horticultural commissioner, said yesterday afternoon. He said:

"To the fruit growers it did no damage. It slowed up picking, but that is but temporary and it has delayed the planting of some nursery stock, but only temporarily.

"It will be of tremendous benefit to the older trees in all localities because the rain has fallen in such a manner that there has been very little run-off. The water has sunk into the ground and will undoubtedly saturate the lower subsoils, which feed the roots of the older trees."

Discussing the benefit to the general farmer he said:

"Reports reaching this office show that the rain came at an ideal time for the general farmer. Though it delayed some of the plowing and planting it will put the soil in ideal condition for general crops and especially for truck crops."

Road Commissioner George W. Jones said that there had been practically no damage to roads in the county reported. There had been a few complaints of minor damage.

BASEMENTS FLOODED

Fullerton reported an unusually heavy rainfall, with 4.80 inches of precipitation since Thursday. Many basements on the east side of town were flooded and a Mexican camp on the Bastanchury ranch was inundated, the families taking to higher ground.

Reports from Anaheim stated that Buena Park's business section was closed yesterday because of flood waters. One warehouse roof fell under the weight of the water and the main street was transformed into a veritable river.

Fresno reported heavy rainfall with heavy snowfall in the mountains, which in many places showed a seasonal pack far above the normal. There was fifty-four inches of snow on the ground at Huntington Lake.

CAMP ABANDONED

Rainfall reports received by Chief Engineer Reagan of the Los Angeles County Flood Control District indicated that several sections had been the scenes of veritable downpours, while the deluge was so severe at Hoegee's Camp in Big Santa Anita Canyon, that it was abandoned because of the flood after 7.49 inches of rain had fallen.

At Valley Forge, on the West Fork of the San Gabriel River, 6.56 inches fell during the last twenty-four hours, making a total of 7.98 for the storm.

Observers at Pacoima (Lake) at the mouth of Pacoima Canyon, reported water in the dam had reached an elevation of 1769.3, with about seventy-five feet of water behind the dam, or about 335 acre feet. The maximum storage is 445 acre feet. Pacoima Dam reported a precipitation of 2.00 and 3.25 for the storm.

The Mt. Wilson gauge, where it was still raining when the report was made, showed a rainfall of 5.40 or 8.78 for the storm.

OTHER RECORDS

Other sections reporting heavy precipitations were:

Big Santa Anita ranger station, with 4.17 and 5.12 for the storm; Wildwood Lodge, in Big Tujunga Canyon, 3.50, 3.85; Alta Canada, 4.25 for the storm, 18.98 season, and 15.20 at this time last year; Glendale, 2.98 for the storm, 16.22 for the reason, and 11.41 last year.

Still other readings were Loomis ranch in Big Tujunga Canyon, 2.81 yesterday, and 3.16 for the storm; Bowell ranch, Walnut, 4.68 yesterday with Walnut Creek reported bank-full; Fields ranch, San Dimas, 2.55 and 3.55 for storm; Brydon's Camp, 2.40 and 3.28 for storm; Sharples ranch at Whittier, 1.65, 3.39 and 12.41 for season.

Big Pines Recreation Park sent out word that twenty-eight inches of snow had fallen, while Prairie Forks, near the head of east fork, San Gabriel River, reported thirty inches of snow; Downey and Gardena each reported rainfalls of .53.

Other heavy precipitations reported were:

Little Gray Inn, at mouth of Big Santa Anita Canyon, 2.27 yesterday, 4.27 for storm and 18.13 for season; Arcadia, 3.84 by noon yesterday; Azusa, 3.24, 4.16 and 14.08; Roger Dalton, at mouth of San Gabriel Canyon, 3.54, with the day's fall not completely measured.

Information could not be obtained from ten stations because the telephone lines were reported out of commission.

LIGHTNING IN BAY CITY TIES UP TROLLEY SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Already thoroughly drenched from British Columbia to Baja California, the Pacific Coast may as well make up its mind to experience the wettest week of the winter, Forecaster Reed announced tonight. Of three low-pressure areas which have been converging upon California from land and sea for two days, the advance guard arrived today and the other two are rapidly approaching.

The first of the three brought to the bay district the freakiest weather in years. Wind-driven rain fell in sporadic showers throughout the day, some of them drenching. In five minutes this morning, .06 of an inch fell. During the next half hour .05 of an inch was registered.

Late this afternoon, another shower of considerable intensity brought another quarter of an inch. Alternately, the skies cleared and the sun shone through, but never for very long.

Thunder accompanied the rain and lightning struck twice. Almost the entire length of the 125-foot flagpole at the Roosevelt High School in Oakland was shattered by one bolt and another struck a trolley wire of the Market-street Railway Company with such force that four cars were short circuited and traffic was tied up for blocks.

Clogged storm drains caused some streets to run water to the curb level, but no extensive damage was reported. The level of Lake Merritt in Oakland was hastily lowered to prevent flooding thege.

Reports began to come in tonight that snow is falling in the high Sierras. Forecaster Reed said the snowfall in the mountains will be heavy during the next twenty-four hours at least, and perhaps longer.

ARIZONA ASSURED HEAVY WATER SUPPLY

PHOENIX, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Arizona is experiencing one of the most general rainstorms known for years, with an average precipitation of more than three inches in the Salt River Valley watershed. Phoenix thus far has had less than an inch. Snow is general eastward from Prescott, with three feet in the Sierra Ancha and Mogollan mountains. All fear of drought for the Salt River Valley has been eliminated by assurance of large gains in the water stored in the Roosevelt reservoir.

A number of mountain streams already are in flood, especially the Hassayampa, which is out of ford at Wickenburg. And the Gillespis dam crossing at the Gila is expected to be impassable soon. Little damage has been done the roads, but snow has broken a number of electric transmission lines north of Phoenix. Rain still is falling this evening and Weather Bureau reports indicate its continuance.

HEAVY SNOWSTORM RAGES IN HIGH SIERRAS

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. (AP) — All mountain equipment of the Southern Pacific was operating in the High Sierras tonight where a heavy snowstorm was raging. The United States Weather Bureau reported that snow was falling over the entire mountain range.

HOUSE AT WATSONVILLE WRECKED BY TORNADO

WATSONVILLE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Heralded by a terrific roar, a miniature tornado today struck the home of Mrs. Laura Ames, two miles south of here, and carried it twenty feet, reducing it to wreckage. The house had just been completed and there was a workman in the building when the storm struck. He escaped injury.

Heavy rain accompanied the storm, with lightning and thunder. Mrs. Ames reported that her home in Nebraska was destroyed by a tornado six years ago.

STATE HIGHWAY BRIDGE DAMAGED BY FLOOD

BRAWLEY, Feb. 14. (AP)—Flood waters pouring over a temporary bridge at San Felipe Creek, twenty-seven miles northwest of here on the Salton Sea route of the State Highway, halted all traffic. After the water subsides, several hours' work will be required to place the bridge in condition for use, according to State highway maintenance officials.

SAFETY GAIN STATED

Cut in Juvenile Traffic Deaths Laid to School Campaign

Safety instruction in the public schools has resulted in a 18.9 per cent decrease in deaths to children 16 years of age and under since 1925, according to a report to the Board of Education by Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of schools.

There were three deaths less in 1926 than in 1925 from motor vehicle accidents notwithstanding the fact that there was an increase of 18,500 student enrollment and an increase in the number of motor cars of 38,000.

ADVERTISING MEN IN TALK ON ROTOGRAVURE

Discussion of the use of rotogravure advertising sections in newspapers of comparatively small circulation and a higher standard of advertising salesmanship featured a meeting of members of the Southern California Advertising Men's Association in the Alexandria last night. O. G. Franke of the Orange Daily News, vice-president of the association, presided. The meeting was attended by more than a score of advertising managers from suburban and rural newspapers of Southern California. The association was organized less than a year ago in an effort to raise the standard of newspaper advertising.

The widows of two Presidents of the United States, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, widow of Grover Cleveland, will explore South America together.

WET SIDEWALK BRINGS DEATH

Fall Fatal to Man When He Loses Footing While on Slippery Street

Losing his footing on a rain-drenched sidewalk, J. A. Hampton of 230 West Thirty-second street, slipped and fell at Thirty-third street and Grand avenue last night, suffered a fractured skull and died on the way to the Receiving Hospital.

IRENE BORDONI AIDS FROLIC

Musical Comedy Star Booked for Wampas Ball; Trixie Friganza on Same Program

Negotiations have just been completed whereby Irene Bordoni, French musical comedy star, will present a special number of the program for the sixth annual Wampus frolic and ball at the Ambassador Auditorium, Thursday evening. It will be one of the later acts of the evening, as she is coming to the cinema-social fete following her headline spot on the Orpheum program, where she is playing her second successful week. Her contribution to the Frolic program will include several song hits from her musical comedy success. She will be playing on the same bill with two associates of nearly two decades ago—Raymond Hitchcock and Trixie Friganza.

Although the frolic bill is virtually complete, negotiations still pending promise to add another big name or two. Those already scheduled include Douglas Fairbanks, Eddie Cantor, the Duncan Sisters, Norma and Constance Talmadge, Buster Keaton, Babe Ruth, Bert Levy, creator of animated cartoons; Tom Mix, and twenty or more notable cinema stars in sequences from their outstanding films of last year.

LARGE CASTS

Several numbers have casts ranging from twenty to sixty persons. Perhaps the largest number will be Ernest Belcher's Spanish ballet, in which more than fifty of his youthful protege will take part.

Travesties on stars of stage and screen will be given by Ethel Meglin's sixty screen juveniles. Gene Morgan, musical director of Loew's State Theater, is to stage a midnight revue with members of his orchestra and a group of singers and dancers. Fanchon and Marco, producers for West Coast Theaters, will provide a special number.

Sid Grauman will bring a part of his Egyptian Theater prologue. Jack Laughlin, prologue producer for the Carthay Circle Theater, is to present his company from the Circle in an offering which also will include the major players in "What Price Glory" Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen, Dolores Del Rio, Sammy Cohen and Barry Conners.

FOLLIES GIRLS

Former Ziegfeld Follies girls now in films will present an act featuring specialties in which they gained fame. A group of this year's Wampas Baby Stars will be seen in a revue number staged by Roy Randolph. Our Gang, the Keystone Kops and numerous other specialties are included. The masters of ceremony are Fred Niblo, Charles Murray and Lew Cody.

Wampas officials announce that the doors of the auditorium will open at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, and the program will start promptly at 8:30.

MARATHON RUNNER DUE AT BAY CITY TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Bearing an invitation to San Francisco officials to attend the Wampas frolic and ball in Los Angeles next Thursday night, Levett, Marathon runner, reached Burlingame today, according to reports sent here. He remained for a rest and will continue into San Francisco tomorrow morning. Levett reached Burlingame in seventy hours from Los Angeles.

Chicagoan Sees Los Angeles as Second Largest

Chicago, Los Angeles, New York—these are to be the three largest cities of the United States in the order named, in the opinion of Henry Friend, wealthy retired merchant of 32 State street, Chicago, who is spending the winter in Southern California. Mr. Friend is at Arrowhead Hot Springs, but makes frequent trips into Los Angeles to confer with friends and associates.

Los Angeles, Mr. Friend says, has everything to make a city great. Chicago, he believes, has a little advantage over Los Angeles in its central location and a big advantage over New York in its opportunity for spreading outward. The Great Lakes waterway to the Atlantic Ocean will be the factor that will give Chicago her pre-eminence, Mr. Friend believes."

ARMED WIFE GOES GUNNING FOR MATE

FIRES INTO HOUSE WHERE SHE "SAW HIM ENTER" AND MEETS WATERLOO

An unidentified woman armed with a gun, seeking her straying and philandering husband as well as the object of his affections, yesterday demonstrated her anger mistakenly when she fired upon Mrs. Hattie Sivigliano and Mrs. Marie Morris at 1519½ Winfield avenue.

The two women reported to police that they were aroused by an insistent knocking at the door of their home. Together they went to answer the call. While Mrs. Sivigliano fumbled with the lock a bullet crashed through the glass and a woman outside screamed:

"I want my husband. I saw him come here. Where is he?"

The strange woman then forced her way into the house, still demanding her husband. The two occupants hastened to assure her that her straying spouse was not there, but she was insistent.

When she would not bend to argument Mrs. Sivigliano and Mrs. Morris grappled with her, taking her gun and driving her from the place. She fled to a waiting automobile and escaped.

DRY GOODS VALUED AT $3000 STOLEN

Burglars knocked a hole in a side wall of the dry goods store conducted by Joseph Moses at 2122 Sunset Boulevard to rob the establishment of eighty dozen pairs of women's silk hosiery, thirty crepe de chine teddies, many of them hand-painted; thirty-five dozen men's shirts, blankets, sweaters, bolts of silk and broadcloth and dresses, all valued by the victim at more than $3000.

GOLDEN WEDDNIG

Friends Aid Couple at San Pedro Celebrate Anniversary

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Day, pioneers of the harbor district, was celebrated last night in San Pedro at the home of T. J. Rees, 2524 Grand avenue. Thirty relatives and friends of the couple were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Day, who were married in Bethel, Minn., on St. Valentine's Day, 1877, came to Southern California in 1907. Last night, the fifth wedding anniversary of their son, George H. Day, and Mrs. Day, was celebrated simultaneously.

Relatives of the couple present included Mr. and Mrs. Claude Burleson of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Morrell of Washington, Cecil C. Mitchell of Anoka, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. William Coulter of San Pedro and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Day of San Pedro.

RECEPTION PLANNED FOR JUDGE HOLLZER

A public reception will be tendered Superior Judge Harry A. Hollzer, by the Nathan Straus Palestine Advancement Society, tomorrow noon, at Paulais, in honor of his installation as president of the organization. Marco R. Newmark, Louis M. Cole and Alexander Brick, Past Presidents of the society, will officiate in installing the new executive. Vice-presidents to serve with Judge Hollzer are M. S. Meyberg, J. Lowenstine and A. Sieroty. Other officers for the term are Henry Klein, treasurer; Charles Isenstein, financial secretary, E. M. Riess, custodian; Samuel Tierman, auditor, and Dr. Julius Frankl, recording secretary.

FAINTING WOMAN OVERCOME BY GAS

Overcome by gas which flooded the kitchen when she fainted and her outflung arm struck one of the valves of the kitchen range, Mrs. Lillian Comport, 35 years of age, narrowly escaped death last evening in her home at 2421 Teviot avenue. She was found unconscious by her daughter, who telephoned the Hollywood police. Officers Winters and Rein worked two hours over the woman with an inhalator before she finally was revived. Mrs. Comport has been ill for several weeks and has been subject to fainting spells.

CELEBRATION MARKS BUILDING OPENING

A three-day celebration, starting today, will mark the formal opening of the new Beaux Arts Building, eleven-story music studio structure at Fifth and Beacon streets, that is expected to become the music center of the city. The building is similar to the Carnegie and Aeolian halls in New York. Doors will be opened for public inspection of the studios, auditoriums and recital halls this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock and from 8 to 10:30 at night. Special musical programs will be held in the auditorium Wednesday and Thursday night by the Porve-Pettebone Company, owners of the building, and the tenants.

DE MOLAY TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Under the sponsorship of Los Angeles Lodge No. 42, F. and A. M., Pioneer Chapter, Order of De Molay, will install officers for the year tonight at ceremonies conducted at Greenwich Village, Hollywood. Following the installation there will be a banquet attended by 100 guests.

ORMISTON'S WIFE GIVEN HER DECREE

Interlocutory Divorce on Desertion Grounds Won in Uncontested Case

Ruth Peters Ormiston was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Kenneth G. Ormiston, radio operator, after a brief hearing before Superior Judge Summerfield yesterday.

Desertion was her charge and her tale was corroborated by two witnesses, one of whom testified that exactly one week ago Ormiston himself had told him there was "no chance" of a reconciliation.

Ormiston did not appear but he was represented by Lester Roth of Lissner, Gunther & Roth, his attorneys, who simply stated to the court that his client was willing to let the issue rest on the plaintiff's showing.

"On January 22, 1926, my husband left me without my consent and much against my will. Since then he has made no overture toward a reconciliation nor has he offered to provide me with a home," was the gist of Mrs. Ormiston's testimony as to her charge of desertion.

H. H. Owens then took the stand. He said that he had known the Ormistons intimately, that he knew Ormiston had left Mrs. Ormiston against her will and without her consent, and that he had never heard of his intimating any intention of returning to her.

The last witness was H. G. Davis. He is a fellow worker with Ormiston at the office of the Harwood Publishing Company.

"I have known Mr. Ormiston only a short time. I never met Mrs. Ormiston before," he testified. "But one week ago tonight some of us were standing around in the office discussing the Ormiston case and I asked Ormiston if there might not be a reconciliation.

"'Not a chance,' he said very firmly."

Attorney Shirley Meserve then informed the court that it had been stipulated that Mrs. Ormiston might have custody of their 6-year-old son, Frederick, and that Ormiston will pay $75 a month for the child's support and $250 on account of her attorney fee. Thereupon Judge Summerfield granted the decree.

Mrs. Ormiston's counsel did not take a default against Ormiston as the ten days in which he had the right to file answer had not elapsed, the complaint having been filed on the 9th inst. But Attorney Roth waived notice of trial and right to answer and in response to a query from Judge Summerfield, he stipulated to a default.

HUGE LIFE INSURANCE GAIN CITED

Equitable Official on Visit Here Tells of Reflection of Country's Prosperity

The country's prosperity is well reflected in the great increases in business revealed by the insurance records covering 1926, according to John A. Stevenson, second vice-president of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York, who arrived at the Biltmore yesterday.

"Our own company last year sold life insurance to the amount of more than $1,000,000,000, which is the biggest year's business in its history," said Mr. Stevenson. "Other companies also show large increases and there is in force at this moment throughout the United States a total of more than $85,000,000,000 in life insurance."

Incidentally, Mr. Stevenson stated that the largest gain in actual volume shown by any agency of the Equitable last year was that of the Kellogg Van Winkle agency of Los Angeles, the policy sales of which in 1926 were 100 per cent more than they were in 1925.

"Two recent developments in life insurance have contributed to the extraordinary expansion of the business during the last year or two," Mr. Stevenson said.

"The first is the realization of the public that life insurance up to $40,000 made payable to a beneficiary is exempt from the inheritance tax.

"The second is the growing tendency among business men to take out insurance for the benefit of their business."

Mr. Stevenson, who is in charge of sales promotion of the Equitable, is here to meet his company's agents in this territory and will preside at a conference to take place at Arrowhead Lodge within a few days.

PROTEST OF TAXPAYERS HITS SNAG

Council Says Objection to Park Assessments Comes Too Late

The City Council, which shut off debate Friday morning by adjourning when the clerk had begun reading protests from property owners against the Arroyo Seco Park assessments listened yesterday to reading of the entire communication from the protesting property owners.

Councilman Ash, who was roundly scored by the protestants when he attended the mass meeting, said, when the communication was read, that there were doubtless discrepancies in the assessments. Councilman Sanborn said that as the assessments had been confirmed and now were being collected, he doubted if anything could be done for the property owners in this particular case. The property owners also asked that two additional proceedings to acquire land to add to Victory Park be abandoned.

The entire matter was sent to the Council's Parks and Playground Committee, which will meet tomorrow afternoon.

YOUTH CONFESSES BAD CHECKS AND CAR THEFT

Gordon D. Coffin, 19-year-old Denver youth, walked into Central Station last night and confessed to Detective Lieutenants Richardson and Lanier that he had passed $300 worth of "rubber checks" and had stolen an automobile. The youth said he passed the checks in Denver, stole the car there and later abandoned it in Gallup, N. M. He was placed in a cell and a telegram was sent to Denver asking that his story be checked.

USED CARS for business and pleasure See today's Times

A car for every purse and purpose

THIS YEAR the General Motors line is an imposing Automobile Show in itself.

Here is every style of body. Every type of design—four cylinder, six cylinder, eight cylinder. Every improvement. Every price, from the Chevrolet touring car at $525 to the Cadillac with special coach work at $9,000. A car for every purse and purpose.

Every one of the models now on display is different and distinguished. Yet two unifying characteristics bind them all together:

1 EVERY CLOSED BODY is by Fisher. The quality of all body workmanship is Fisher quality. And because Fisher is owned by General Motors and its plants are a part of the General Motors plants, you know that every resource has been utilized to make the body and the chassis a perfect quality unit.

2 EVERY MODEL has shared in the advantages of General Motors research, purchasing standards and Proving Ground tests; and in the economies of volume production made possible by world-wide sales.

WITH GREAT PRIDE we invite you to inspect these new cars. Dollar for dollar you will buy more value in the car you select because of General Motors quality and the public's purchase of more than 1,200,000 General Motors cars last year.

HOLLYWOOD—

Carpe Diem

Yes, it's Latin, but in plain English it's a "for sale" advertising to see a beautiful home in the Hollywood foothills. You will save the down payment by starting home evenings, enjoying the myriad of twinkling lights of the city, and yet be but two blocks from transit. Price $22,500. This is merely a preface. Let me tell you the rest. Call DAVID EVANS, HE. 2101. Evenings, HE. 6372.

CASTLE IN SPAIN

It's the most attractive unusual new 7-rm. home in Hollywood. 3 large bedrms., 2 baths, beautiful hand-painted walls, real fireplace, high barrel ceilings, with rough plaster walls. Studio window, unit heat, charming, breakfast room, worth $12,500. Cut price, $10,500. Only $500 cash. Terms.
MALCOLM MORKHART CO.
7553 Melrose ave. GL. 4899.

AT YOUR OWN PRICE

My wonderful new $25,000 view home north of Franklin, on the knoll, betw. Beachwood & Bronson, close in, easy grade, marvelous view, in spring. Built to live in and enjoy. 2 living rooms, 4 bedrms, 3 baths, Arts and Crafts, perfect. $12,000 equity, lasting mtg. to 40% of strict bank valuation. I happen to make the offer, a bargain for some one. Owner, 2241 All View Terr. GL. 2314.

In the close-in foothills of Hollywood there is a lot. Nature has designed this lot as a setting for a beautiful home. It is just one of the treasures of a moderate income, nor beneath the dignity of a six-figure bank account. It is a standard for remarkable panorama. $7,500 is the price, which is less than the cost of title alone. Call DAVID EVANS, HE. 2101, or evenings, HE. 6372.
